Sharett To Seek U.S. Aid

Israeli Leader Warns of Peril

Jerusalem, Nov. 8 (AP)—Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett will go to the United States this week to renew Israel's bid for arms.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman explained the request arises from renewed Israeli-Arab border clashes and efforts by the Soviet bloc to penetrate the Middle East through arms and economic aid for Arab states. He said:

"PREVIOUSLY, we had been favorable to a limitation or restriction of armaments to the Middle East. Now we ask for the right to a balance in armaments."

He made it clear Israel now wants arms equal to the reported multi-million dollar shipment Egypt has begun receiving from the Czechs.

Sharett already has taken his views to Geneva where he saw Secretary of State Dulles at the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

SHARETT IS expected to leave for New York Wednesday. The trip had been planned for some time to boost a current Israeli bond drive and help the United Jewish Appeal.

The bloodiest Arab-Jewish battle since the 1948 Palestine war has just underscored Sharett's warning at Geneva that the peril of war in the strained Middle East has increased.

Hardly had he returned from Geneva and Paris than the fighting flared at the Israeli-Egyptian border in the El Auja-Nizana zone about 50 miles south of Gaza.

DESPITE UN appeals for Jews and Arabs to restore the peace in the strife-torn zone, plus the four-day military lull in the fighting there, there was no assurance that it will not break out again.

In the past Israel has received some arms from abroad. These have been mostly light arms, nothing like the heavy guns, tanks and MIG jet fight-

Says Russia Rules Out Arms Protest

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Russia is reported to have brushed aside a strong protest by Secretary of State Dulles against Communist shipments of big quantities of weapons to Egypt.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is understood to have made clear that his government will do nothing to stop the flow of Communist tanks, jet fighters and artillery already under way to Egypt. Egypt is paying for them with cotton and rice.

At least half a dozen Communist ships, carrying the first of some 80 million dollars worth of weapons, are reported to have unloaded their cargoes at Egyptian ports, often at night.

Parking Is Passed by Saugerties

Metered Area Is To Hold 400 Cars

Off-street metered parking for the business section of Saugerties came a step closer to reality Monday night when the village board of trustees passed a resolution at the regular meeting approving the parking area proposal of the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce.

THE OFF-STREET parking proposal was presented to a special meeting of the board for study on Wednesday at which time members of the Chamber committee including President Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., Vice President Ben Greenspan, Trustees Nat Aaron and Andrew P. Vozdik and Albert J. Cawein, executive secretary presented plans and announced that the Chamber had secured an option on the O'Dea building and property on Partition street.

The same group attended the Monday night meeting with the addition of John Offerman, Partition street merchant who also offered to add some of his property to the rear of Partition street, to the project.

THE TRACT OF land would be capable of parking about 300 to 400 cars according to an es-

Molotov Is Back From Top Talks

Critical Phase Of Parley Seen

Geneva, Nov. 8 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov returned to the Big Four conference today from top level talks in Moscow.

Western leaders believe a remark he made in the Soviet capital about bringing "better baggage" with him meant his three-day talks there had softened Soviet opposition to Germany's early reunification.

AMERICAN authorities also speculated he might be ready to put a more friendly front on Russia's attitude toward President Eisenhower's proposal for reciprocal aerial inspection of military installations in the United States and the Soviet Union—while renewing the Soviet demand for prompt outlawing of atomic weapons.

Molotov's plane touched down at Geneva's international airport shortly after noon.

He refused to make any statement to reporters upon arrival.

He was met by Andrei Gromyko, his deputy, and he shook hands all around with those on hand to greet him, including East German officials. Then he climbed into his car and drove off.

MOLOTOV, who went to Moscow last weekend and participated in the celebration of the Bolshevik revolution anniversary, indicated there last night he might be bringing new proposals to Geneva.

Answering a question at a Kremlin reception, he said:

"I arrived in Moscow with good baggage and I am leaving with even better baggage because I heard a good many things here."

TOLD OF Molotov's remark, Soviet Premier Bulganin commented with a smile, "that is exactly right."

Molotov added that he thought it possible for the Geneva meeting of foreign ministers to produce an East-West agreement, saying, "why should we have gone to Geneva if we did not think we could reach agreement."

"Of course," he continued, "there will be certain difficulties on some questions. But you know the Russia proverb, 'Moscow was not built in one day.'"

WHATEVER THE Russians next move may be, it seemed clear the conference was going into a critical phase and that Germany was the heart of it.

German diplomats converged on Geneva to share the climax. West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano arranged to fly from Bonn today to set up close contacts with the western foreign ministers.

THE FREE DEMOCRATS, who usually work on West German Chancellor Adenauer's side, dispatched their chairman, Thomas Dehler, here as well as Prince Hubertus Zu Lowenstein.

Adenauer's chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the lower House of Parliament, Kurt Georg Kiesinger, also was here.

Ollenhauer, who wants a reunified Germany free of any military alliances, urged Dulles to seek Big Four agreement on contacts on the technical level between East and West Germany as the only possible advance at this conference. He said he thought these contacts might work out rapprochements on currency, transport, trade and communications.

THE BELIEF that Molotov would spring some dramatic new proposal at the conference session today, the first since last Friday, rested on two points.

First, his position here on Germany to date, has been defensive and contemplates division of the country indefinitely—a position unpopular in Germany.

To recoup from the propaganda disadvantage it would seem he must produce a more positive statement on Soviet

GOP Upstate Contests May Indicate Strength

National Tests Are Lacking

(By The Associated Press)

Contests for governor of Kentucky and mayor of Philadelphia drew the most attention in off-year elections today to fill state, county and city offices.

Although national issues were lacking, the balloting was watched for some hint of possible trends in voter sentiment.

SHARING INTERESTS with candidate scraps was an Ohio referendum on a proposal that would clear the way for a supplemental layoff pay plan negotiated by Ford and General Motors with some 700,000 CIO AUTO Workers.

The only congressional contest involved Michigan's 15th (Detroit) District where 21 candidates battled in a primary for places in a Dec. 13 special election to fill a House vacancy caused by the death last September of Rep. John D. Dingell, Democrat.

Aside from scores of city elections, state legislatures were being chosen in Kentucky and Virginia, now firmly in Democratic hands, and in New Jersey, where the Legislature long has been Republican-controlled.

MISSISSIPPI was electing a governor, but this was a formality. J. P. Coleman, Democrat, won the primary and had no Republican opposition today.

Most political experts figured the Democrats would retain the Kentucky State House and Philadelphia's City Hall.

Some of them, however, had doubts about Kentucky where a deep Democratic split was expected to help the Republican candidate.

The Democratic candidate for governor of Kentucky is A. B. "Happy" Chandler, former governor, senator and baseball commissioner. Chandler is trying for a political comeback after 10 years. His Republican opponent is Edwin R. Denney, former U. S. attorney for eastern Kentucky. Under state law, Democratic Gov. Lawrence Wetherby could not seek reelection.

CHANDLER leaders predicted victory for their man by upwards of 100,000 votes. Denny captains forecast his triumph by 25,000 to 60,000.

The Democrats split this year in a bitter primary campaign. Chandler won nomination over the combined opposition of Gov. Wetherby's state organization and Sens. Barkley and Clements.

Voters to Elect 48 Mayors, Other Officials Today

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—The first of an estimated four million New Yorkers set out under threatening skies today to vote in local elections that indirectly will affect next year's persidential campaign.

Cloudy skies and snow flurries were forecast upstate, with temperatures in the 30s and 40s. In New York city and vicinity, the forecast was partly cloudy with a high near 50. The weather forecast and the lowest registration in 10 years pointed to a small turnout.

AT STAKE were 48 mayoral offices, several regional judgeships and a host of lesser offices.

The only statewide issues were 10 proposed constitutional amendments and a proposition. The last time a proposed amendment was defeated was in 1945.

Two of the amendments have stirred bitter controversy.

MAYORS in three contested cities were chosen in non-partisan election. Of the others, 28 are Republicans and 17 are Democrats.

THE AMENDMENT is supported by both major parties and many organizations. The New York State Automobile Assn. and groups aligned with it oppose the bond issue because the revenues from the tax increase are not earmarked in the constitution for highway use.

Politicians and observers will watch the contests for indications whether the Democrats, bolstered by victory in the gubernatorial race last year, are making inroads into normally Republican upstate areas.

Both sides predicted they would make gains. The balloting has special significance in connection with the possibility that Gov. Harriman's name will be offered for president at the Democratic National Convention.

REGISTRATION totaled 5,306,070 in 10,303 election districts.

The most controversial amendments were No. 1, which would authorize the state to issue 750 million dollars in bonds for highway improvement, and No. 7, which would permit the construction of a dam for water power and flood control at Panther Mountain in the Adirondacks.

Approval of the highway amendment would mean that state taxes would increase next Jan. 1 from four to six cents on gasoline and from six to nine cents on motor fuel.

Neither major party has taken an official stand on the Panther

Fortins To Return On Charge

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—A young husband and wife consented today to return to Salem Depot, N. H., to face first degree murder charges in the iron-pipe slaying there of the wife's uncle.

Leo Fortin, 21, and his wife, June, 19, waived extradition in Schenectady county court today. Judge James Liddle turned them over to sheriff's deputies from Rockingham county, N. H.

THE FORTINS, arrested here yesterday, are accused of killing Burton E. Kelly, 67, last Oct. 2 when, authorities said, he foiled an attempt to rob him.

Capt. Joseph Peters of the Schenectady police said the Fortins had signed a statement that Fortin slugged the older man. Kelly's body was found in his home at Salem Depot Oct. 3.

Police said the couple reported they threw away the weapon shortly after leaving Salem Depot, en route to Worcester, Mass.

Fortin was arrested at a supermarket, where he was employed in the bakery. It was disclosed later in Lawrence, Mass., that an inquiry to a restaurant where he formerly had worked resulted in the arrest.

HE HAD GIVEN the name of the restaurant (Morin's) as a reference in applying for the Schenectady position. When the the restaurant owner received a letter from the Schnectady mar-

Canadian Woman Hurt Near Hotel

A 78-year-old Ottawa, Canada, woman, who was struck by a car on Albany avenue shortly after 6 p. m. yesterday, was reported in "fair" condition today at Benedictine Hospital.

City police said Frances Russell was crossing the street from Academy Green to the Governor Clinton Hotel when she was struck by the left front of a car operated by Cornelius F. Sullivan, 27, of Leonia, N. J., traveling west.

The driver told local police that he failed to see the woman until she was in front of his left front headlight.

It was reported that she suffered injuries about the right leg and other possible injuries. Police said it was dark and rainy at the time of the mishap.

In Home at Time of Death

New Prowler Story Supports Socialite

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—A prowler, who at first denied being on the estate of William E. Woodward Jr. the night of his shotgun death, now says he was breaking into the house at the time.

Paul W. Wirths' new version of his activities in the early morning of Oct. 30 was reported by Nassau county police officials yesterday.

The new account supports on some points the story given by beautiful, blonde Ann Woodward who said she thought she was shooting at a prowler when she killed her wealthy sportsman husband.

Mrs. Woodward, 39, who has been in a hospital under a doctor's care for shock and grief since the day of the shooting, told police a noise woke her around 2 o'clock that Sunday morning and deep-seated fear of a prowler panicked her into shooting blindly into a darkened hall.

Her 35-year-old husband was standing across the hall at the door of his bedroom and caught a blast of gunshot on the side of his head, dying almost immediately.

Two days after the shooting, Wirths, a 23-year-old German refugee, was picked up as a prowler known to have been operating in the estate-dotted section of Long Island's North Shore. He was held on a burglary charge not connected with the Woodward case.

He first told police he broke into the Woodard garage and swimming pool bathhouse several days before the shooting but on that night was creeping around a nearby country club.

Then yesterday Wirths asked to speak to a detective and authorities said he told this story:

On that Saturday night Wirths hung around the 12-room Woodward house at Oyster Bay, occasionally peering in the windows. He didn't keep close tabs on the

UN Seat Voting Still Deadlocked

United Nations, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Renewed balloting in the UN General Assembly failed again today to break the Yugoslav-Philippine deadlock over a Security Council seat.

The Assembly resumed its voting after a 12-day recess in which efforts were made to resolve the stalemate. The 60-nation body previously had taken 12 ballots without decisive results.

ON THE 13TH ballot—the first this morning—the Philippines received 30 votes and Yugoslavia 28. To be elected a country must receive two-thirds of all the votes cast.

The voting indicated that an American-backed compromise plan had failed to win significant support.

The United States, which contends Asia should have fuller council representation, announced its support for a compromise calling for election of the Philippines this year and Yugoslavia in 1957. This would set up a system for giving the seat to Asia and east Europe on an alternate basis.

YUGOSLAVIA and her British supporters both rejected the proposal. Britain said it breached the 1946 London big power agreement giving east Europe a non-permanent seat on a regular basis. The Soviet bloc, which is supporting Yugoslavia, echoes the view that the 1946 "gentlemen's agreement" should be carried out.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., said he believed the compromise plan offered "an orderly procedure for the future."

The U. S. position has been that the 1946 agreement was binding for the first year only, but Lodge declared "we have never said that this seat should not revert to east Europe."

A British spokesman conceded there was merit to the U. S. argument for wider Asian representation and added that it would gain strength if the UN admits new members. There are 22 applications on file, but no action is expected this year.

Ike Will Give Talk On Friday

Denver, Nov. 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower will address the nation briefly on television and radio when he checks out of Fitzsimons Army Hospital Friday morning and again when he arrives in Washington that afternoon.

The Denver remarks — the President's first to the country after seven weeks of hospital convalescence—will be at Lowry Air Force Base a moment before he walks up the 17-step ramp to his private plane, Columbine III.

And his equally informal talk in Washington will be at the Military Air Transport terminal at National Airport when he steps from the plane there.

EISENHOWER'S doctors announced here yesterday that he will leave the hospital Friday. He will spend the weekend resting up in the White House after arrival in the capital, then journey by automobile on Monday to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.,

Coal Gas Is Fatal to Oneonta Couple; Daughter Found Weeping Near Mother

Oneonta, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—A two-year-old girl, sobbing "Mommie, Mommie," was found patting the shoulder of her mother's body in their home here. The father's body was found in another room.

An autopsy yesterday disclosed that Dr. Walter S. Packer, 34, a poultry reseacher and his wife, Mary Louise, 31, had been asphyxiated. A pathologist said they apparently had succumbed to coal gas. Their house had a coal furnace.

A coroner said little Janet apparently had been in her bedroom with the doors closed during the night. She had been vomiting.

Packer was director of the Otsego County Disease Poultry Laboratory, a branch of the State Veterinary College at Cornell University.

Investigators said the electric stove, television and lights were on in the house and remains of a meal were in the kitchen. Police said the couple apparently had died some time after 10 p. m. Sunday.

Packer's body was found in the bathroom. He was dressed in a T-shirt and hunting pants. Police said he had been hunting Sunday.

Mrs. Packer's body was found on the living-room floor.

Kenneth Brownell, chief technician at the poultry laboratory, who had become worried when Packer did not report for work, discovered the tragedy at about 1:30 p. m. yesterday.

It was not known how long the child had been up.

Dr. Fisk Brooks, Otsego county coroner, issued certificates of accidental death after Dr. John G. Clemmer, a pathologist, came here from Albany to perform an autopsy.

Both of the Packers were graduates of the University of Pennsylvania.

Records at Cornell university showed that he was born in Elizabeth, N. J., and was graduated from Knight High School at Collingswood, N. J.

He was graduated from the veterinary college at Penn in 1949 and worked as a veterinary livestock inspector for the U. S. Agriculture Department at Augusta, Me.

He joined the staff of the College of Agriculture at Rutgers University in 1950 as a research specialist in poultry pathology and came to Oneonta in April, 1951, as director of the regional laboratory.

Authorities at first thought the deaths might have been caused by ptomaine poisoning.

Freeman Has Special Local School Series For Education Week

This being National Education Week, The Freeman is carrying a pictorial series on Kingston schools.

Today's feature devoted to Kingston High School is printed on page 13.

Parents of children attending Kingston schools are bound to find the series informative, and others interested in education will observe many things which they would like to know about the local system.

Miss Agnes Smith, history instructor at Kingston High School worked in collaboration with The Freeman photographer, Milton Wagenfohr, in preparing the school series.

Dame Rumor, Kingston High School newspaper published by the student body, under the guidance of Miss Smith, recently won the Empire State School Press Association Trophy and six other awards for the best special edition of a school newspaper published in New York state during the school year 1954-55.

The Freeman takes this occasion to salute the student editors and writers on their accomplishment, also Miss Smith. Her enthusiasm about publicizing National Education Week in The Freeman is most commendable, and this newspaper urges that all take advantage of her informative and interesting articles and The Freeman photos.

Port Ewen Drum Unit Will Form Corps for Boys 10-14

A meeting to form a junior drum corps is scheduled Monday night, Nov. 14 at 7:30 o'clock in the YMCA here according to an announcement today from Port Ewen Drum Corps, one of the best-known marching musical units in the Hudson valley.

Donald Decker, former drill instructor of the Port Ewen corps, said that boys will be welcomed at the meeting between the ages of 10 and 16. "If their parents desire to accompany them," Mr. Decker said, "they are invited."

"WE FEEL THAT if parents know the aims and purposes of the new junior organization," he added, "it will tend to make the group more successful."

There's a twofold purpose in organizing the junior corps, according to Mr. Decker, assistant supervisor of personnel at Hercules Powder Co., Port Ewen. "Of course," he said, "we want the organization to train youngsters to fill places in the Port Ewen corps as present members reach retirement age."

"Then too," he stressed, "it is our desire to furnish boys with a useful application of their time in these days when everybody is talking about giving youngsters something to do outside school hours."

IT IS THE DESIRE of the Port Ewen corps to participate in the youth program of the area, Mr. Decker said, in accordance with recommendations

Fortins To Return On Charge

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—A young husband and wife consented today to return to Salem Depot, N. H., to face first degree murder charges in the iron-pipe slaying there of the wife's uncle.

Leo Fortin, 21, and his wife, June, 19, waived extradition in Schenectady county court today. Judge James Liddle turned them over to sheriff's deputies from Rockingham county, N. H.

THE FORTINS, arrested here yesterday, are accused of killing Burton E. Kelly, 67, last Oct. 2 when, authorities said, he foiled an attempt to rob him.

Capt. Joseph Peters of the Schenectady police said the Fortins had signed a statement that Fortin slugged the older man. Kelly's body was found in his home at Salem Depot Oct. 3.

Police said the couple reported they threw away the weapon shortly after leaving Salem Depot, en route to Worcester, Mass.

Fortin was arrested at a supermarket, where he was employed in the bakery. It was disclosed later in Lawrence, Mass., that an inquiry to a restaurant where he formerly had worked resulted in the arrest.

HE HAD GIVEN the name of the restaurant (Morin's) as a reference in applying for the Schenectady position. When the the restaurant owner received a letter from the Schnectady mar-

Canadian Woman Hurt Near Hotel

A 78-year-old Ottawa, Canada, woman, who was struck by a car on Albany avenue shortly after 6 p. m. yesterday, was reported in "fair" condition today at Benedictine Hospital.

City police said Frances Russell was crossing the street from Academy Green to the Governor Clinton Hotel when she was struck by the left front of a car operated by Cornelius F. Sullivan, 27, of Leonia, N. J., traveling west.

The driver told local police that he failed to see the woman until she was in front of his left front headlight.

It was reported that she suffered injuries about the right leg and other possible injuries. Police said it was dark and rainy at the time of the mishap.

In Home at Time of Death

New Prowler Story Supports Socialite

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—A prowler, who at first denied being on the estate of William E. Woodward Jr. the night of his shotgun death, now says he was breaking into the house at the time.

Paul W. Wirths' new version of his activities in the early morning of Oct. 30 was reported by Nassau county police officials yesterday.

The new account supports on some points the story given by beautiful, blonde Ann Woodward who said she thought she was shooting at a prowler when she killed her wealthy sportsman husband.

Mrs. Woodward, 39, who has been in a hospital under a doctor's care for shock and grief since the day of the shooting, told police a noise woke her around 2 o'clock that Sunday morning and deep-seated fear of a prowler panicked her into shooting blindly into a darkened hall.

Her 35-year-old husband was standing across the hall at the door of his bedroom and caught a blast of gunshot on the side of his head, dying almost immediately.

Two days after the shooting, Wirths, a 23-year-old German refugee, was picked up as a prowler known to have been operating in the estate-dotted section of Long Island's North Shore. He was held on a burglary charge not connected with the Woodward case.

He first told police he broke into the Woodard garage and swimming pool bathhouse several days before the shooting but on that night was creeping around a nearby country club.

Then yesterday Wirths asked to speak to a detective and authorities said he told this story:

On that Saturday night Wirths hung around the 12-room Woodward house at Oyster Bay, occasionally peering in the windows. He didn't keep close tabs on the

UN Seat Voting Still Deadlocked

United Nations, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Renewed balloting in the UN General Assembly failed again today to break the Yugoslav-Philippine deadlock over a Security Council seat.

The Assembly resumed its voting after a 12-day recess in which efforts were made to resolve the stalemate. The 60-nation body previously had taken 12 ballots without decisive results.

ON THE 13TH ballot—the first this morning—the Philippines received 30 votes and Yugoslavia 28. To be elected a country must receive two-thirds of all the votes cast.

The voting indicated that an American-backed compromise plan had failed to win significant support.

The United States, which contends Asia should have fuller council representation, announced its support for a compromise calling for election of the Philippines this year and Yugoslavia in 1957. This would set up a system for giving the seat to Asia and east Europe on an alternate basis.

YUGOSLAVIA and her British supporters both rejected the proposal. Britain said it breached the 1946 London big power agreement giving east Europe a non-permanent seat on a regular basis. The Soviet bloc, which is supporting Yugoslavia, echoes the view that the 1946 "gentlemen's agreement" should be carried out.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., said he believed the compromise plan offered "an orderly procedure for the future."

The U. S. position has been that the 1946 agreement was binding for the first year only, but Lodge declared "we have never said that this seat should not revert to east Europe."

A British spokesman conceded there was merit to the U. S. argument for wider Asian representation and added that it would gain strength if the UN admits new members. There are 22 applications on file, but no action is expected this year.

Ike Will Give Talk On Friday

Denver, Nov. 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower will address the nation briefly on television and radio when he checks out of Fitzsimons Army Hospital Friday morning and again when he arrives in Washington that afternoon.

The Denver remarks — the President's first to the country after seven weeks of hospital convalescence—will be at Lowry Air Force Base a moment before he walks up the 17-step ramp to his private plane, Columbine III.

And his equally informal talk in Washington will be at the Military Air Transport terminal at National Airport when he steps from the plane there.

EISENHOWER'S doctors announced here yesterday that he will leave the hospital Friday. He will spend the weekend resting up in the White House after arrival in the capital, then journey by automobile on Monday to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.,

Coal Gas Is Fatal to Oneonta Couple; Daughter Found Weeping Near Mother

Oneonta, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—A two-year-old girl, sobbing "Mommie, Mommie," was found patting the shoulder of her mother's body in their home here. The father's body was found in another room.

An autopsy yesterday disclosed that Dr. Walter S. Packer, 34, a poultry reseacher and his wife, Mary Louise, 31, had been asphyxiated. A pathologist said they apparently had succumbed to coal gas. Their house had a coal furnace.

A coroner said little Janet apparently had been in her bedroom with the doors closed during the night. She had been vomiting.

Packer was director of the Otsego County Disease Poultry Laboratory, a branch of the State Veterinary College at Cornell University.

Investigators said the electric stove, television and lights were on in the house and remains of a meal were in the kitchen. Police said the couple apparently had died some time after 10 p. m. Sunday.

Packer's body was found in the bathroom. He was dressed in a T-shirt and hunting pants. Police said he had been hunting Sunday.

Mrs. Packer's body was found on the living-room floor.

Kenneth Brownell, chief technician at the poultry laboratory, who had become worried when Packer did not report for work, discovered the tragedy at about 1:30 p. m. yesterday.

It was not known how long the child had been up.

Dr. Fisk Brooks, Otsego county coroner, issued certificates of accidental death after Dr. John G. Clemmer, a pathologist, came here from Albany to perform an autopsy.

Both of the Packers were graduates of the University of Pennsylvania.

Records at Cornell university showed that he was born in Elizabeth, N. J., and was graduated from Knight High School at Collingswood, N. J.

He was graduated from the veterinary college at Penn in 1949 and worked as a veterinary livestock inspector for the U. S. Agriculture Department at Augusta, Me.

He joined the staff of the College of Agriculture at Rutgers University in 1950 as a research specialist in poultry pathology and came to Oneonta in April, 1951, as director of the regional laboratory.

Authorities at first thought the deaths might have been caused by ptomaine poisoning.

Freeman Has Special Local School Series For Education Week

This being National Education Week, The Freeman is carrying a pictorial series on Kingston schools.

Today's feature devoted to Kingston High School is printed on page 13.

Parents of children attending Kingston schools are bound to find the series informative, and others interested in education will observe many things which they would like to know about the local system.

Miss Agnes Smith, history instructor at Kingston High School worked in collaboration with The Freeman photographer, Milton Wagenfohr, in preparing the school series.

Dame Rumor, Kingston High School newspaper published by the student body, under the guidance of Miss Smith, recently won the Empire State School Press Association Trophy and six other awards for the best special edition of a school newspaper published in New York state during the school year 1954-55.

The Freeman takes this occasion to salute the student editors and writers on their accomplishment, also Miss Smith. Her enthusiasm about publicizing National Education Week in The Freeman is most commendable, and this newspaper urges that all take advantage of her informative and interesting articles and The Freeman photos.

Port Ewen Drum Unit Will Form Corps for Boys 10-14

A meeting to form a junior drum corps is scheduled Monday night, Nov. 14 at 7:30 o'clock in the YMCA here according to an announcement today from Port Ewen Drum Corps, one of the best-known marching musical units in the Hudson valley.

Donald Decker, former drill instructor of the Port Ewen corps, said that boys will be welcomed at the meeting between the ages of 10 and 16. "If their parents desire to accompany them," Mr. Decker said, "they are invited."

"WE FEEL THAT if parents know the aims and purposes of the new junior organization," he added, "it will tend to make the group more successful."

There's a twofold purpose in organizing the junior corps, according to Mr. Decker, assistant supervisor of personnel at Hercules Powder Co., Port Ewen. "Of course," he said, "we want the organization to train youngsters to fill places in the Port Ewen corps as present members reach retirement age."

"Then too," he stressed, "it is our desire to furnish boys with a useful application of their time in these days when everybody is talking about giving youngsters something to do outside school hours."

IT IS THE DESIRE of the Port Ewen corps to participate in the youth program of the area, Mr. Decker said, in accordance with recommendations

Ave and Meyner Agreed on Basic Waterfront Goals

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—The governors of New York and New Jersey, publicly composing their differences, have issued a joint declaration that they are "in complete agreement on the basic objectives and purposes" of the Waterfront Commission of New York harbor.

They say the policies that the New York-New Jersey Commission has been following and its work in combating crime and racketeering on the waterfront will continue to have their full support.

Differences between the two Democratic governors over the waterfront commission came to a head a week ago when Harriman dropped Lt. Gen. George P. Hays (Ret.) as New York member of the two-man agency.

Meyner expressed "surprise" at Hariman's request for the resignation of Hays, who was appointed by former Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

MEYNER indicated that he felt the dropping of Hays might be damaging to the prestige of the waterfront cleanup commission.

Harriman has appointed John P. McGrath, New York city lawyer and his campaign manager last fall, to replace Hays. Harriman said a lawyer rather than a military man is needed to serve on what he called a "quasi-judicial" agency.

New York state Republican leaders have charged that the dropping of Hays was part of a plan to weaken the waterfront commission and was a sop to the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.) which has been fighting the commission.

THEY'RE IN AGAIN—Like death and taxes, flying saucers seem always to be with us. Latest saucer news comes in a story copyrighted by a Toronto newspaper, saying that the Avro Aviation Company's Canadian engineers have designed a top-secret "flying saucer" which can fly at 1500 m.p.h. and take off vertically, making it independent of runways or carriers. The pilot sits in a plastic bubble, with a gas turbine engine of radically new design revolving around him at high speed. Above is an artist's conception of the weird craft, based on the meager information available.

DOUBLE OR NOTHING—Odd double kill is the accomplishment of Floyd Cunningham, a senior at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale. Using an antique Belgian shotgun, Cunningham wounded a squirrel, but lost track of it. Later he bagged a fox that was making off with the same squirrel. The squirrel ended up on the Cunninghams' table; the fox in the SIU Wildlife Research laboratory collection.

Ike Will . . .

for a further recovery period of perhaps six weeks.

No specific time has been announced yet for the President's departure from Denver or for arrival in Washington. The major TV and radio networks are planning "live" coverage of his remarks to the nation.

THE WHITE HOUSE made no immediate announcement on the nature of the Chief Executive's projected remarks, but indications are he will express personal thanks for the flood of "get well" messages he has received from all over the world, and for the prayers offered for his recovery.

Indications are, too, that the President will get a warm farewell from the people of Denver when he travels from the hospital to Lowry Air Force Base Friday morning—and a warm welcome home when he arrives in Washington.

THE PLAN is to announce his hospital to air base route in advance which undoubtedly will bring out a big crowd of Denverites. And the White House planning for the arrival in the capital takes into account District of Columbia planning for a welcome there.

Today's 7 a. m. (MST) medical bulletin from the hospital said:

"The President had a good night's sleep of nearly eight hours. He awoke feeling refreshed and in a cheerful mood. His condition continues to be satisfactory."

There is a good deal of information available about the going-home ceremonies, but still none at all on the big political question of the moment—Eisenhower's 1956 plans.

IN ANNOUNCING he will leave the hospital Friday, the President's doctors said it will be late January of early February before he can make a sound decision—solely from the standpoint of his physical condidtion—on whether to seek reelection.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the famed Boston heart specialist, and Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, Eisenhower's personal physician, made that prediction at a news conference here yesterday.

White did suggest that the President may already have made up his mind about whether to run again, but the doctor also said the chief executive would have to wait until January or February to make any decision based on whether his heart could stand the strain of another four years in the White House.

New Prowler

time, but figured it was sometime between 11 p. m. and 2 a. m. that a man and woman drove up and walked from the garage to the house.

This was very likely the Woodwards who returned from a party for the Duchess of Windsor around 1 a. m.

Wirths then saw lights go on in various parts of the house. This would fit Mrs. Woodward's report that she and her husband, fearing someone might break in, had inspected all parts of the house before retiring in separate bedrooms with loaded shotguns at hand.

After the lights were out for some time, Wirths climbed a tree onto the roof terrace directly above the Woodward's first floor bedrooms.

A branch of the tree broke under his weight, he said, and police reported finding the broken branch when Wirths was taken back to the 60-acre estate to reenact his movements.

Wirths found a glass-paneled door leading from the roof into an unoccupied guest room. It was unlocked but dampness made it sticky and caused a noise when he forced it open.

When the door was flung open, a curtain blew out and swept across Wirths' face, startling him and causing him to knock a shotgun he was carrying against the building.

He paused a moment and was just stepping into the room when he heard the gunfire downstairs. He thought it was fired at him.

"IT SOUNDED like a cannon. I didn't wait. I got the hell out of there," he told police.

He said he jumped from the roof to the ground and fled. When police doubted that he could make the nearly 20-foot leap without injury, he offered to do it again. The offer was declined.

Police have announced that their investigation of the case has turned up nothing to contradict Mrs. Woodward's claim that the fatal shooting was an accident.

Congo Missionary To Address First Assembly Church

MISS LILLIAN HOGAN

Miss Lillian Hogan, missionary to the Belgian Congo, Africa, for 11 years, will be a guest speaker at the First Assembly of God Church tonight, the Rev. Robert R. Vinson, pastor announced today. Miss Hogan will relate some of her experiences and will tell of the progress of missions in the Belgian Congo.

IN 1944 MISS HOGAN first went to the Belgian Congo and, with the exception of furlough periods, has since been located there. She is under appointment of the Foreign Missions Department of the Assemblies of God with headquarters in Springfield, Mo.

During her first term Miss Hogan was stationed in Andudu, where she taught in the Bible school. On weekends and during vacation months she traveled with Bible students in evangelistic work in surrounding villages.

WHEN MISS HOGAN returned to the Congo for her second term of missionary service, she was stationed at the Boys School at Ndeya, and she taught there until she returned to the States on furlough. In addition to the church and school, a leprosarium was begun with 150 resident lepers and approximately 200 out-patients.

After her furlough Miss Hogan plans to return to the Belgium Congo and teach in the school at Biodi. As buildings at the Biodi station, church, school and leprosarium are of temporary structure, Miss Hogan is now visiting various churches of the Assemblies of God raising funds to build permanent buildings at the Biodi station.

MISS HOGAN SERVED as secretary - treasurer, assistant legal representative and as a member of the education committee of the Congo Assemblies of God organization.

The public is cordially invited to hear Miss Hogan. The service begins at 7:45 p. m.

The Fortins, who also lived in Salem Depot, were quoted by Schenectady police as saying that they went to Kelly's house to rob him of money they thought he kept in a trunk. He spotted them and Fortin hit Kelly with the pipe.

THEY INSISTED that Fortin was alive when they left the house, and that they did not know he was dead. They asserted that they did not get any money.

The two went to Boston, Worcester and Pittsfield, Mass., before coming to Schenectady about two weeks ago.

policy which might contain real or only apparent concessions.

Second, Molotov's lieutenants, even in advance of his remark about "better baggage," were stimulating speculation among east European newsmen that new proposals were in the making.

Americans use an average of 20 pounds of rubber per year per person compared with about 1 pound for the rest of the world.

Parking Is . . .

timate made by the Chamber committee. The property extends approximately 500 feet toward Washington avenue and with other adjoining grants would make a sizable parking area.

The proposal includes removal of the O'Dea building in order to afford an entrance and exit on Partition street. The cost of demolition and the cost of the property would be set up in a mortgage to be held by a third party or parties.

THE MORTGAGE payments for 10 years would be paid off with the lease fee received from the village which would be made available from the parking meter receipts.

The Chamber plan proposes that after the mortgage is paid off title would be conveyed to the village at no additional cost.

The meters would be installed at no capital outlay to the village.

THE ONLY VILLAGE obligation would be to level the land, sub-base and black top, the cost of which would be easily absorbed by parking meter receipts according to surveys made by the Chamber committee.

The matter of a formula to deal with developers of village property was discussed and the board passed a resolution authorizing Mayor Arthur F. Simmons to enter into an agreement with Jack Davis, president of the Barclay Heights Development Corp., who has announced his intention to develop approximately 20 acres adjoining the Knaust Development.

THE PROPOSED agreement would obligate the village only to use of machinery, labor and blacktopping in the proposed extension of the Knaust Development. The Davis corporation would agree to supply the materials and the land for the proposed new streets in the development.

Mr. Davis plans to build about 60 to 70 homes in the $20,000 class.

Sharett may warn the United States again of another danger in the shipment of Czech arms to Egypt. Sources here quote an Arab proverb that says if the camel is allowed to stick his nose into the tent, the whole camel soon may be inside.

These informants point out that with the guns and tanks and planes, there probably will come Czech and Russian technicians to show the Egyptians how to operate their new equipment. That might be a first step toward sending in Soviet officers to train Egyptian troops.

Airmen Offered Special Training

Lt. Col. Richard W. Platt, commanding officer of the 2552d Air Reserve Center, 44 Montgomery street, Newburgh, announced today that reserve airmen residing in the Hudson Valley area, have an opportunity to participate in a specialized training course on a pay status.

The Air Force is now offering reserve airmen a leadership course similar to the management, leadership and executive type courses which were formerly available to reserve officers only.

THIS EDUCATIONAL program by the Air Force is an incentive to all airmen to further both their military and civilian careers. The course will cover many phases of business management which are applicable to private industry.

Airmen who are interested in additional information are advised to write or visit the Newburgh Air Reserve Center at 44 Montgomery street, Newburgh.

Dooms Racial Barriers

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Using only 69 words, the Supreme Court has apparently doomed racial barriers in all recreational facilities using public funds. Unanimously, the nine justices yesterday issued two brief orders which had the sweeping effect of extending to such facilities the tribunal's momentous 1954 decision that segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. Specifically affected by the orders were beach and bathhouse facilities at a Baltimore city park and a Maryland state park and beach on Chesapeake Bay, and a public golf course operated by Atlanta.

Last Hiltebrant Minesweeper on Shakedown Cruise

The MSC 132 (minesweeper coastal) sailed from the C. Hiltebrant Dry Dock Company, Connelly, about 10 a. m. today bound for Long Island Sound where she will be put through a series of trials.

This is the last of six all-wooden, non-magnetic vessels of this type to be built under the Hiltebrant contract with the U. S. Navy.

FOLLOWING TRIALS the 375-ton ship will be delivered to the New York Naval Shipyard, Brooklyn, about Nov. 15.

The vessel is 144 feet long, has a 27-foot beam and draws eight feet of water. It is manned by four officers and 35 men.

Prior to construction of the MSC-series (127-132 inclusive) Hiltebrant's built and delivered two larger vessels of the MSO-type (minesweeper ocean).

Hikes Newsprint Cost

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Bowater Paper Co. has increased the price of its newsprint by $4 a ton, effective on Dec. 1, it was announced today. Bowater became the eighth company to raise the price in the latest round of increases. The company, sales representative for Bowater mills at Corner Brook, Newfoundland, and Calhoun, Tenn., notified publisher customers by letter. The letter said, in part, "wages and the price of everything that goes into the manufacture of newsprint, such as wood, chemicals, machine wires, machine clothing, etc., have gone up. Our mills have informed us that in view of these increased costs, they must increase their prices."

FARNHAM, Nov. 8 (AP)—A 13-year-old boy, Joseph Peitrowski, was killed yesterday when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile in this Erie county village.

WELLSVILLE, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Sinclair Refining Co. has increased its price for Pennsylvania grade crude oil purchased in the Allegany Field to $3.75, an increase of 15 cents.

The company announced the new price yesterday. Similar increases were posted by other producers last week.

BERGEN, Nov. 8 (AP)—Arthur H. Scales, 73, of North Chili, was killed yesterday when his automobile was struck by an eastbound New York Central freight train at the Van Sickle road crossing in this Genesee county village.

BUFFALO, Nov. 8 (AP) — A woman, who claims her home was damaged when an air force jet broke the sound barrier, has filed a suit for $3,300 damages against the government.

Mrs. Mamie F. Kaufman said in a complaint filed in Federal Court yesterday that the aircraft was operated so as to "create an explosion or blast" near her home last July 11.

The plant was identified as an F-86D Sabre jet flown by an air force pilot.

Wagner Cites Needs To Halt Narcotics

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner has told a congressional hearing on narcotics that if sufficient federal agents were assigned to guard New York city's waterfront "we could stop the vast flood of drugs from pouring into this country."

The mayor said "Treasury agents and customs are doing a wonderful job against overwhelming odds" in combating the smuggling of illicit narcotics."

Wagner added that he believes that if these two units were reinforced, "the problem of narcotics would be greatly lessened not only in New York but throughout the nation."

Ave and Meyner Agreed on Basic Waterfront Goals

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—The governors of New York and New Jersey, publicly composing their differences, have issued a joint declaration that they are "in complete agreement on the basic objectives and purposes" of the Waterfront Commission of New York harbor.

They say the policies that the New York-New Jersey Commission has been following and its work in combating crime and racketeering on the waterfront will continue to have their full support.

Differences between the two Democratic governors over the waterfront commission came to a head a week ago when Harriman dropped Lt. Gen. George P. Hays (Ret.) as New York member of the two-man agency.

Meyner expressed "surprise" at Hariman's request for the resignation of Hays, who was appointed by former Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

MEYNER indicated that he felt the dropping of Hays might be damaging to the prestige of the waterfront cleanup commission.

Harriman has appointed John P. McGrath, New York city lawyer and his campaign manager last fall, to replace Hays. Harriman said a lawyer rather than a military man is needed to serve on what he called a "quasi-judicial" agency.

New York state Republican leaders have charged that the dropping of Hays was part of a plan to weaken the waterfront commission and was a sop to the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.) which has been fighting the commission.

THEY'RE IN AGAIN—Like death and taxes, flying saucers seem always to be with us. Latest saucer news comes in a story copyrighted by a Toronto newspaper, saying that the Avro Aviation Company's Canadian engineers have designed a top-secret "flying saucer" which can fly at 1500 m.p.h. and take off vertically, making it independent of runways or carriers. The pilot sits in a plastic bubble, with a gas turbine engine of radically new design revolving around him at high speed. Above is an artist's conception of the weird craft, based on the meager information available.

DOUBLE OR NOTHING—Odd double kill is the accomplishment of Floyd Cunningham, a senior at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale. Using an antique Belgian shotgun, Cunningham wounded a squirrel, but lost track of it. Later he bagged a fox that was making off with the same squirrel. The squirrel ended up on the Cunninghams' table; the fox in the SIU Wildlife Research laboratory collection.

for a further recovery period of perhaps six weeks.

No specific time has been announced yet for the President's departure from Denver or for arrival in Washington. The major TV and radio networks are planning "live" coverage of his remarks to the nation.

THE WHITE HOUSE made no immediate announcement on the nature of the Chief Executive's projected remarks, but indications are he will express personal thanks for the flood of "get well" messages he has received from all over the world, and for the prayers offered for his recovery.

Indications are, too, that the President will get a warm farewell from the people of Denver when he travels from the hospital to Lowry Air Force Base Friday morning—and a warm welcome home when he arrives in Washington.

THE PLAN is to announce his hospital to air base route in advance which undoubtedly will bring out a big crowd of Denverites. And the White House planning for the arrival in the capital takes into account District of Columbia planning for a welcome there.

Today's 7 a. m. (MST) medical bulletin from the hospital said:

"The President had a good night's sleep of nearly eight hours. He awoke feeling refreshed and in a cheerful mood. His condition continues to be satisfactory."

There is a good deal of information available about the going-home ceremonies, but still none at all on the big political question of the moment—Eisenhower's 1956 plans.

IN ANNOUNCING he will leave the hospital Friday, the President's doctors said it will be late January of early February before he can make a sound decision—solely from the standpoint of his physical condidtion—on whether to seek reelection.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the famed Boston heart specialist, and Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, Eisenhower's personal physician, made that prediction at a news conference here yesterday.

White did suggest that the President may already have made up his mind about whether to run again, but the doctor also said the chief executive would have to wait until January or February to make any decision based on whether his heart could stand the strain of another four years in the White House.

time, but figured it was sometime between 11 p. m. and 2 a. m. that a man and woman drove up and walked from the garage to the house.

This was very likely the Woodwards who returned from a party for the Duchess of Windsor around 1 a. m.

Wirths then saw lights go on in various parts of the house. This would fit Mrs. Woodward's report that she and her husband, fearing someone might break in, had inspected all parts of the house before retiring in separate bedrooms with loaded shotguns at hand.

After the lights were out for some time, Wirths climbed a tree onto the roof terrace directly above the Woodward's first floor bedrooms.

A branch of the tree broke under his weight, he said, and police reported finding the broken branch when Wirths was taken back to the 60-acre estate to reenact his movements.

Wirths found a glass-paneled door leading from the roof into an unoccupied guest room. It was unlocked but dampness made it sticky and caused a noise when he forced it open.

When the door was flung open, a curtain blew out and swept across Wirths' face, startling him and causing him to knock a shotgun he was carrying against the building.

He paused a moment and was just stepping into the room when he heard the gunfire downstairs. He thought it was fired at him.

"IT SOUNDED like a cannon. I didn't wait. I got the hell out of there," he told police.

He said he jumped from the roof to the ground and fled. When police doubted that he could make the nearly 20-foot leap without injury, he offered to do it again. The offer was declined.

Police have announced that their investigation of the case has turned up nothing to contradict Mrs. Woodward's claim that the fatal shooting was an accident.

Congo Missionary To Address First Assembly Church

MISS LILLIAN HOGAN

Miss Lillian Hogan, missionary to the Belgian Congo, Africa, for 11 years, will be a guest speaker at the First Assembly of God Church tonight, the Rev. Robert R. Vinson, pastor announced today. Miss Hogan will relate some of her experiences and will tell of the progress of missions in the Belgian Congo.

IN 1944 MISS HOGAN first went to the Belgian Congo and, with the exception of furlough periods, has since been located there. She is under appointment of the Foreign Missions Department of the Assemblies of God with headquarters in Springfield, Mo.

During her first term Miss Hogan was stationed in Andudu, where she taught in the Bible school. On weekends and during vacation months she traveled with Bible students in evangelistic work in surrounding villages.

WHEN MISS HOGAN returned to the Congo for her second term of missionary service, she was stationed at the Boys School at Ndeya, and she taught there until she returned to the States on furlough. In addition to the church and school, a leprosarium was begun with 150 resident lepers and approximately 200 out-patients.

After her furlough Miss Hogan plans to return to the Belgium Congo and teach in the school at Biodi. As buildings at the Biodi station, church, school and leprosarium are of temporary structure, Miss Hogan is now visiting various churches of the Assemblies of God raising funds to build permanent buildings at the Biodi station.

MISS HOGAN SERVED as secretary-treasurer, assistant legal representative and as a member of the education committee of the Congo Assemblies of God organization.

The public is cordially invited to hear Miss Hogan. The service begins at 7:45 p. m.

The Fortins, who also lived in Salem Depot, were quoted by Schenectady police as saying that they went to Kelly's house to rob him of money they thought he kept in a trunk. He spotted them and Fortin hit Kelly with the pipe.

THEY INSISTED that Fortin was alive when they left the house, and that they did not know he was dead. They asserted that they did not get any money.

The two went to Boston, Worcester and Pittsfield, Mass., before coming to Schenectady about two weeks ago.

Second, Molotov's lieutenants, even in advance of his remark about "better baggage," were stimulating speculation among east European newsmen that new proposals were in the making.

Parking Is . . .

timate made by the Chamber committee. The property extends approximately 500 feet toward Washington avenue and with other adjoining grants would make a sizable parking area.

The proposal includes removal of the O'Dea building in order to afford an entrance and exit on Partition street. The cost of demolition and the cost of the property would be set up in a mortgage to be held by a third party or parties.

THE MORTGAGE payments for 10 years would be paid off with the lease fee received from the village which would be made available from the parking meter receipts.

The Chamber plan proposes that after the mortgage is paid off title would be conveyed to the village at no additional cost.

The meters would be installed at no capital outlay to the village.

THE ONLY VILLAGE obligation would be to level the land, sub-base and black top, the cost of which would be easily absorbed by parking meter receipts according to surveys made by the Chamber committee.

The matter of a formula to deal with developers of village property was discussed and the board passed a resolution authorizing Mayor Arthur F. Simmons to enter into an agreement with Jack Davis, president of the Barclay Heights Development Corp., who has announced his intention to develop approximately 20 acres adjoining the Knaust Development.

THE PROPOSED agreement would obligate the village only to use of machinery, labor and blacktopping in the proposed extension of the Knaust Development. The Davis corporation would agree to supply the materials and the land for the proposed new streets in the development.

Mr. Davis plans to build about 60 to 70 homes in the $20,000 class.

Sharett may warn the United States again of another danger in the shipment of Czech arms to Egypt. Sources here quote an Arab proverb that says if the camel is allowed to stick his nose into the tent, the whole camel soon may be inside.

These informants point out that with the guns and tanks and planes, there probably will come Czech and Russian technicians to show the Egyptians how to operate their new equipment. That might be a first step toward sending in Soviet officers to train Egyptian troops.

Airmen Offered Special Training

Lt. Col. Richard W. Platt, commanding officer of the 2552d Air Reserve Center, 44 Montgomery street, Newburgh, announced today that reserve airmen residing in the Hudson Valley area, have an opportunity to participate in a specialized training course on a pay status.

The Air Force is now offering reserve airmen a leadership course similar to the management, leadership and executive type courses which were formerly available to reserve officers only.

THIS EDUCATIONAL program by the Air Force is an incentive to all airmen to further both their military and civilian careers. The course will cover many phases of business management which are applicable to private industry.

Airmen who are interested in additional information are advised to write or visit the Newburgh Air Reserve Center at 44 Montgomery street, Newburgh.

Dooms Racial Barriers

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Using only 69 words, the Supreme Court has apparently doomed racial barriers in all recreational facilities using public funds. Unanimously, the nine justices yesterday issued two brief orders which had the sweeping effect of extending to such facilities the tribunal's momentous 1954 decision that segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. Specifically affected by the orders were beach and bathhouse facilities at a Baltimore city park and a Maryland state park and beach on Chesapeake Bay, and a public golf course operated by Atlanta.

Last Hiltebrant Minesweeper on Shakedown Cruise

The MSC 132 (minesweeper coastal) sailed from the C. Hiltebrant Dry Dock Company, Connelly, about 10 a. m. today bound for Long Island Sound where she will be put through a series of trials.

This is the last of six all-wooden, non-magnetic vessels of this type to be built under the Hiltebrant contract with the U. S. Navy.

FOLLOWING TRIALS the 375-ton ship will be delivered to the New York Naval Shipyard, Brooklyn, about Nov. 15.

The vessel is 144 feet long, has a 27-foot beam and draws eight feet of water. It is manned by four officers and 35 men.

Prior to construction of the MSC-series (127-132 inclusive) Hiltebrant's built and delivered two larger vessels of the MSO-type (minesweeper ocean).

Hikes Newsprint Cost

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Bowater Paper Co. has increased the price of its newsprint by $4 a ton, effective on Dec. 1, it was announced today. Bowater became the eighth company to raise the price in the latest round of increases. The company, sales representative for Bowater mills at Corner Brook, Newfoundland, and Calhoun, Tenn., notified publisher customers by letter. The letter said, in part, "wages and the price of everything that goes into the manufacture of newsprint, such as wood, chemicals, machine wires, machine clothing, etc., have gone up. Our mills have informed us that in view of these increased costs, they must increase their prices."

Briefly Told

FARNHAM, Nov. 8 (AP)—A 13-year-old boy, Joseph Peitrowski, was killed yesterday when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile in this Erie county village.

WELLSVILLE, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Sinclair Refining Co. has increased its price for Pennsylvania grade crude oil purchased in the Allegany Field to $3.75, an increase of 15 cents.

The company announced the new price yesterday. Similar increases were posted by other producers last week.

BERGEN, Nov. 8 (AP)—Arthur H. Scales, 73, of North Chili, was killed yesterday when his automobile was struck by an eastbound New York Central freight train at the Van Sickle road crossing in this Genesee county village.

BUFFALO, Nov. 8 (AP) — A woman, who claims her home was damaged when an air force jet broke the sound barrier, has filed a suit for $3,300 damages against the government.

Mrs. Mamie F. Kaufman said in a complaint filed in Federal Court yesterday that the aircraft was operated so as to "create an explosion or blast" near her home last July 11.

The plant was identified as an F-86D Sabre jet flown by an air force pilot.

He pleaded guilty yesterday before a justice of the peace at Athens and was sentenced in Bradford County Court.

Sees Home Buying Credit Eased in '56

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—The president of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards predicted today that home buying credit will be eased in 1956 and home building will continue at the present high level.

In a speech for a general session of the association's 48th annual convention, Henry G. Waltemade of New York, said:

"Demand for home ownership and for superior housing standards continue high. Employment and earnings are at record levels. Vacancies and foreclosures are low . . . there is nothing in the picture to show an oversupplied home market."

Licenses Are Revoked

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP)—The licenses of seven doctors associated with the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic of Dallas were revoked yesterday by the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners. The six osteopaths and one medical doctor were found guilty of "unprofessional" and "dishonorable" conduct after a day-long hearing. James Martin, Dallas lawyer, said he would appeal to District Court. The osteopaths whose licenses were revoked were Ronald Watt, Douglas O. Logan, Charles P. Barberee, William E. Stokes, Alfred A. Staffa and Benjamin A. Harry. The medical doctor was Walter F. Pickett.

Upholds Vote Right

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—The Appellate Division, Third Department, of State Supreme Court, held yesterday that Mr. and Mrs. F. Maxson Neal could vote today in the Town of Lincklaen, Chenango county, as they desired. The high court upheld a decision by Judge Frank W. Grated Apple Is Ingredient For Novel Holiday Cake

BRAND-NEW ADVENTURE for your taste buds is offered by a cake flavored with grated fresh apples.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Picture this after the Thanksgiving turkey—a moist flavorful grated fresh apple cake topped with either ice cream and caramel sauce, or lemon sauce and whipped cream. The recipe comes from Mrs. John M. Bloxom of Yakima, Washington. She is the wife of a prominent apple and pear grower, a sportsman and a terrific cook, according to her husband. These recipes prove he is right.

Grated Fresh Apple Cake
(Yield: 9 servings)

Two cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1¼ cups light brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg, ½ cup shortening, 1½ cups coarsely grated raw apples, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 eggs.

Sift the first six ingredients into a mixing bowl. Add shortening, grated apple and milk. Mix just enough to dampen the ingredients. Then, beat 2 minutes by hand or with an electric beater at low speed. Add eggs. Beat 2 more minutes at low speed. Pour batter into a well-greased, lightly flowered, 6-cup ring mold. Bake 50 minutes, or until done, in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Or, if desired, bake in a well-greased, lightly floured 9-inch square pan for 45 minutes. Turn out on a wire rack. Serve cold with ice cream and caramel sauce or top with lemon sauce and whipped cream.

Mashed Carrots and Potatoes
(Yield: 6 servings)

One pound (about 11 medium) fresh carrots, ½ pound (2 medium) potatoes, 1-inch boiling water in saucepan, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 uncooked carrot, grated.

Pare carrots and potatoes and cut each into quarters. Place in a saucepan along with one-inch boing water and salt. Cover. Boil until tender, 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from heat and mash until fluffy. Beat in the next three ingredients. Garnish with grated uncooked carrot.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Vegetables and beef cutlets, carrots mashed with potatoes, fresh broccoli with lemon butter, tossed lettuce and endive salad, grapefruit French dressing, rye bread, butter or margarine, grated fresh apple cake, coffee, tea, milk.

9,000 May Strike

St. Louis, Nov. 8 (AP)—About 9,000 Brown Shoe Co. employes were scheduled to go on strike today, just one day after 17,000 production workers walked out at 41 plants of the International Shoe Co. The companies are two of the largest in the industry and the combined walkout of 26,000 workers make this the biggest strike ever to hit the shoe industry, veteran shoe men reported.

Tommy Tucker Set to Feature Saugerties Ball

TOMMY TUCKER

Tommy Tucker and his orchestra, well-known name band and his familiar "Tommy Tucker Time" will be featured at the eighth annual American Legion Ball sponsored by the Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, of Saugerties.

The annual event will be held in the Municipal auditorium on the traditional Friday after Thanksgiving, Nov. 25.

Tommy Tucker is noted for his audience acceptance in some of the leading hotels, ballrooms and clubs throughout the nation.

Delayed Bite

Norfolk, Va. (AP)—Two men whose car struck a little boy's dog thoughtfully rushed the dog to a veterinary hospital. They came back next day to check on the dog's condition and gave the vet a check for the bill. Then they got nipped—by the law. The check bounced, cops picked up the pair, and charged them with a series of bad check operations.

Protection Needed

Morgantown, W. Va. (AP)—When the frantic call came into police headquarters to "send the police right away," desk Patrolman George Katchur asked what was wrong. "Somebody just took my modeling clay," came the reply in a high-pitched voice. The complainant's age was listed as 7.

Holstein Club To Hear Cornell Speaker Thursday

Professor Van B. Hart, professor of Agricultural Economies at Cornell University, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the U. S. O. Holstein Club to be held at Rochester Reformed Church, Accord, Thursday.

The meeting will be preceeded by a dinner served by the ladies of the church at 7:30 p. m. This is the annual meeting of the club composed of Holstein dairymen of the counties of Ulster, Sullivan and Orange. At the meeting four directors will be elected for three year terms. They will succeed Allen Detch of Bullville, Sam Pleips, Jr., of Walden, Paul Lein of Wallkill and Stanley Seacord of Montgomery, whose terms as director expire. A nominating committee will present the slate of directors for the coming three years.

PROFESSOR HART, popular professor of Agricultural Economics in Extension work has had many years in the various aspects of agriculture in New York. His talk will be based on the changes in agriculture during recent years. He is known for the wit and humor that he combines in his talk.

All dairy farmers and others interested are invited to attend. Reservations for the supper should be made with Frank Kelder at Accord, phone Kerhonkson 2227, as soon as possible.

Ex-Convict Sentenced

Towanda, Pa., Nov. 8 (AP)—A 34-year-old ex-convict was sentenced yesterday to 2½ to 12 years in jail on charges of automobile theft and forgery. William R. Mack of Bentley Creek had been arrested in nearby Athens early Sunday after a four-mile automobile chase from Waverly, N. Y., at speeds poice said reached 100 miles an hour. He pleaded guilty yesterday before a justice of the peace at Athens and was sentenced in Bradford County Court.

Sees Home Buying Credit Eased in '56

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—The president of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards predicted today that home buying credit will be eased in 1956 and home building will continue at the present high level.

In a speech for a general session of the association's 48th annual convention, Henry G. Waltemade of New York, said:

"Demand for home ownership and for superior housing standards continue high. Employment and earnings are at record levels. Vacancies and foreclosures are low . . . there is nothing in the picture to show an oversupplied home market."

Licenses Are Revoked

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP)—The licenses of seven doctors associated with the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic of Dallas were revoked yesterday by the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners. The six osteopaths and one medical doctor were found guilty of "unprofessional" and "dishonorable" conduct after a day-long hearing. James Martin, Dallas lawyer, said he would appeal to District Court. The osteopaths whose licenses were revoked were Ronald Watt, Douglas O. Logan, Charles P. Barberee, William E. Stokes, Alfred A. Staffa and Benjamin A. Harry. The medical doctor was Walter F. Pickett.

Upholds Vote Right

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—The Appellate Division, Third Department, of State Supreme Court, held yesterday that Mr. and Mrs. F. Maxson Neal could vote today in the Town of Lincklaen, Chenango county, as they desired. The high court upheld a decision by Judge Frank W. Barnes of Chenango county, which reversed a ruling of the board of inspectors of the First Election District in the Town of Lincklaen. The board had held that the Neals were legal residents of the Town of Pitcher, Chenango county. It said the young people received utility bills at a farm Neal owns there.

THE STEUBEN PROJECT

This fall, the United States Army dedicated a $2,500,000 housing project at Frankfort, Germany. It was built by the Germans to house American soldiers occupying requisitioned property and it was named after General Steuben.

General Friedrich Wilhelm von Steuben was the most eminent, after Lafayette, of the Europeans who volunteered in the Revolutionary army. A veteran of the Seven Years War, whom King Frederick the Great of Prussia admired enough to select for his general staff, Steuben was at loose ends when the Revolution broke out. The French government, knowing his ability, recommended him to Benjamin Franklin, our envoy at Paris, and Steuben was urged to come to America. He won popularity by refusing to take more than his expenses unless the war were won and his services proved satisfactory. He was a magnificent drillmaster, who imposed needed discipline upon our do-as-you-please civilian soldiers. Washington found him invaluable.

After the war he became an American citizen by acts of the New York and Pennsylvania legislatures and he lived in New York City until his death in 1794.

The new housing project named for a step-father of the American revolution may symbolize to the Germans America's approval of their new revolution in ideas.

THE FIGHT GOES ON

Anyone who believes that the fight against poliomyelitis is over, now that we have the Salk vaccine, had better take another look at the situation. Basil O'Connor has been busy pointing out that plenty remains to be done before humanity can write finis to the polio story.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who developed the vaccine administered to millions of children last summer, is among the first to acknowledge that the task is not finished. He himself is seeking an even more effective vaccine, and much work is being done not only on serums but on drugs and other protective measures.

O'Connor, who as president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has been immersed for years in the battle against this disease, properly notes that existing polio programs must be continued. Among these are professional and public education, and aid for patients who already have polio or who may contract it in the future.

The Salk vaccine was a powerful blow against one of the most fearsome of the diseases that afflict mankind. But it seems likely that at least a few more years will pass before polio is brought fully under control. Until that happy time, generous gifts —gifts of the sort that have made possible most of the progress thus far—must continue to pour in from a grateful public.

JUST PLAIN LIFE

Remember O. Henry's story about the bum who decided, come autumn, that he had better run afoul of the law and thus get a free ticket to a nice comfortable jail for the winter?

Remember how he tried to get into trouble—knocked out a store window, calmly announced that he was penniless after consuming a restaurant's best dinner, and so forth? And how fate kept stepping in, preventing his arrest? Until, listening repentantly to organ music from a church, he was run in for vagrancy?

Something a bit like that happened the other day in Tokyo. A rag picker named Akira Matsumura did some shoplifting right under a policemen's nose. Pressed for an explanation, he replied: "The leaves are falling. The wind is cold. I have rheumatism. Jail this winter would be nice and warm."

But Akira Matsumura was not protected by fate, then seized in a moment of reform. The policeman just hauled him off for sentence. Real life doesn't seem to have O. Henry's way with a twist at the end of the story.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

PROFESSIONALS AT BAY

The professionals of both parties are rapidly reaching the conclusion that President Eisenhower will run for a second term. This forces them to revise their earlier plans, because professional politicians cannot afford to wait until the doctors and the Eisenhower family and the President have reached decisions. Professionals have deals to make.

From the Republican standpoint, it means that the long pre-convention fight for the first place is practically over. There is bound to be something of a struggle for the second place, but the President will name the Vice-Presidential candidate and it is likely to be Richard Nixon. The Republican campaign probably will be led by Nixon, with members of the Cabinet participating. It is not believed that President Eisenhower will go through the grind of the canvass.

The Democrats exhibit unexpected confidence that they might win despite the renomination of President Eisenhower. Their most serious problem will be to keep the Solid South together. In 1952, Eisenhower carried four Southern states, Tennessee, Virginia, Florida and Texas. This is the leading argument which the anti-Stevenson Democrats use against him. They make the point that to win, they have to keep the Solid South solid. Some of the Northern professional Democrats are puzzled by what appears to be Stevenson strength in the South, but they took courage from Senator Richard B. Russell's proclamation for Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio.

Lausche refuses to take any steps to assist his candidacy and it has thus far not been possible to get a declaration from him. Prior to his attendance at the Ohio Society Dinner in New York on October 24, 1955, there were speculative reports that he was coming to this city to confer with Carmine DeSapio, the New York Democratic leader. I have checked most carefully and can say, without the slightest fear of error, that they have not met by arrangement or casually to this date. I have also checked Republican sentiment and estimate that some important Republican leaders, particularly in New York, would favor Lausche over any candidate in either party; others would favor him over all except Eisenhower.

The Democratic professionals believe that if they can hold the Solid South, they can win because of New York and Michigan which they feel are sure. The New York situation is particularly dangerous for the Republicans. Thomas E. Dewey, while Governor, ruled the organization with an iron hand. But after he ceased to be Governor, the organization fell apart. A new leadership needs to arise. The interim power is the Attorney-General, Jacob Javits, who cannot bring the contending factions together.

For instance, Queens County, which is the only effective Republican county in New York city, is dominated by McCarthyites who are more loyal to the Wisconsin Senator today than ever before. They will not follow Javits's lead.

Despite all protestations to the contrary, the State Department brush-off for arms for Israel is a paramount factor in New York State in which race, religion, color and prior nationality are politically significant. While many who believe that such divisions should not exist prefer to say that they do not exist, the professionals know that such factors are paramount not only here but in several other states and they reach their decisions accordingly. A pro-Egypt policy will make no votes for Republicans in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut or Massachusetts and when one talks to professional politicians, he hears much on the subject.

The weakness of the Democrats is their internal fight over A.D.A. and Stevenson. In the end, Governor Averell Harriman will have the New York Democratic delegation. Neither he nor Carmine DeSapio, the Democratic leader, will be for Stevenson unless he is inevitable.

California is far away and few understand its politics, which to other Americans seem less partisan than is usual. Within the Republican Party, among professionals, Senator William Knowland stands out as a leader. The Taft element in the party would prefer Knowland to any other candidate. If Eisenhower runs, there will be no other candidate. It is doubtful if Eisenhower will take anyone but Nixon for Vice President. The Democratic Party in California seems to be in a turmoil over A.D.A. Democrats outside of California do not now count on that state, which has the second largest electoral vote in the country.

HEARING LOSS

I write frequently about hearing loss because it is a major problem, not only for the individuals involved, but for the nation at large. For example, it has been estimated that in the United States alone between two and three million persons suffer from a handicapping hearing loss in one or both ears. The yearly outlay of Veterans Administration for 90,000 ear cases is $14,000,000, not including the replacement and upkeeping of hearing aids. Industry faces a similar economic loss if it does not use pre-employment hearing tests, and institute preventive measures against noise hazards.

Within recent years much light has been thrown on the so-called congenital (present at birth) factors in the causation of hearing loss. German measles can cause deafness if the mother contracts the disease during the first four months of pregnancy. Then, too, the RH factor of the mother's blood may cause a hearing loss in the new infant. Anoxia (lack of oxygen) with or without jaundice in young children is an important cause.

It is necessary to discover so handicapped children at the earliest possible moment. The infant may, for the first two days or so of his life, appear deaf but, normally, after this period a loud noise will startle him. To quote Dr. Benjamin Spock, the most frequent mistake made by the parents of deaf, blind, palsied and other seriously handicapped children is that they spend precious years going from doctor to doctor, and then from quack to quack, hunting for a magic cure that doesn't exist, instead of starting the valuable special training that will really help the child if it is begun soon enough.

The child who is born very deaf or who becomes that way early in life from illness, will learn to speak only with special help. Methods have been worked out, using sight, touch, and electrical amplification of sound, to teach him how to read lips and how to speak. Then he can converse with everybody (instead of being limited, as the deaf used to be, to those who could use the sign language). A seriously deaf child will have to go to a special school for this training and in general such schools exist only in the larger cities. It is important for him to start between the ages of 2 and 3, if he can live near such a school. If not, he should be in a special boarding school by the age of 4, but one that understands and provides for the special emotional needs of the young child.

This is particularly hard on the parents as well as the child for the younger the child, the more he needs the close, loving, understanding kind of care, the sense of really belonging, that he is more likely to get at home than in even the best of boarding schools. However, if a young child must leave his family to get vitally necessary training, then the parents' main job is to visit and investigate the best boarding schools that are available, not only from the standpoint of the most up-to-date methods but also from the viewpoint of the spirit of the place, the friendliness of the teachers and housemothers.

There are hard of hearing societies, clubs, and associations in most cities and states who can help with information. Also, the Volta Bureau, 1537 35th street, N. W. Washington, D. C., will supply information on special schools for the deaf.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Dedication of the new, five-million-dollar white marble palace headquarters for President Dave Beck and his International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America must be noted as one of the really socially significant signs of the times.

It is a far cry from what would have been observed in the good old days. Then a new "Teamsters' Hall" would be opened over a saloon in a section on the wrong side of the tracks known affectionately as "Hell's Half Acre."

At the new Teamsters' headquarters, all, all is moderne and unmortgaged — probably the only unmortgaged building in town.

During the last few days, this new seat of power has been open for inspection by a bug-eyed public. But were the guides husky, tieless warehousemen in shirtsleeves pointing out, "Dis way to de lib'ary?" Not on your life.

They were nonunion college boy guides, that's what they were, hired for the occasion to direct, grammatically, the mighty and the masses on their way to the penthouse, and please don't step through the picture windows.

NOW THIS MARKS the darn near ultimate in the Triumph of Labor, with capital letters, please. When the Toilers can hire young Intellectuals to do their menial chores, and face a strike and picket line of their own office help, Great Day has arrived. The President's forthcoming White House Conference on Education had better mark it well.

Machinists, Electrical Workers, Steelworkers and others are putting up new office buildings all over downtown.

The American Federation of Labor—soon to merge with the Congress of Industrial Organizations — has its own new headquarters nearing completion. Its top-floor auditorium and balcony overlook the White House itself. It towers over a church to make the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the U. S. Treasury look like sorry old dumps.

IF U. S. STEEL, DuPont, General Electric, any of the auto giants or the power trust were to move their main offices to Washington and put up business chateaux of Teamster-type — complete with board rooms, Cinerama theaters seating 500, cafeterias and coffee-break rooms for the lesser help—there would be wild wails of warning.

Several alarmists have crawled out on the end of their flagpoles to predict that Walter Reuther was aiming to be president of the United States.

THINGS AREN'T THATAWAY yet. But Reuther and AFL President George Meany do call on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles every so often, to tell him what's wrong with his foreign policy.

Believe some of the Labor Tycoons and the 30-hour, four-day week with guaranteed annual time-and-a-half off and pensions at age 55 is just around the corner. Herbert Hoover in his balmiest predictions of 1929 was never so optimistic.

If the Communists really want to know what a workers' paradise is like, just show 'em the Teamsters' HQ. Adam in the Garden of Eden never had it like Dave Beck, the Labor Boss Capitalist. And when you call him that, you don't have to smile. Congratulations are in order.

Today in National Affairs

Important Election Sign To Watch Is Size of Vote

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 7—Again, as in 1954, local elections are being surveyed to determine whether any national trend appears to give a hint for 1956.

Election of a state legislature in New Jersey has been expected to reveal a party attitude, though experience there in the past with contests for the legislature has indicated a position consistently favoring the Republicans.

It usually takes time for a change in the governorship to be reflected down through the legislature in any state. Instances of the governorship going to one political party while both houses of the legislature got the other way are not unusual in northern states. This happened in New York in 1954 when Harriman, a Democrat, became governor and the legislature remained Republican in both houses.

The reason for this, of course, is the same as in Congressional elections in off-years. Thus, in 1954 the House of Representatives went Democratic even though two years before President Eisenhower swept the country on the Republican ticket. There were some observers who in 1954 thought they detected a national trend but there was nothing conclusive about it either way. It was, on the whole, a close election, between the parties and a change of just a handful of districts would have given the Republicans a victory.

CONTESTS for state legislature, like contests for Congress, are enmeshed in local issues and candidates do not hesitate to take their stand irrespective of party doctrine. Thus in Virginia this year where the Republican party has many more candidates in the field than usual against the well-organized Democratic groups which rule the state, it is not surprising to find here and there a Republican nominee who favors segregation. This is in deference to local sentiment and means that maybe the candidate in questtion realizes he wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance unless he expressed himself that way. Other candidates in Virginia who say they respect the Supreme Court's rulings still hedge a bit and find some ambiguous way to express themselves so as to try to corral the voters on both sides. It is hard to discern a national trend under such circumstances.

The municipal election in Philadelphia could have national significance, but not from a party standpoint. An issue of corruption threw out of power four years ago the Republicans who had held the city hall for generations. But now, with reform Republicans fighting reform Democrats, it is difficult to measure how much the people still hold the Republican party responsible for the sins of the past, and how much they are rewarding or opposing the incumbents, as the case may be, on the actual record of Democratic rule.

SURELY it is a far cry from a national trend when a city like Philadelphia votes primarily on a municipal problem involving corruption as an issue. Every one familiar with American politics is aware that in Federal, state and municipal elections there is likely to be less partisanship exhibited on questions of integrity than on anything else. The old slogan "turn the rascals out" still holds good everywhere.

But it is also true that the people forget quickly. Despite the bad record of Tammany Hall in New York city the people have repeatedly returned the Democrats to power after only a brief interval of probation. Somehow guilt in politics becomes personal and parties do not bear the brunt of it for any great length of time.

There is solace in this for the national Democratic party. For, while the corruption issue hurt the Democrats in the 1952 presidential election, it is doubtful whether the resentment over it will survive in 1956. The Democrats in Congress have been trying desperately this year to devise some kind of Republican analogy on the integrity issue, but they haven't succeeded, though they will offer Dixon-Yates and the so-called deviations of the "dollar-a-year men" as a possible basis for voter resentment.

So far as the 1955 elections are concerned, a most important thing to watch is how much apathy is manifested—that is, how large or small the vote is on state and city elections in the same localities compared to other years. In a time of prosperity like the present it would not be surprising when the final tallies are in to see a relatively small vote totalled up for both parties and all candidates.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Hotel Petersberg, Konigswinter, Germany—This hotel, surely one of the most beautiful and luxurious in the world, is the Blair House of the Bonn Federal Government. It is subsidized by the federal treasury as a parking place for human beings of the rank of "dignitary" who come to Bonn on political, diplomatic and financial business, all of which really can be lumped under the first of these titles. With their clothes off they are just people of various complexions from Haile Selassie's mock-turtle maduro to that of the Icelanders who are about to shove in. They are blondish, I suppose, although they may be Eskimos for all I know. But with the titles and their regimentals on they all personify the vanity of their "states," even the artificial and momentary ephemera, just as the Kaiser used to, and the overworked, worried little English queen still does.

The Russians, also, on such occasions, shoulder loads of glittering junk called orders and decorations which go back into the Kremlin vaults when, at last, they are led in pajamas and slippers at dawn to get shot for treason.

In this hotel, the weary, plaintive Chamberlain said "peace in our time" after his last, futile interview with Hitler, who jubilated with his crazy court in another hotel called the Dreesen right on the river bank at Bad Godesberg and within plain view of the Petersberg. It is hard to find anyone who remembers anything about those fateful personalities and episodes because our people and the British had the hypocritical gall to proclaim it a crime to believe in national socialism and to punish offenders by imprisonment and civic and professional disqualification for declaring such belief. Our "de-Nazification courts" were heavily loaded with returned German Communist refugees. They had a field day.

The fact that Hitler liked the Dreesen and often holed up there was held by some to taint the management with criminal attachment to the Nazi party, but the truth is that thousands of Germans bowed to corrupt force just as hordes of contemptible front-runners threw in with Roosevelt in our own country. Whoever refused to salaam to Hitler wound up in Dachau or a reasonable facsimile.

The furniture in the Petersberg is all either beautiful antiques or exquisite reproductions. The chairs are covered in needlepoint and this is one of the few hotels in Europe, or the United States, for that matter, which provides plenty of candlepower in the lights without resort to the electrician. After weeks in cramped, gloomy quarters, I have been spreading out in two big rooms giving onto a wide, private terrace with a long view of the Rhine and its bustle of industrial shipping; of Bonn with its parliamentary plant, its fabulous new publicity and propaganda building, its embassies and ministries, and its university and American golden ghetto and of Bad Godesberg.

My rent is high for Europe but, even with the statutory 15 per cent for tips, it is no more than the cost of two rooms in any American hotel professing to be first class to which robust tips are added on a catch-as-catch-can basis. The river is a fascinating concourse of barges freighting machinery, coal, oil, gasoline and lumber. White plumes hurry along both banks as dozens of strings of freight cars and occasional passenger trains challenge the world again, day after day and night.

My bedroom was occupied by Haile Selassie's son, who has the title of Earl, and my sitting-room was his sitting-room, when the Abyssinians were here a year ago. His wife, the countess, had another bedroom on the other side of the parlor and the old man, himself, had one bedroom, three parlors used for "conference" roms and a dining room. The Negus used to stroll in the halls in his pajamas, subject to no embarrassment because the Bonn government had allotted him two whole floors and his bodyguards stood sentry.

Acquaintances among the help report that Selassie was a very decent fellow, a tiny runt of a man an inch or so under Erich Weck, the upstairs waiter, known as Shorty who is little over five feet high. Shorty worked at the Willard in Washington in 1930 and 1931 but went back to Hamburg in disgust because American waiters had to bootleg Maryland panther and all such poison. Shorty said this made him a criminal without any prospect of appropriate returns for the risk. Anyway, he did not want to be a criminal.

During the war, he was a soldier servant at an officers' mess near Hamburg. He speaks English in an excited jabber, he walks miles for pleasure up and down the mountain on his day off and he says he wangled his soft touch at that officers' mess by complaining that his government-issue shoes, the smallest in the quartermaster's store, were so big that they murdered his feet. He is a genial, bustling little fellow, always thinking of things to do for you, but when I got fed up on goose-liver, roast duck and partridge and wanted some frankfurters, he tried to talk me out of the idea. I said, after all, this was Germany, but shorty argued that after all this was also the Rhineland and the most luxurious hotel in the country. He hinted that sausage and beer were socially inappropriate. On the Rhine, wine was the correct thing and almost anything but frankfurters. Finally, shorty came up with about 30 inches of canned frankfurters and a pint of beer which he snuck into the room with the old furtiveness of his days at the Willard.

It turns out that old man Adenauer is a Rhinelander himself, a native of this very neighborhood where he has lived all his life only a few miles upstream and looks down on Prussians because they drink Schnapps and on Bavarians because they drink beer.

The Negus's son, the Earl, soon took to shorty and ordered his personal goons outside and several times sat there and chatted, probably trying to get a line on things from the little waiter as foreigners often do. When the party finally pulled stakes, the Earl and Countess each gave shorty 150 marks and the Negus slipped him 250, a bonus of about $130 for the five days.

THE STEUBEN PROJECT

This fall, the United States Army dedicated a $2,500,000 housing project at Frankfort, Germany. It was built by the Germans to house American soldiers occupying requisitioned property and it was named after General Steuben.

General Friedrich Wilhelm von Steuben was the most eminent, after Lafayette, of the Europeans who volunteered in the Revolutionary army. A veteran of the Seven Years War, whom King Frederick the Great of Prussia admired enough to select for his general staff, Steuben was at loose ends when the Revolution broke out. The French government, knowing his ability, recommended him to Benjamin Franklin, our envoy at Paris, and Steuben was urged to come to America. He won popularity by refusing to take more than his expenses unless the war were won and his services proved satisfactory. He was a magnificent drillmaster, who imposed needed discipline upon our do-as-you-please civilian soldiers. Washington found him invaluable.

After the war he became an American citizen by acts of the New York and Pennsylvania legislatures and he lived in New York City until his death in 1794.

The new housing project named for a step-father of the American revolution may symbolize to the Germans America's approval of their new revolution in ideas.

THE FIGHT GOES ON

Anyone who believes that the fight against poliomyelitis is over, now that we have the Salk vaccine, had better take another look at the situation. Basil O'Connor has been busy pointing out that plenty remains to be done before humanity can write finis to the polio story.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who developed the vaccine administered to millions of children last summer, is among the first to acknowledge that the task is not finished. He himself is seeking an even more effective vaccine, and much work is being done not only on serums but on drugs and other protective measures.

O'Connor, who as president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has been immersed for years in the battle against this disease, properly notes that existing polio programs must be continued. Among these are professional and public education, and aid for patients who already have polio or who may contract it in the future.

The Salk vaccine was a powerful blow against one of the most fearsome of the diseases that afflict mankind. But it seems likely that at least a few more years will pass before polio is brought fully under control. Until that happy time, generous gifts—gifts of the sort that have made possible most of the progress thus far—must continue to pour in from a grateful public.

JUST PLAIN LIFE

Remember O. Henry's story about the bum who decided, come autumn, that he had better run afoul of the law and thus get a free ticket to a nice comfortable jail for the winter?

Remember how he tried to get into trouble—knocked out a store window, calmly announced that he was penniless after consuming a restaurant's best dinner, and so forth? And how fate kept stepping in, preventing his arrest? Until, listening repentantly to organ music from a church, he was run in for vagrancy?

Something a bit like that happened the other day in Tokyo. A rag picker named Akira Matsumura did some shoplifting right under a policemen's nose. Pressed for an explanation, he replied: "The leaves are falling. The wind is cold. I have rheumatism. Jail this winter would be nice and warm."

But Akira Matsumura was not protected by fate, then seized in a moment of reform. The policeman just hauled him off for sentence. Real life doesn't seem to have O. Henry's way with a twist at the end of the story.

'These Days'

PROFESSIONALS AT BAY

The professionals of both parties are rapidly reaching the conclusion that President Eisenhower will run for a second term. This forces them to revise their earlier plans, because professional politicians cannot afford to wait until the doctors and the Eisenhower family and the President have reached decisions. Professionals have deals to make.

From the Republican standpoint, it means that the long pre-convention fight for the first place is practically over. There is bound to be something of a struggle for the second place, but the President will name the Vice-Presidential candidate and it is likely to be Richard Nixon. The Republican campaign probably will be led by Nixon, with members of the Cabinet participating. It is not believed that President Eisenhower will go through the grind of the canvass.

The Democrats exhibit unexpected confidence that they might win despite the renomination of President Eisenhower. Their most serious problem will be to keep the Solid South together. In 1952, Eisenhower carried four Southern states, Tennessee, Virginia, Florida and Texas. This is the leading argument which the anti-Stevenson Democrats use against him. They make the point that to win, they have to keep the Solid South solid. Some of the Northern professional Democrats are puzzled by what appears to be Stevenson strength in the South, but they took courage from Senator Richard B. Russell's proclamation for Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio.

Lausche refuses to take any steps to assist his candidacy and it has thus far not been possible to get a declaration from him. Prior to his attendance at the Ohio Society Dinner in New York on October 24, 1955, there were speculative reports that he was coming to this city to confer with Carmine DeSapio, the New York Democratic leader. I have checked most carefully and can say, without the slightest fear of error, that they have not met by arrangement or casually to this date. I have also checked Republican sentiment and estimate that some important Republican leaders, particularly in New York, would favor Lausche over any candidate in either party; others would favor him over all except Eisenhower.

The Democratic professionals believe that if they can hold the Solid South, they can win because of New York and Michigan which they feel are sure. The New York situation is particularly dangerous for the Republicans. Thomas E. Dewey, while Governor, ruled the organization with an iron hand. But after he ceased to be Governor, the organization fell apart. A new leadership needs to arise. The interim power is the Attorney-General, Jacob Javits, who cannot bring the contending factions together.

For instance, Queens County, which is the only effective Republican county in New York city, is dominated by McCarthyites who are more loyal to the Wisconsin Senator today than ever before. They will not follow Javits's lead.

Despite all protestations to the contrary, the State Department brush-off for arms for Israel is a paramount factor in New York State in which race, religion, color and prior nationality are politically significant. While many who believe that such divisions should not exist prefer to say that they do not exist, the professionals know that such factors are paramount not only here but in several other states and they reach their decisions accordingly. A pro-Egypt policy will make no votes for Republicans in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut or Massachusetts and when one talks to professional politicians, he hears much on the subject.

The weakness of the Democrats is their internal fight over A.D.A. and Stevenson. In the end, Governor Averell Harriman will have the New York Democratic delegation. Neither he nor Carmine DeSapio, the Democratic leader, will be for Stevenson unless he is inevitable.

California is far away and few understand its politics, which to other Americans seem less partisan than is usual. Within the Republican Party, among professionals, Senator William Knowland stands out as a leader. The Taft element in the party would prefer Knowland to any other candidate. If Eisenhower runs, there will be no other candidate. It is doubtful if Eisenhower will take anyone but Nixon for Vice President. The Democratic Party in California seems to be in a turmoil over A.D.A. Democrats outside of California do not now count on that state, which has the second largest electoral vote in the country.

Machinists, Electrical Workers, Steelworkers and others are putting up new office buildings all over downtown.

The American Federation of Labor—soon to merge with the Congress of Industrial Organizations — has its own new headquarters nearing completion. Its top-floor auditorium and balcony overlook the White House itself. It towers over a church to make the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the U. S. Treasury look like sorry old dumps.

IF U. S. STEEL, DuPont, General Electric, any of the auto giants or the power trust were to move their main offices to Washington and put up business chateaux of Teamster-type — complete with board rooms, Cinerama theaters seating 500, cafeterias and coffee-break rooms for the lesser help—there would be wild wails of warning.

Several alarmists have crawled out on the end of their flagpoles to predict that Walter Reuther was aiming to be president of the United States.

THINGS AREN'T THATAWAY yet. But Reuther and AFL President George Meany do call on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles every so often, to tell him what's wrong with his foreign policy.

Believe some of the Labor Tycoons and the 30-hour, four-day week with guaranteed annual time-and-a-half off and pensions at age 55 is just around the corner. Herbert Hoover in his balmiest predictions of 1929 was never so optimistic.

If the Communists really want to know what a workers' paradise is like, just show 'em the Teamsters' HQ. Adam in the Garden of Eden never had it like Dave Beck, the Labor Boss Capitalist. And when you call him that, you don't have to smile. Congratulations are in order.

Today in National Affairs

Important Election Sign To Watch Is Size of Vote

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 7—Again, as in 1954, local elections are being surveyed to determine whether any national trend appears to give a hint for 1956.

Election of a state legislature in New Jersey has been expected to reveal a party attitude, though experience there in the past with contests for the legislature has indicated a position consistently favoring the Republicans.

It usually takes time for a change in the governorship to be reflected down through the legislature in any state. Instances of the governorship going to one political party while both houses of the legislature got the other way are not unusual in northern states. This happened in New York in 1954 when Harriman, a Democrat, became governor and the legislature remained Republican in both houses.

The reason for this, of course, is the same as in Congressional elections in off-years. Thus, in 1954 the House of Representatives went Democratic even though two years before President Eisenhower swept the country on the Republican ticket. There were some observers who in 1954 thought they detected a national trend but there was nothing conclusive about it either way. It was, on the whole, a close election, between the parties and a change of just a handful of districts would have given the Republicans a victory.

CONTESTS for state legislature, like contests for Congress, are enmeshed in local issues and candidates do not hesitate to take their stand irrespective of party doctrine. Thus in Virginia this year where the Republican party has many more candidates in the field than usual against the well-organized Democratic groups which rule the state, it is not surprising to find here and there a Republican nominee who favors segregation. This is in deference to local sentiment and means that maybe the candidate in questtion realizes he wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance unless he expressed himself that way. Other candidates in Virginia who say they respect the Supreme Court's rulings still hedge a bit and find some ambiguous way to express themselves so as to try to corral the voters on both sides. It is hard to discern a national trend under such circumstances.

The municipal election in Philadelphia could have national significance, but not from a party standpoint. An issue of corruption threw out of power four years ago the Republicans who had held the city hall for generations. But now, with reform Republicans fighting reform Democrats, it is difficult to measure how much the people still hold the Republican party responsible for the sins of the past, and how much they are rewarding or opposing the incumbents, as the case may be, on the actual record of Democratic rule.

SURELY it is a far cry from a national trend when a city like Philadelphia votes primarily on a local problem involving corruption as an issue. Every one familiar with American politics is aware that in Federal, state and municipal elections there is likely to be less partisanship exhibited on questions of integrity than on anything else. The old slogan "turn the rascals out" still holds good everywhere.

But it is also true that the people forget quickly. Despite the bad record of Tammany Hall in New York city the people have repeatedly returned the Democrats to power after only a brief interval of probation. Somehow guilt in politics becomes personal and parties do not bear the brunt of it for any great length of time.

There is solace in this for the national Democratic party. For, while the corruption issue hurt the Democrats in the 1952 presidential election, it is doubtful whether the resentment over it will survive in 1956. The Democrats in Congress have been trying desperately this year to devise some kind of Republican analogy on the integrity issue, but they haven't succeeded, though they will offer Dixon-Yates and the so-called deviations of the "dollar-a-year men" as a possible basis for voter resentment.

So far as the 1955 elections are concerned, a most important thing to watch is how much apathy is manifested—that is, how large or small the vote is on state and city elections in the same localities compared to other years. In a time of prosperity like the present it would not be surprising when the final tallies are in to see a relatively small vote totalled up for both parties and all candidates.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Hotel Petersberg, Konigswinter, Germany—This hotel, surely one of the most beautiful and luxurious in the world, is the Blair House of the Bonn Federal Government. It is subsidized by the federal treasury as a parking place for human beings of the rank of "dignitary" who come to Bonn on political, diplomatic and financial business, all of which really can be lumped under the first of these titles. With their clothes off they are just people of various complexions from Haile Selassie's mock-turtle maduro to that of the Icelanders who are about to shove in. They are blondish, I suppose, although they may be Eskimos for all I know. But with the titles and their regimentals on they all personify the vanity of their "states," even the artificial and momentary ephemera, just as the Kaiser used to, and the overworked, worried little English queen still does.

The Russians, also, on such occasions, shoulder loads of glittering junk called orders and decorations which go back into the Kremlin vaults when, at last, they are led in pajamas and slippers at dawn to get shot for treason.

In this hotel, the weary, plaintive Chamberlain said "peace in our time" after his last, futile interview with Hitler, who jubilated with his crazy court in another hotel called the Dreesen right on the river bank at Bad Godesberg and within plain view of the Petersberg. It is hard to find anyone who remembers anything about those fateful personalities and episodes because our people and the British had the hypocritical gall to proclaim it a crime to believe in national socialism and to punish offenders by imprisonment and civic and professional disqualification for declaring such belief. Our "de-Nazification courts" were heavily loaded with returned German Communist refugees. They had a field day.

The fact that Hitler liked the Dreesen and often holed up there was held by some to taint the management with criminal attachment to the Nazi party, but the truth is that thousands of Germans bowed to corrupt force just as hordes of contemptible front-runners threw in with Roosevelt in our own country. Whoever refused to salaam to Hitler wound up in Dachau or a reasonable facsimile.

The furniture in the Petersberg is all either beautiful antiques or exquisite reproductions. The chairs are covered in needlepoint and this is one of the few hotels in Europe, or the United States, for that matter, which provides plenty of candlepower in the lights without resort to the electrician. After weeks in cramped, gloomy quarters, I have been spreading out in two big rooms giving onto a wide, private terrace with a long view of the Rhine and its bustle of industrial shipping; of Bonn with its parliamentary plant, its fabulous new publicity and propaganda building, its embassies and ministries, and its university and American golden ghetto and of Bad Godesberg.

My rent is high for Europe but, even with the statutory 15 per cent for tips, it is no more than the cost of two rooms in any American hotel professing to be first class to which robust tips are added on a catch-as-catch-can basis. The river is a fascinating concourse of barges freighting machinery, coal, oil, gasoline and lumber. White plumes hurry along both banks as dozens of strings of freight cars and occasional passenger trains challenge the world again, day after day and night.

My bedroom was occupied by Haile Selassie's son, who has the title of Earl, and my sitting-room was his sitting-room, when the Abyssinians were here a year ago. His wife, the countess, had another bedroom on the other side of the parlor and the old man, himself, had one bedroom, three parlors used for "conference" roms and a dining room. The Negus used to stroll in the halls in his pajamas, subject to no embarrassment because the Bonn government had allotted him two whole floors and his bodyguards stood sentry.

Acquaintances among the help report that Selassie was a very decent fellow, a tiny runt of a man an inch or so under Erich Weck, the upstairs waiter, known as Shorty who is little over five feet high. Shorty worked at the Willard in Washington in 1930 and 1931 but went back to Hamburg in disgust because American waiters had to bootleg Maryland panther and all such poison. Shorty said this made him a criminal without any prospect of appropriate returns for the risk. Anyway, he did not want to be a criminal.

During the war, he was a soldier servant at an officers' mess near Hamburg. He speaks English in an excited jabber, he walks miles for pleasure up and down the mountain on his day off and he says he wangled his soft touch at that officers' mess by complaining that his government-issue shoes, the smallest in the quartermaster's store, were so big that they murdered his feet. He is a genial, bustling little fellow, always thinking of things to do for you, but when I got fed up on goose-liver, roast duck and partridge and wanted some frankfurters, he tried to talk me out of the idea. I said, after all, this was Germany, but shorty argued that after all this was also the Rhineland and the most luxurious hotel in the country. He hinted that sausage and beer were socially inappropriate. On the Rhine, wine was the correct thing and almost anything but frankfurters. Finally, shorty came up with about 30 inches of canned frankfurters and a pint of beer which he snuck into the room with the old furtiveness of his days at the Willard.

It turns out that old man Adenauer is a Rhinelander himself, a native of this very neighborhood where he has lived all his life only a few miles upstream and looks down on Prussians because they drink Schnapps and on Bavarians because they drink beer.

The Negus's son, the Earl, soon took to shorty and ordered his personal goons outside and several times sat there and chatted, probably trying to get a line on things from the little waiter as foreigners often do. When the party finally pulled stakes, the Earl and Countess each gave shorty 150 marks and the Negus slipped him 250, a bonus of about $130 for the five days.

Judging from a recent nation-wide survey, 76% of the people in this country don't understand how the New York Stock Exchange works. This advertisement is being published to explain the Exchange and how it serves America. We hope you'll find it informative and worthwhile.

What goes on at the Stock Exchange?

1. It all began 'way back when Washington was President. The government had sold bonds to pay for the Revolution. Infant companies had issued securities in which there was scattered trading. But there was no established market place where buyers and sellers could get together. So in 1792, a group of businessmen established the New York Stock Exchange, where the public's orders to buy or sell stocks and bonds could be handled.

2. It's still a market place . . . but it now serves more investors than there were people in the whole country in 1792. And, by providing a market place for securities over the years, the Exchange has helped make it possible for business to raise the capital it needed to build our great industries.

3. The Exchange doesn't own stocks which are bought and sold on its floor — never has. What it does do is bring together buyers and sellers of securities through its Member Firms. Orders are handled on the floor of the Exchange by "floor" members representing the Member Firms. It's the responsibility of the floor member to get the lowest available price for a buyer of stock and the highest price for a seller.

4. If you want to own your share of American business, the man to see is a partner or a registered representative with a Member Firm in your community. He can give you information about the 1,522 common and preferred stocks and the 739 corporate bonds listed on the Exchange. Cost for his help and advice: not one penny.

Before you invest, get the facts. Investing is a serious business. There always is some risk. So before you put your money into securities, be sure you have adequate savings to cushion you and your family against emergencies.

Physician calls TV Greatest Help To Mentally Ill

BY CHARLES MERCER

Cedar Grove, N. J., Nov. 8 (AP) —"Television is God's gift to the mental hospital patient."

So says Dr. Joseph G. Sutton, superintendent of Essex County Overbrook Hospital, the largest county mental institution in New Jersey. There are now about 50 TV sets installed in wards where 2,850 patients live.

"SINCE WE'VE completed installation of a set in each ward," says Dr. Sutton, "there is one definite generalization I can make: Patients are calmer. We haven't had disturbances such as we used to have sometimes in some wards."

Visit a woman's ward and you'll see 30 or 40 women sitting about in comfortable chairs watching soap opera. Some seem entranced by the program and others appear only mildly interested. Theirs are the reaction you would expect to see in an equivalent number of women outside the hospital.

Go to a men's ward and you'll see 20 or 30 men sitting around watching a variety program. Several laugh approvingly at jokes, as if cued by the performer on the screen. Others look as bored as a jaded television critic.

"IT'S DIFFICULT to find much difference between the tastes of the hospital audience and the general viewing audience," says Dr. Sutton. "Here the men are especially fond of ball games and the fights. The women like home programs. The older folks enjoy the look-up and lift-up type of program.

"Variety programs are general favorites. But there seems to be little interest in heavy drama programs. Subtlety, character development, the ramifications of story plot—that sort of thing fails to hold interest."

HE SPECIFICALLY named the Ed Sullivan Show, the Arthur Godfrey programs and "The 64,000 Question" as among the most popular with patients. On the night of the big question attendants have given up urging patients to go to bed until it's finished.

Are there any types of programs, such as violent crime shows, which patients are forbidden to watch?

"Absolutely not," says Dr. Sutton, who has been a psychiatrist for 30 years and is a fellow of the American Psychiatric Assn. "The TV sets are theirs to use. They agree among themselves what programs they want to look at. There's probably less arguing than in the average American home over what channel they'll tune to.

"I KNOW OF NO instance where a patient has become disturbed by what he saw on the screen. A patient tosses off his reactions to television as fast as you and I. Of course a good deal of self-identification goes into their viewing—as with you and me. Take the fights, which certainly are violent appearing enough. A patient takes sides and works off a lot of hostilities by the time the fight is over."

His tone became dry. "They seem to toss off reactions faster than I do. I used to watch the fights until I found they were keeping me awake. Couldn't toss off my reactions fast enough."

Music is the most beneficial entertainment TV brings to patients, he believes. "Its soothing effects, even the effects of hillbilly music—the most popular form here, cannot be over-emphasized."

Above all, says Dr. Sutton, "television gives the patients something to do. Something is moving there on the screen and that absorbs them. Often, unfortunately, the quality and nature of the sounds and movements on the set are not important. But I guess, unfortunately, you could say the same reactions apply to many people who are not living here with us."

Motor Club Announces Plans for New Rally

Woodstock, Nov. 7 — The Woodstock Motor Club offered a special compliment to Douglas Franckling, manager of the recent road rally, for an exceptionally well-planned event. In addition to the other winners previously announced, the Dash Plaque award for the best overall went to Frank and Marion Gardner.

The club has announced tentative plans for the Women's Rally to be held Saturday night. Daisy Smith, Ann Gardner and Andree Arnold are the rally masters.

Gale Arnold, former editor of the Woodstock Motor Club's publication "Car Chatter" reports that he has always been amused whenever he received a news letter or paper from other clubs addressed to Miss Gale Arnold. He is married and the father of two children.

The next meeting of the Woodstock Motor Club will be held Wednesday in the club house of the recreation field at 7:30 p. m.

Investiture Set For New Brownies

Woodstock, Nov. 7—The new Brownie Troop 95 will be invested by their leader, Mrs. David Carlson, and assistant leader, Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, Thursday at 2:45 p. m., in the Woodstock School. Parents and friends of the new Brownies are invited to attend.

Riding Club Meeting

Woodstock, Nov. 7—There will be a meeting of the Woodstock Riding Club, Thursday at 8 p. m. in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. This meeting is being held one week earlier than the usual monthly date. Color slides of the recent Junior Riding Days will be shown by Dr. Paul Le Paige.

Mrs. Kurt Marek Is Guest at Library

Woodstock, Nov. 7—Mrs. Kurt Marek who illustrated "Haschi's Lustige Gesellschaft" (Haschi's Gay Company) and a sequence of related German children's stories, was the guest at the Saturday morning story hour for children at the Woodstock Library conducted by Mrs. Alexander Semmler, Saturday. While Mrs. Marek read a number of the stories for the children, her listeners enacted the story with the little dolls she had brought, which were copied from the book's illustrations. At the conclusion of the story hour several of the children used the dolls to illustrate their own original stories. So fascinating was the story hour that it ran a half hour over its usual time.

Woodstock, Nov. 7 — Woodstock basketball team will play Phoenicia, Saturday, Nov. 19, at the Onteora Central School, Boiceville. Dancing will follow the game.

Earl F. Soper, superintendent of Schools in Kingston, will be the guest speaker at the Woodstock Parent-Teachers Association meeting, Thursday, in the Woodstock School at 8 p. m. His topic will be "Education in the Elementary Schools."

Last week a committee of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee went to Kingston to buy Christmas gifts for the special Christmas project sponsored by the committee for elderly people in the village. Mrs. Ferdinand Heene is chairman of the Christmas project and was assisted by Mrs. William K. Gregory and Mrs. Anna Kamen.

John Pike, Woodstock artist, won a first cash prize at the annual Salmagundi black and white show which opened Nov. 4. Pike is also to hold a one-man show at the Grand Central Art Galleries in December, comprised of 28 paintings, most of which are of the Hudson River Valley. Also included are scenes of Germany, France, Jamaica and northern Greenland.

Cadillac

Beyond the Realm of Argument!

This is the season when conversations turn easily and often to motor cars.

And, in almost any gathering, you're likely to find a wide difference of opinion about the relative merits of the year's automotive offerings.

Until the talk turns to Cadillac!

Here is one car concerning which most motorists have a meeting of minds. And never before has Cadillac left so little room for argument as in 1956!

Certainly no one could behold the new Cadillac without recognizing it as the "car of cars". Its beautiful, graceful, flowing lines . . . its regal bearing on the highway . . . and its long, low silhouette are simply too significant to misunderstand.

Surely no one could ride in a new Cadillac and not agree that it is the Standard of the World. Its new fabrics and leathers are rich and luxurious almost beyond belief . . . and its interior appointments have been crafted with a jeweler's skill.

And we doubt if anyone could drive a new Cadillac and not understand that it is the finest-performing motor car of all time. Its great new engine is a revelation in power and performance . . . its new Hydra-Matic Drive is incredibly smooth and responsive . . . and the car rides and handles and moves with almost unbelievable ease.

Truly, the evidence on the side of Cadillac has never been more abundant—or more apparent—than it is today.

Why not come in soon—and see for yourself?

We'll be delighted to introduce you to Cadillac's great new styling . . . and to arrange a demonstration at the wheel . . . and to acquaint you with Cadillac's two new models, the Sedan de Ville and the Eldorado Seville.

You'll agree, we're certain, that Cadillac for 1956 is beyond the realm of argument!

Motor Club Announces Plans for New Rally

Woodstock, Nov. 7 — The Woodstock Motor Club offered a special compliment to Douglas Franckling, manager of the recent road rally, for an exceptionally well-planned event. In addition to the other winners previously announced, the Dash Plaque award for the best overall went to Frank and Marion Gardner.

The club has announced tentative plans for the Women's Rally to be held Saturday night. Daisy Smith, Ann Gardner and Andree Arnold are the rally masters.

Gale Arnold, former editor of the Woodstock Motor Club's publication "Car Chatter" reports that he has always been amused whenever he received a news letter or paper from other clubs addressed to Miss Gale Arnold. He is married and the father of two children.

The next meeting of the Woodstock Motor Club will be held Wednesday in the club house of the recreation field at 7:30 p. m.

Investiture Set For New Brownies

Woodstock, Nov. 7—The new Brownie Troop 95 will be invested by their leader, Mrs. David Carlson, and assistant leader, Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, Thursday at 2:45 p. m., in the Woodstock School. Parents and friends of the new Brownies are invited to attend.

Riding Club Meeting

Woodstock, Nov. 7—There will be a meeting of the Woodstock Riding Club, Thursday at 8 p. m. in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. This meeting is being held one week earlier than the usual monthly date. Color slides of the recent Junior Riding Days will be shown by Dr. Paul Le Paige.

Mrs. Kurt Marek Is Guest at Library

Woodstock, Nov. 7—Mrs. Kurt Marek who illustrated "Haschi's Lustige Gesellschaft" (Haschi's Gay Company) and a sequence of related German children's stories, was the guest at the Saturday morning story hour for children at the Woodstock Library conducted by Mrs. Alexander Semmler, Saturday. While Mrs. Marek read a number of the stories for the children, her listeners enacted the story with the little dolls she had brought, which were copied from the book's illustrations. At the conclusion of the story hour several of the children used the dolls to illustrate their own original stories. So fascinating was the story hour that it ran a half hour over its usual time.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Nov. 7 — Woodstock basketball team will play Phoenicia, Saturday, Nov. 19, at the Onteora Central School, Boiceville. Dancing will follow the game.

Earl F. Soper, superintendent of Schools in Kingston, will be the guest speaker at the Woodstock Parent-Teachers Association meeting, Thursday, in the Woodstock School at 8 p. m. His topic will be "Education in the Elementary Schools."

Last week a committee of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee went to Kingston to buy Christmas gifts for the special Christmas project sponsored by the committee for elderly people in the village. Mrs. Ferdinand Heene is chairman of the Christmas project and was assisted by Mrs. William K. Gregory and Mrs. Anna Kamen.

John Pike, Woodstock artist, won a first cash prize at the annual Salmagundi black and white show which opened Nov. 4. Pike is also to hold a one-man show at the Grand Central Art Galleries in December, comprised of 28 paintings, most of which are of the Hudson River Valley. Also included are scenes of Germany, France, Jamaica and northern Greenland.

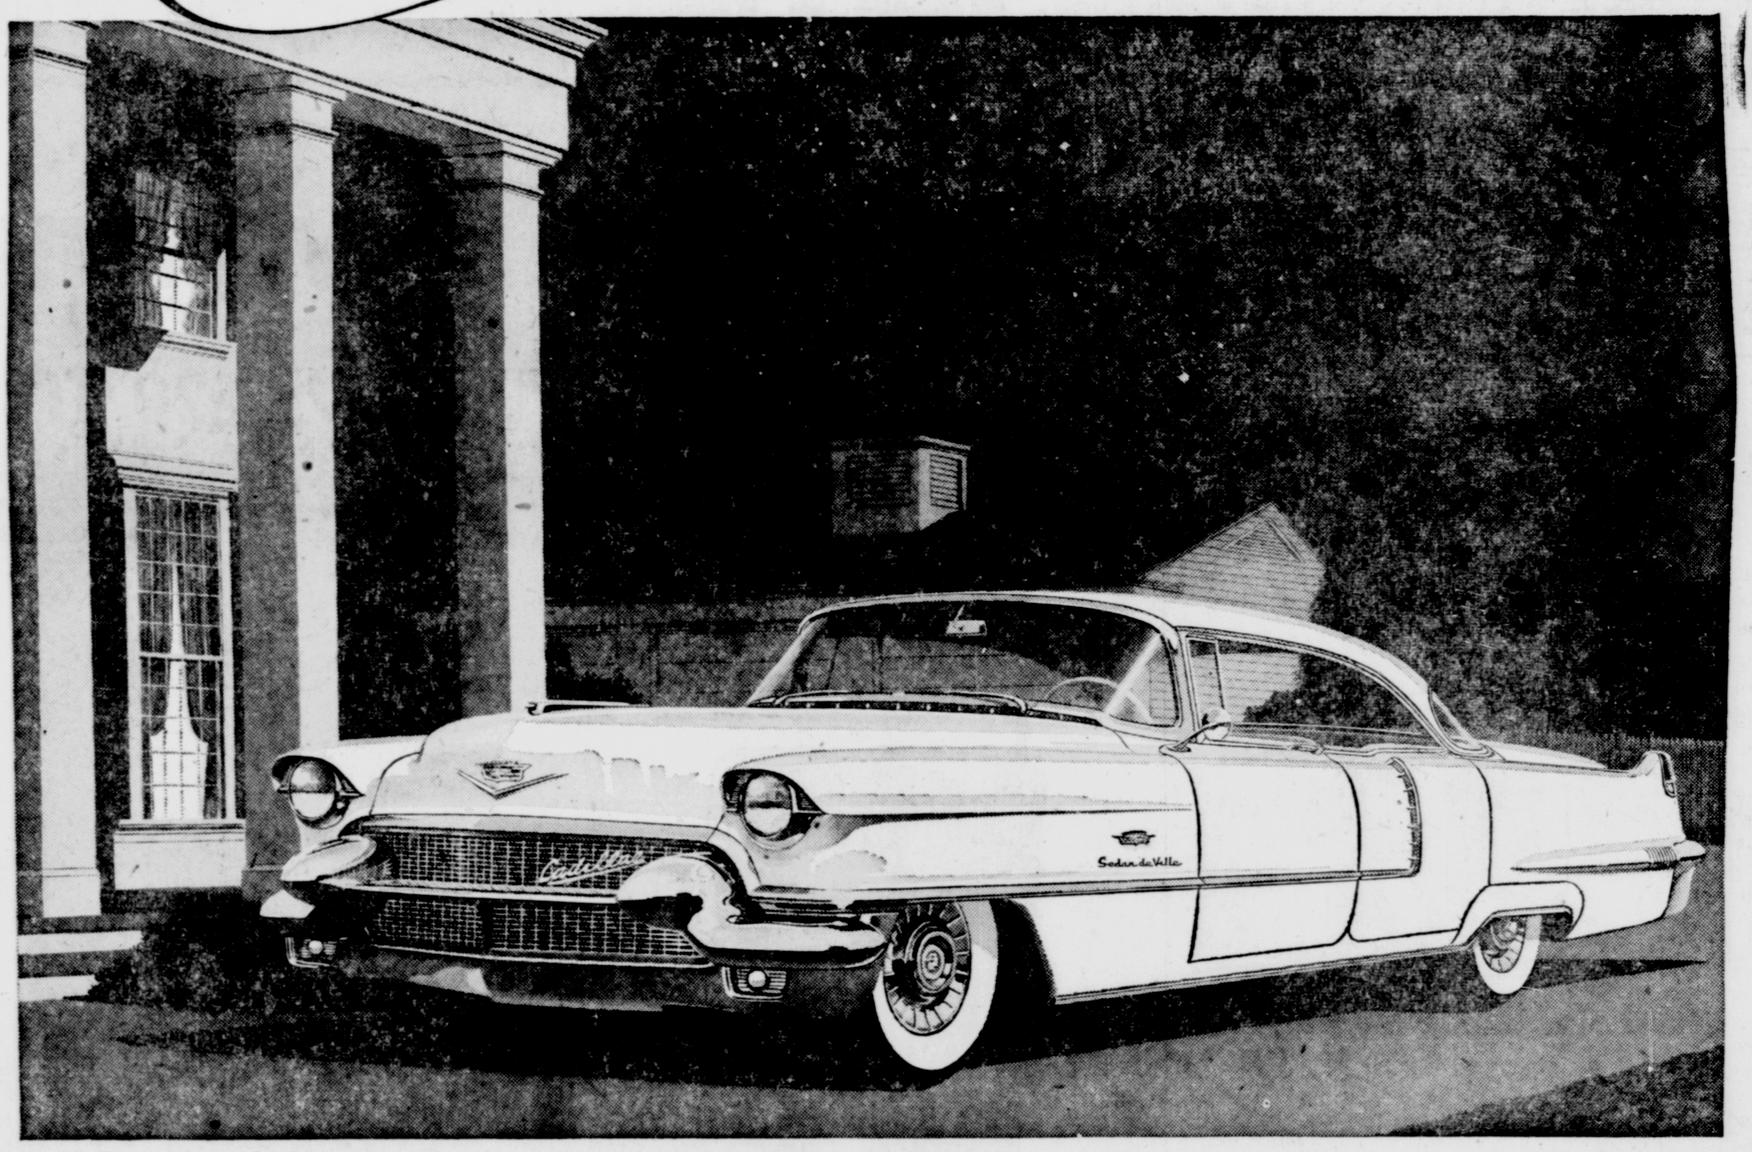
Cadillac



Beyond the Realm of Argument!

This is the season when conversations turn easily and often to motor cars.

And, in almost any gathering, you're likely to find a wide difference of opinion about the relative merits of the year's automotive offerings.

Until the talk turns to Cadillac!

Here is one car concerning which most motorists have a meeting of minds. And never before has Cadillac left so little room for argument as in 1956!

Certainly no one could behold the new Cadillac without recognizing it as the "car of cars". Its beautiful, graceful, flowing lines . . . its regal bearing on the highway . . . and its long, low silhouette are simply too significant to misunderstand.

Surely no one could ride in a new Cadillac and not agree that it is the Standard of the World. Its new fabrics and leathers are rich and luxurious almost beyond belief . . . and its interior appointments have been crafted with a jeweler's skill.

And we doubt if anyone could drive a new Cadillac and not understand that it is the finest-performing motor car of all time. Its great new engine is a revelation in power and performance . . . its new Hydra-Matic Drive is incredibly smooth and responsive . . . and the car rides and handles and moves with almost unbelievable ease.

Truly, the evidence on the side of Cadillac has never been more abundant—or more apparent—than it is today.

Why not come in soon—and see for yourself?

We'll be delighted to introduce you to Cadillac's great new styling . . . and to arrange a demonstration at the wheel . . . and to acquaint you with Cadillac's two new models, the Sedan de Ville and the Eldorado Seville.

You'll agree, we're certain, that Cadillac for 1956 is beyond the realm of argument!

Tillson PTA Plans Juke Box Dance Party

Tillson, Nov. 7 — The regular monthly meeting of the Tillson PTA was held at the school Thursday evening, November 3, with Mrs. Gunther Newman, president, presiding.

A juke-box dance was planned for Saturday, Nov. 26, 8 p. m. at the school.

George Fernandez, principal of the Tillson school, announced that the school is interested in obtaining paintings or pictures suitable to hang in the school corridors. These could be either historic or scenic pictures, he stated. Anyone having a picture to donate to the school should contact Mr. Fernandez.

The possibility of appointing home mothers for the various classrooms to assist teachers at activities was discussed. Actual appointment will be made at a later date.

It was voted to buy five dozen saucers and dinner plates for the schol cafeteria. A coat rack will be donated by one of the members.

Mr. Fernandez spoke briefly to the parents in regard to several matters concerning the school children.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served in the auditorium by Mrs. Russell Douglass, Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. Hollis Harvey.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Dec. 1, at which time the PTA Christmas party will take place. Each one attending is requested to bring a gift, not to exceed fifty cents in value, for a gift exchange.

Girls 4-H Club Plans Square Dance Saturday

Tillson, Nov. 7 — A square dance will take place Saturday at the Tillson school from 8 p. m. to midnight. Caller will be George Clapper, a well known square dance caller in the Hudson Valley. Instruction for dancing will be shown at this dance and everyone will have an opportunity to learn.

Tickets for the dance are available from members of the girl's 4-H Club, or may be purchased at the door. Refreshments will be sold during the evening.

The Jolly Homemakers, the local 4-H Girls Club recently elected officers for the year. They are Mary Ann Woolsey, president; Carolyn Sarr, vice president; Barbara Sutherland, treasurer; Diane Deyo, secretary; Aggie Serdenis, song and cheer leader, and Barbara Ryerson, news reporter.

Tillson, Nov. 7—The Ladies Aid Society of the Tilson Reformed Church will hold their regular monthly meeting at the church hall Thursday at 8 o'clock. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Kenneth Clark, and Mrs. Arthur Deyo. All members are urged to attend.

Card Party Set

Tillson, Nov. 7—The Ladies' auxiliary of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company will hold a card party Friday at the firehall at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded. Mrs. Walter Born is chairman of the committee in charge of the activity. The public is invited to attend.

Ham Supper Planned

Tillson, Nov. 7—The men of the Tillson Reformed Church will hold their annual baked ham supper on Saturday at the church hall. Final plans are now being made for this dinner which is an annual affair in the community. A large crowd is anticipated.

Traffic Hazard

Chicago (AP) — John Karr, 23, reported his car stolen and was promptly confronted with an impounded auto and 62 traffic tickets. Police towed the stalled car away after they found the tickets under the windshield visor and in the glove compartment. Ranging from speeding to illegal parking, the ignored tickets dated back to 1950. Karr said he had not heeded the tickets because "I didn't have the money."

Women and Older Rural Folk Get Old Age Money

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Public aid to older folks is going to nearly 50 percent more women than men and to 66 per cent more rural residents than city folk.

About one half of those getting the old age payments are at least 75 years old. About one of every three persons over age 80 receives this aid, while only 1 out of 10 does in the 65-69 age group.

THESE CONCLUSIONS were presented by the Social Security Administration Monday from the broadest study yet made of the federal-state program of assistance to the needy aged.

All states except Vermont, and Hawaii and the District of Columbia joined in the survey which covered a selected month between December 1952, and May, 1953. Some 75,000 cases were studied out of 2½ million people largely depending on their old age checks.

The old age assistance program involves outright grants. This differs from the broad old age and survivors insurance (OASI), or "social security," system under which workers contribute to a common fund and get payments on that basis after age 65.

Hay L. Roney, director of the Public Assistance Bureau, noted the survey showed social security benefits are having a substantial impact on the old age assistance program.

"THE PREPONDERANCE of assistance payments in rural areas reflects the fact that OASI did not cover any farm workers until 1951, and farm operators and many other farm workers were included only this year," he said.

"Many of the older persons, aged 75 or 80 or above, also had little opportunity to build up OASI benefits before they reached retirement age."

The report described as a typical recipient of old-age assistance a widow, aged 75. She is living alone in her own quarters, and able to care for herself insofar as daily living activities are concerned.

Her needs are figured at $65 a month. Her income in cash and kind amounts to about $14. A monthly payment of $51 under old-age assistance makes up the difference.

AMONG the fiindings were:

1. Women outnumber men among old age assistance recipients by about 3 to 2. (The census bureau last year said women over age 65 outnumber men by 7,319,000 to 6,396,000, or about 8 to 7, but women generally live about five years longer than men in this country.)

2. Half of the recipients had been on the rolls less than five years.

3. The average monthly payment to each was about $51.

4. Five of every six recipients were able to care for themselves so far as activities of daily living were concerned. About 1 in 30 were bedridden. About two-thirds maintained their own households, while about 1 in 20 lived in institutions—mostly private nursing homes.

5. Forty-four per cent of the married couples and one-third of the other recipients had some cash income besides the old age payments.

Heiress Marries Again

Paris, Nov. 8 (AP)—Dime store heiress Barbara Hutton, who voiced high hopes for her five previous marriages, tried it again today with one time German tennis star Baron Gottfried von Cramm. It was the second marriage for 46-year-old von Cramm. Miss Hutton will be 43 next Monday. They slipped out to suburban Versailles and were married by the deputy mayor in a quiet ceremony at the rambling city hall. No one there paid much attention.

Asks Early Passage

Paris, Nov. 8 (AP) — Premier Edgar Faure today asked the Council of the Republic, upper House of the French Parliament, for quick passage of his bill for December elections. Faure is racing against time to get his bill passed. Former Premier Mendes-France and others opposed to quick elections are fighting to delay parliamentary procedures.

Smoke in Cellar

Ulster Hose was dispatched to DD's Drive-In on the Saugerties road about 8:30 a. m. today where the cellar was reported filled with smoke. Firemen reported a motor in the cellar had a short circuit. Some damage was suffered by the motor, it was said.

Scientists estimate that 400 billion tons of carbon dioxide from the air are absorbed by ocean plants every year.

GOP Upstate

Dam proposal. Construction of the dam would create a 5,000-acre lake on the south branch of the Moose river in Herkimer county.

The state owns 1,500 acres and the remainder belongs to the Adirondack League Club, a private group.

CONSERVATION groups oppose the plan on the ground that good fish and game grounds would be destroyed and because it would infringe on the state forest preserve, which they contend should be kept "forever wild."

The Black river regulating district, which has sought for many years to build the dam, argues that it would provide flood control, regulation of river flow, water conservation and purer drinking water, especially for the city of Watertown.

The last amendment to be defeated, in 1945, was a plan to elect the governor and lieutenant governor jointly. The proposition was returned to the ballot in 1953 and was approved. The procedure was followed last year in the election of Gov. Harriman and Lt. Gov. George B. DeLuca.

The proposition on this year's ballot would authorize the state to use 50 million dollars worth of previously authorized bonds for loans to limited-profit or non-profit private housing developers.

National Tests

Those three later pledged support to the Democratic ticket.

Also on the Kentucky ballot was a state constitutional amendment which would lower the minimum voting age from 21 to 18. Only Georgia now allows 18 year olds to vote.

May Testify on Till

Greenwood, Miss., Nov. 8 (AP)—An elderly Negro sharecropper and a teen-age farm hand, who said they fled to Chicago for safety, are expected to testify today before a grand jury considering kidnaping charges in the famous Emmett Till case. Testimony of Mose Wright, 64-year-old uncle of the 14-year-old Chicago Negro abducted by two white men, and 18-year-old Willie Reed forms the heart of the state's case against the two men. The two Negroes arrived in Greenwood Sunday night from Chicago and said they had no fear of being harmed, although both said they fled Mississippi for fear of being killed.

Gets 10 Days

William H. Harris, 55, of 32 East Union street, who was arrested by Kingston state police yesterday charged with issuing a fraudulent check, was sentenced to 10 days in the Ulster County Jail when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ernest E. Schirmer of the town of Saugerties. Troopers said complainant was a Saugerties man, recipient of the bad check.

Smoke in Cellar

Ulster Hose was dispatched to DD's Drive-In on the Saugerties road about 8:30 a. m. today where the cellar was reported filled with smoke. Firemen reported a motor in the cellar had a short circuit. Some damage was suffered by the motor, it was said.

Scientists estimate that 400 billion tons of carbon dioxide from the air are absorbed by ocean plants every year.

GOP Upstate

Dam proposal. Construction of the dam would create a 5,000-acre lake on the south branch of the Moose river in Herkimer county.

The state owns 1,500 acres and the remainder belongs to the Adirondack League Club, a private group.

CONSERVATION groups oppose the plan on the ground that good fish and game grounds would be destroyed and because it would infringe on the state forest preserve, which they contend should be kept "forever wild."

The Black river regulating district, which has sought for many years to build the dam, argues that it would provide flood control, regulation of river flow, water conservation and purer drinking water, especially for the city of Watertown.

The last amendment to be defeated, in 1945, was a plan to elect the governor and lieutenant governor jointly. The proposition was returned to the ballot in 1953 and was approved. The procedure was followed last year in the election of Gov. Harriman and Lt. Gov. George B. DeLuca.

The proposition on this year's ballot would authorize the state to use 50 million dollars worth of previously authorized bonds for loans to limited-profit or non-profit private housing developers.

National Tests

Those three later pledged support to the Democratic ticket.

Also on the Kentucky ballot was a state constitutional amendment which would lower the minimum voting age from 21 to 18. Only Georgia now allows 18 year olds to vote.

May Testify on Till

Greenwood, Miss., Nov. 8 (AP)—An elderly Negro sharecropper and a teen-age farm hand, who said they fled to Chicago for safety, are expected to testify today before a grand jury considering kidnaping charges in the famous Emmett Till case. Testimony of Mose Wright, 64-year-old uncle of the 14-year-old Chicago Negro abducted by two white men, and 18-year-old Willie Reed forms the heart of the state's case against the two men. The two Negroes arrived in Greenwood Sunday night from Chicago and said they had no fear of being harmed, although both said they fled Mississippi for fear of being killed.

Gets 10 Days

William H. Harris, 55, of 32 East Union street, who was arrested by Kingston state police yesterday charged with issuing a fraudulent check, was sentenced to 10 days in the Ulster County Jail when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ernest E. Schirmer of the town of Saugerties. Troopers said complainant was a Saugerties man, recipient of the bad check.

Port Ewen Drum

from the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County and various police agencies that are for giving young people an opportunity to apply themselves and thus avoid pitfalls that can mar the careers of the growing generation even though some of them are from good families and homes.

"We feel that many boys, musically inclined, are good prospects for the Port Ewen Corps in years to come, and are certain that they will take advantage of this opportunity," Mr. Decker said.

HE STRESSED that there is no expense involved as far as the boys are concerned. "We furnish instruments and uniforms," he advised. "All a youngster has to do is show an interest, practice and obey the instructors."

Qualified men of the Port Ewen corps will be instructors for the project.

The Port Ewen Drum Corps is considered one of the best mediums of advertising the local area, an organization that has civic promotion in its make-up.

Port Ewen Corps has marched in parades all over the eastern section of the country, has won many prizes, and is looked upon as one of the day's leading units in playing and marching, aside from being one of the best dressed.

LAST SUMMER, during the convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, the corps promoted a Parade of Champions at Dietz Memorial Stadium that drew more than 5,000 spectators to the uptown ball park.

After the event, consensus was that most of those who witnessed it will return for next summer's second annual extravaganza to watch American Legion championship corps march, play and drill.

"We are confident that there will be a representative turnout of boys at next Monday's meeting," Mr. Decker said, "and we will welcome them."

Bail Is Sought For Alleged Red

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—The U. S. Supreme Court has been asked to release under $10,000 bail an alleged New York state Communist party leader under indictment here for violation of the membership clause of the Smith Act.

Counsel for John F. Noto, 38, yesterday filed a motion for his release under reduced bail with Associate Justice John M. Harlan. A copy was served on the U. S. attorney here.

Attorney Charles J. McDonough made the request in connection with an application for a Supreme Court review of a lower court's denial of an appeal for reduced bail.

Noto is now being held in the Erie county jail under bail of $30,000.

Building Up Smallfry

Any of your smallfry need building up? Then serve the youngster an orange eggnog for a mid-morning or mid-afternoon snack. To make it, beat together an egg, a cup each of orange juice and milk, a tablespoon or two of honey and a dash of salt. This makes enough for mother to have a taste, too.

Green Cabbage Salad

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Some 60 years ago several prominent businessmen tried to put through an enterprise by which Newburgh and Kingston would be connected by an electric railroad. They made a survey over the proposed route, according to the Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal, of Thursday, July 18, 1895. In fact, even the farmers were giving assurance of a free right of way along their land, near to, yet off of the main highways over which the road was to be built, in consideration of certain grants as to free passes, etc. It seems, event the West Shore Railroad people did not oppose the plan, but as we know now, nothing came of it.

How times have changed: This item is from the July 25 paper of above date. "A well dressed woman startled the good folks at Milton the other day by riding a frisky horse astride. Were it not for the character of her hair dressing, one would have thought her a man. The astonishment of the beholders was pitched to a high key when the woman dismounted at a drug store and asked for a cigarette." Another item from front page of that issue reads: "Montanye and Wells, proprietors of the drug store at Port Ewen, have sold out to Charles W. Card, of Tarrytown. Mr. Card is a licensed pharmacist and has had experience in the business. There is no doubt that he will make it a success." That drug store was run by the Card pharmacists nearly 60 years as Mr. Card's daughter, Eimly is a licensed pharmacist.

Kingston and vicinity were having some severe lightning storms at the time. Three children were struck by lightning near Napanoch. They did not get out of the stream near their house when the storm came, and little Delia Smith, age 12 was killed instantly, while her three sisters, who were with her were knocked senseless, the oldest being 18. It seems the same storm hit several barns at Wawarsing, Rochester and other nearby towns. At St. Josen the barn of Stephen B. Schoonmaker was struck by lightning and completely destroying its contents, including some 8,000 sheaves of rye. In Rosendale, Benjamin Depuy, a boarding house keeper of Alligerville was driving home when over taken by the storm. A sharp flash of lightning caused the horses to become unmanageable, so they backed into the canal at Rosendale. Mr. DePuy was riding in a covered rig and the action of his team was so unexpected that he had no time to escape. He was thrown in the canal and held down by the top of the buggy, but luckily he managed to crawl out although he was 72 years old. The horses and wagon were not saved.

Those were the days when the Mary Powell queened over the Hudson. The August 1 issue of above paper told of a gentleman who brought along on his Mary Powell trip a shaggy-coated dog. The canine was placed in the care of the boat's officer. When the passenger reached his destintion at Newburgh, the dog was handed to him just as he was stepping off the plank with the remark that he owed 25 cents for the passage of the dog. He said, "I will not pay it, keep the dog for all I care." The steamer moved away with the dog, it said, Captain Anderson wondered what to do with it. It is always sad to see an unwanted animal. Pets are meant to belong to folks. Folks with pets seldom complain about being bored or lonesome. A lively demanding pet can keep an average person well occupied.

Rosendale

Food Sale

Rosendale, Nov. 7—The Ladies Aid Society of the Rosendale Reformed Church will sponsor a food sale to be held at the Town Clerk's office Saturday. The sale will start at 11 a. m. Proceeds will be for the church fund.

Bowling at Chalet

Rosendale, Nov. 7 — Bowling has been resumed at the Chalet alleys, which were closed for several weeks due to damage by the recent floods. League bowling is now again in operation.

Public Hearing Set

Rosendale, Nov. 7—The preliminary budget of the town of Rosendale for the fiscal year beginning January 1 has been completed and filed in the office of the Town Clerk at Rosendale. It is available for inspection by any interested person at all reasonable hours.

A meeting for the purpose of reviewing the preliminary budget has been scheduled for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. A public hearing will be held at this time, and any person will be heard in favor of or against the preliminary budget as compiled, or for or against any item or items contained in the preliminary budget.

More Japanese Jobs

Tokyo (AP)—Japan now has 42 million persons gainfully employed, the Statistical Bureau reports. There are 710,000 unemployed, a decrease of 10,000 from the summer figures.

Saugerties CC Banquet Slated For November 16

Arthur London, general banquet chairman for the 41st annual banquet of the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce announced that ticket returns at this time indicated that the annual affair will again be one of the social highlights of the season.

The banquet is slated for Wednesday, Nov. 16 to be held in the Flamingo Restaurant.

Principal speaker will be Frederic Snyder, noted news analyst, lecturer and world traveler of Kingston.

MRS. MARZELL ROMING, ticket chairman cautioned that ticket returns should be made on the specified date shown in the announcement mailed to all members.

Tickets are limited and returns must reach Mrs. Roming in time for distribution to those requesting additional tickets for guests.

Letters of acceptance indicate that many outstanding area personalities in public life will add their presence to the occasion.

IN ADDITION to Mr. Snyder's address, Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., president of the Chamber will give a brief outline of the recent accomplishments of the Chamber.

Miss Crystal Jobst, Miss Saugerties of 1955, who was the winner of the first Miss Saugerties Beauty Pageant sponsored by the Chamber and outstanding personality featured in many Chamber promotions throughout the year will be a guest of honor.

What you should know about insuring your health

There are all kinds of plans and packages available, but be sure you buy what you actually need...

KNOWING THE FACTS PAYS OFF

Buying health insurance? Thinking of adding to your present coverage? Then be sure you know what your policy should provide . . . what coverages you need . . . what to look for and what to avoid in health insurance.

PROTECT YOUR INCOME FIRST

In any complete program of health insurance, income protection against disability should be your first step. Savings may pay for hospital care, but it takes considerably more to replace the income you would lose if you are seriously disabled.

For example, let's say you earn $100 a week . . . and you're laid up because of a sickness or accident for 5 months. This would mean a loss of about $2,100. Everything depends on your income. It's worth protecting.

There are several names for this kind of insurance — income replacement, loss of time, income protection. But whatever you call it, be sure your policy lets you choose the income you need. Be sure it covers accidents and illness. Be sure the maximum benefit periods are at least 12 months for sickness, 4 years for accidents.

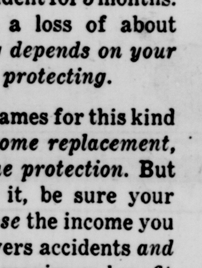
HOSPITALIZATION IS NEXT

Hospital Expense insurance should cover you and your entire family for hospital room and board . . . for all the extras such as X-rays, ambulance, anesthesia, etc. . . . for maternity expenses . . . and for surgery.

Flexible policies are best . . . policies that let you choose specific coverages and benefit amounts. Be sure you're covered for sickness and accidents . . . and be sure the waiting periods before coverage begins are reasonable.

WHAT ABOUT SURGERY?

While it's best to include surgical coverage with your hospitalization, many people own split protection — with surgery as a separate policy. This usually means double records and a higher total premium. One policy for both is therefore to your advantage. And even more important:



Check the surgical schedule to see that it covers at least 200 operations . . . choose a plan that lets you select a practical benefit ceiling—$100, $200 or $300—whichever is best for you . . . and find out how many operations pay the maximum benefit.

DON'T FORGET MAJOR ILLNESS

A major illness or accident might damage your entire financial security. For this reason a few insurance companies have made available a new kind of health policy—Major Medical.

Major Medical takes over when your regular hospitalization ends . . . with possible benefits up to thousands of dollars per case. Until recently, this plan was available only to certain employee groups, but can now be purchased by individuals and families.

NATIONWIDE SURVEYED THE FIELD

Some time ago, Nationwide Insurance surveyed all existing health and accident plans, including its own — and decided that something should be done to give the public more realistic protection . . . at less cost.

The result? Four new plans that can cover all your health needs with flexible benefits, realistic protection and lower premiums.

1. THE "INVINCIBLE" PLAN

A new Income Protection plan . . . offers you a selection of monthly income benefits ranging from $100 to $400 for sickness and accident disabilities.

There are 8 coverages, including hospitalization, with varying amounts of benefits for 7 of these coverages. Select what you need and how much of it you need. You pay for no unwanted extras . . . and you keep your premium down to the cost of your exact insurance needs.

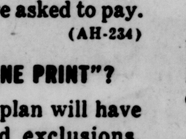
(AH-247A)

2. THE BUSINESS & PROFESSIONAL PLAN

This is an Income Protection plan to provide the longer benefit periods necessary for the business and professional man who usually has no sick leave when disabled — while overhead expenses remain high. This plan offers lifetime benefits for total disability, with as long as five years coverage for sickness. It includes a full line of hospitalization benefits . . . and the cost is surprisingly low.

(AH-248)

3. THE FAMILY HOSPITALIZATION PLAN



Three coverages make up this low cost plan: room and board . . . all hospital extras . . . and liberal maternity benefits (with double benefits for twins, triple for triplets).

Benefits vary for each of these 3 coverages . . . and you can choose from 3 additional coverages to round out your protection. Surgery is one of the optionals; if you have surgical coverage, omit it from this plan . . . if you don't, you can include it.

Maximum surgical benefits, depending on the schedule you select, range from $100 to $300. Out of 238 listed operations, 20 pay the maximum.

(AH-249A)

4. THE MAJOR MEDICAL PLAN

Nationwide is one of the few insurance companies that offers you this unusual plan. It's designed to pick up where your individual or group policy ends . . . or above the amount you feel you yourself can afford.

When covered hospital expenses go over the deductible amount selected, we pay 80% of the balance, up to $5,000 each case . . . while your regular hospitalization plan covers the initial expenses you are asked to pay.

(AH-234)

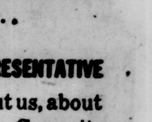
HOW ABOUT THE "FINE PRINT"?

Any health insurance plan will have some limitations and exclusions. These help keep your premium rates down by discouraging professional "benefit shoppers". In our plans the restrictions are quite reasonable.

Our hospitalization plans are renewable at the option of the company . . . while we retain the right to cancel income protection plans. We do, however, provide non-cancellable plans for those who prefer them.

Income benefits due to sickness are subject to a 30 or 15-day waiting period after the policy is effective, depending on the plan. Sickness benefits in the hospital plan are subject to a 15-day waiting period. Some surgical benefits in all our policies require a 6-month waiting period from the policy date.

"IN SERVICE WITH PEOPLE"



That's our slogan. It means we're a "different" kind of company — because we believe that people can achieve anything they want to by working together with other people . . . people should have a voice in the affairs of the company they own . . . and people's money should be invested in activities serving their interests.

Because we believe these things we assist voluntary self-help groups; give policyholders a chance to speak up through their Advisory Committees of Policyholders; and invest in businesses which directly help policyholders and the general public.

Because we believe that people working together can achieve any common goal, we give our policyholders a chance to tell us what they like or don't like about Nationwide and what they think should be changed. Annually our company-wide Policyholder Advisory Committee meets in Columbus with top management. These policyholders know that this is a "different" kind of insurance company, truly "in service with people".

If you'd like to participate in one of these meetings — or, if you're not a policyholder and think this is the kind of company for you, just . . .

GET YOUR NATIONWIDE REPRESENTATIVE

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Some 60 years ago several prominent businessmen tried to put through an enterprise by which Newburgh and Kingston would be connected by an electric railroad. They made a survey over the proposed route, according to the Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal, of Thursday, July 18, 1895. In fact, even the farmers were giving assurance of a free right of way along their land, near to, yet off of the main highways over which the road was to be built, in consideration of certain grants as to free passes, etc. It seems, event the West Shore Railroad people did not oppose the plan, but as we know now, nothing came of it.

How times have changed: This item is from the July 25 paper of above date. "A well dressed woman startled the good folks at Milton the other day by riding a frisky horse astride. Were it not for the character of her hair dressing, one would have thought her a man. The astonishment of the beholders was pitched to a high key when the woman dismounted at a drug store and asked for a cigarette." Another item from front page of that issue reads: "Montanye and Wells, proprietors of the drug store at Port Ewen, have sold out to Charles W. Card, of Tarrytown. Mr. Card is a licensed pharmacist and has had experience in the business. There is no doubt that he will make it a success." That drug store was run by the Card pharmacists nearly 60 years as Mr. Card's daughter, Eimly is a licensed pharmacist.

Kingston and vicinity were having some severe lightning storms at the time. Three children were struck by lightning near Napanoch. They did not get out of the stream near their house when the storm came, and little Delia Smith, age 12 was killed instantly, while her three sisters, who were with her were knocked senseless, the oldest being 18. It seems the same storm hit several barns at Wawarsing, Rochester and other nearby towns. At St. Josen the barn of Stephen B. Schoonmaker was struck by lightning and completely destroying its contents, including some 8,000 sheaves of rye. In Rosendale, Benjamin Depuy, a boarding house keeper of Alligerville was driving home when over taken by the storm. A sharp flash of lightning caused the horses to become unmanageable, so they backed into the canal at Rosendale. Mr. DePuy was riding in a covered rig and the action of his team was so unexpected that he had no time to escape. He was thrown in the canal and held down by the top of the buggy, but luckily he managed to crawl out although he was 72 years old. The horses and wagon were not saved.

Those were the days when the Mary Powell queened over the Hudson. The August 1 issue of above paper told of a gentleman who brought along on his Mary Powell trip a shaggy-coated dog. The canine was placed in the care of the boat's officer. When the passenger reached his destintion at Newburgh, the dog was handed to him just as he was stepping off the plank with the remark that he owed 25 cents for the passage of the dog. He said, "I will not pay it, keep the dog for all I care." The steamer moved away with the dog, it said, Captain Anderson wondered what to do with it. It is always sad to see an unwanted animal. Pets are meant to belong to folks. Folks with pets seldom complain about being bored or lonesome. A lively demanding pet can keep an average person well occupied.

Rosendale

Food Sale

Rosendale, Nov. 7—The Ladies Aid Society of the Rosendale Reformed Church will sponsor a food sale to be held at the Town Clerk's office Saturday. The sale will start at 11 a. m. Proceeds will be for the church fund.

Bowling at Chalet

Rosendale, Nov. 7 — Bowling has been resumed at the Chalet alleys, which were closed for several weeks due to damage by the recent floods. League bowling is now again in operation.

Public Hearing Set

Rosendale, Nov. 7—The preliminary budget of the town of Rosendale for the fiscal year beginning January 1 has been completed and filed in the office of the Town Clerk at Rosendale. It is available for inspection by any interested person at all reasonable hours.

A meeting for the purpose of reviewing the preliminary budget has been scheduled for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. A public hearing will be held at this time, and any person will be heard in favor of or against the preliminary budget as compiled, or for or against any item or items contained in the preliminary budget.

Saugerties CC Banquet Slated For November 16

Arthur London, general banquet chairman for the 41st annual banquet of the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce announced that ticket returns at this time indicated that the annual affair will again be one of the social highlights of the season.

The banquet is slated for Wednesday, Nov. 16 to be held in the Flamingo Restaurant.

Principal speaker will be Frederic Snyder, noted news analyst, lecturer and world traveler of Kingston.

MRS. MARZELL ROMING, ticket chairman cautioned that ticket returns should be made on the specified date shown in the announcement mailed to all members.

Tickets are limited and returns must reach Mrs. Roming in time for distribution to those requesting additional tickets for guests.

Letters of acceptance indicate that many outstanding area personalities in public life will add their presence to the occasion.

IN ADDITION to Mr. Snyder's address, Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., president of the Chamber will give a brief outline of the recent accomplishments of the Chamber.

Miss Crystal Jobst, Miss Saugerties of 1955, who was the winner of the first Miss Saugerties Beauty Pageant sponsored by the Chamber and outstanding personality featured in many Chamber promotions throughout the year will be a guest of honor.

What you should know about insuring your health

There are all kinds of plans and packages available, but be sure you buy what you actually need...

KNOWING THE FACTS PAYS OFF

Buying health insurance? Thinking of adding to your present coverage? Then be sure you know what your policy should provide . . . what coverages you need . . . what to look for and what to avoid in health insurance.

PROTECT YOUR INCOME FIRST

In any complete program of health insurance, income protection against disability should be your first step. Savings may pay for hospital care, but it takes considerably more to replace the income you would lose if you are seriously disabled.

For example, let's say you earn $100 a week . . . and you're laid up because of a sickness or accident for 5 months. This would mean a loss of about $2,100. Everything depends on your income. It's worth protecting.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, Nov. 7—The Lutheran Church Activity Club held a Halloween party Saturday evening at the Wawarsing Sportsmen's Club. The decorations were done by Mrs. Dorothy Bradford, Mrs. Roger Fredenburgh and Mrs. J. Collier. Mrs. Barbara Klein was entertainment chairman and refreshments were in charge of Roger Friedenburgh, Gene Klein and Walter Little.

Miss Arlene Muller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Muller, was a representative of Fredonia State Teachers College at the debate conference held Oct. 29 at the University of Buffalo. She attended the conference with several other members of the college debating group.

Miss Lynne Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Roberts, a junior in elementary education at Cortland State Teachers College, is student teaching at Endicott for the first quarter of 1955. Her assignment for the second quarter, beginning Novembr 7 will be at Liverpool, N. Y.

About 500 youngsters of the Ellenville Central School District took part in the eighth Halloween Mardi Gras presented under the sponsorship of the Noonday Club Monday evening. Grand prize winners were Ira Garlinghouse, prettiest costume, who came dressed as a bride; Patricia Stevenson, most original; Elaine Goodman, most festive and Paul Tuzzio, funniest.

Seventy members and guests attended the October dinner meeting of the Ellenville Chapter of the Izaak Walton League held at the Sportsmen's Club House. Among other matters, a full report was heard on the annual State Convention held at Penn Yan on October 1. Resolutions passed at the convention were renewed. The membership found itself in full accord with the conservation legislation program to be presented to the coming session of the legislature. A color film recently released by "Ducks Unlimited" was viewed after the meeting.

The regular November meeting of the Shawangunk Garden Club will be held November 7 at the home of Mrs. Guy Davenport at 2 p. m. The annual meeting and election of officers will be held and annual reports will be given. Colored slides of Europe will be shown.

Miss Sally Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Howell of Cragsmoor, has been initiated into Nu Pi Sigma, honorary science fraternity at New Paltz State Teachers College. Miss Howell is a junior at the college.

Types of colored glass from the collection of William J. Stackhouse are now on display in the main reading room of the Ellenville Public Library where they will remain during November. Included in the exhibit are examples of milk glass, Bristol, cranberry, quilted, satin, Tiffany, Mary Gregory glass, amberina, amberette, vaseline, purple slag and over shot.

The Couples Club of the Lutheran Church held their monthly meeting Friday at the church. The Rev. and Mrs. Dorr E. Fritts were hosts. The tables were decorated with autumn leaves. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schaeffer were guests.

The Ellenville Home Demonstration Unit will hold its next meeting on Monday evening at the Ellenville High School. Miss Marion Rose will show movies including the sequicentennial parade pictures.

Mrs. Theodore R. Stafford of Ridgefield, Conn. visited at the home of Mrs. Frank H. Sprague and Mrs. Emmor S. Carver on Tuesday. On her return she was accompanied by her grandmother, who is visiting her family for a few days.

Mrs. John Sanderson spent Tuesday in Poughkeepsie in the interest of the Ellenville Public Library.

Mrs. Lillian Van Leuven of Hickory street, entertained Sunday in honor of the 83rd birthday of Mrs. Rose Van Leuven; also in honor of her granddaughter, Miss Susie Van Leuven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Van Leuven of Woodbourne. Guests from out of town included Mrs. Mary Cameron and daughter of Kingston; Miss Dorothy Shear of Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Van Leuven and family and Mr. and Mrs. William Van Leuven of Woodbourne.

Mrs. Patrick Kelly of Center street is a patient at Veterans Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. William F. Kelo was in New York city Thursday visiting an eye specialist.

Water is being released from the Rondout Reservoir this week to allow a good flow down the Rondout creek. Yesterday the elevation of the lake was within four feet of the spillway.

Mrs. Henry P. Campbell and infant son have left Veterans Memorial Hospital and are at home on Phyllis drive.

At the Double or Nothing Club meeting Monday evening plans were made for a pancake supper on December 3 at the Ellenville Methodist Church. The makers of Aunt Jemima pancake flour are providing the flour.

Mrs. Maude Schaeffer of Syracuse is visiting for a few days with her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Friend Schaeffer and family at their home on Warren street.

Miss Kathryn Russell of New York city is spending a vacation at Rochester. She is a former resident of Ellenville.

Mrs. Arthur B. Wright and Mrs. George Chase are assisting in the office of the Ellenville Electric Company.

American Legion Ball Tomorrow Will Feature Outstanding Acts

Kingston Post 150, American Legion, is sponsoring its 37th annual victory ball Wednesday at the municipal auditorium and featured will be five famous Broadway acts and Elliott Lawrence and his orchestra. Doors open at 7:30 p. m. and a memorial service will be held at 8:30 p. m.

Appearing on the program will be The Three Tuckers, a sensational trampoline act, the Impressionaires, a versatile vocal duo, Gus Howard, comedy emcee, Ken Whitmar, the music professor and the Tokayers, daredevil acrobats.

The memorial service will be conducted by the Rev. Clarence Brown. In charge of the color guard will be Joseph Sills Jr.

The American Legion is an organization active in unselfish services to its community, the state and nation. All proceeds from the ball will be used in carrying out the Legion program.

The American Legion believes that if America is to have a real democratic form of government, the American people must participate more fully in it than they have in recent years. To this end the Legion's National Americanism Commission is sponsoring a movement to increase the interest of the public in government to bring more citizens to take an active part in the life of their political parties and to bring a larger percentage of the citizens of the country to the polls with intelligent votes.

The American Legion Junior Baseball program has grown until it is the largest Americanism recreational activity, and local posts promote such worthwhile activities as basketball, golf and bowling.

Thomas Bohan, past commander of the Kingston post, and boy's councilor for Boys' State and Boys' Nation, two programs sponsored by the Legion, explained that these two programs endeavor to familiarize boys in junior and senior high school with the legislative, administrative and judicial aspects of our government.

The American Legion has long been one of the largest boosters of the Boy Scout program. Boys clubs are supported also in order to provide character-building opportunities in good surroundings, under skilled leadership for under-privileged boys. Boys clubs are organized as charitable cooperations and associations, and are managed by boards of directors consisting of representative citizens of the community.

A Legion post is also alert to the educational problems of its community. American Education Week, observed this week in Kingston, is co-sponsored by the American Legion, the National Education Association, the U. S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and is widely observed throughout the United States.

Also sponsored by the Legion is the National High Schoool Oratorical Contest and the "Back to God" movement. This latter program emphasizes regular public worship, daily family prayer and the religious instruction of youth.

The G. I. Bill of Rights for the veterans of World War 2 and the Korean War, the idea of which was conceived by the American Legion, has enabled 3,910,000 veterans to purchase homes through G. I. loans. Over 221,300 got business loans under the bill, 2,200,000 attended colleges or universities and 7,800,000 veterans trained under the educational provisions. G. I. Bill-trained veterans increased their earning power 40 per cent within five years as compared to 10 per cent for non-veterans.

In short, the American Legion programs include items of interest to everyone and they are rehabilitation, child welfare, Americanism, junior education, national security, legislation, non-partisanship and comradeship.

Tickets for the ball may be obtained from Tommy Maines Sport Shop or at the door.

Ellenville, Nov. 7—The Lutheran Church Activity Club held a Halloween party Saturday evening at the Wawarsing Sportsmen's Club. The decorations were done by Mrs. Dorothy Bradford, Mrs. Roger Fredenburgh and Mrs. J. Collier. Mrs. Barbara Klein was entertainment chairman and refreshments were in charge of Roger Friedenburgh, Gene Klein and Walter Little.

Miss Arlene Muller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Muller, was a representative of Fredonia State Teachers College at the debate conference held Oct. 29 at the University of Buffalo. She attended the conference with several other members of the college debating group.

Miss Lynne Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Roberts, a junior in elementary education at Cortland State Teachers College, is student teaching at Endicott for the first quarter of 1955. Her assignment for the second quarter, beginning Novembr 7 will be at Liverpool, N. Y.

About 500 youngsters of the Ellenville Central School District took part in the eighth Halloween Mardi Gras presented under the sponsorship of the Noonday Club Monday evening. Grand prize winners were Ira Garlinghouse, prettiest costume, who came dressed as a bride; Patricia Stevenson, most original; Elaine Goodman, most festive and Paul Tuzzio, funniest.

Seventy members and guests attended the October dinner meeting of the Ellenville Chapter of the Izaak Walton League held at the Sportsmen's Club House. Among other matters, a full report was heard on the annual State Convention held at Penn Yan on October 1. Resolutions passed at the convention were renewed. The membership found itself in full accord with the conservation legislation program to be presented to the coming session of the legislature. A color film recently released by "Ducks Unlimited" was viewed after the meeting.

The regular November meeting of the Shawangunk Garden Club will be held November 7 at the home of Mrs. Guy Davenport at 2 p. m. The annual meeting and election of officers will be held and annual reports will be given. Colored slides of Europe will be shown.

Miss Sally Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Howell of Cragsmoor, has been initiated into Nu Pi Sigma, honorary science fraternity at New Paltz State Teachers College . Miss Howell is a junior at the college.

Types of colored glass from the collection of William J. Stackhouse are now on display in the main reading room of the Ellenville Public Library where they will remain during November. Included in the exhibit are examples of milk glass, Bristol, cranberry, quilted, satin, Tiffany, Mary Gregory glass, amberina, amberette, vaseline, purple slag and over shot.

The Couples Club of the Lutheran Church held their monthly meeting Friday at the church. The Rev. and Mrs. Dorr E. Fritts were hosts. The tables were decorated with autumn leaves. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schaeffer were guests.

The Ellenville Home Demonstration Unit will hold its next meeting on Monday evening at the Ellenville High School. Miss Marion Rose will show movies including the sequicentennial parade pictures.

Mrs. Theodore R. Stafford of Ridgefield, Conn. visited at the home of Mrs. Frank H. Sprague and Mrs. Emmor S. Carver on Tuesday. On her return she was accompanied by her grandmother, who is visiting her family for a few days.

Mrs. John Sanderson spent Tuesday in Poughkeepsie in the interest of the Ellenville Public Library.

Mrs. Lillian Van Leuven of Hickory street, entertained Sunday in honor of the 83rd birthday of Mrs. Rose Van Leuven; also in honor of her granddaughter, Miss Susie Van Leuven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Van Leuven of Woodbourne. Guests from out of town included Mrs. Mary Cameron and daughter of Kingston; Miss Dorothy Shear of Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Van Leuven and family and Mr. and Mrs. William Van Leuven of Woodbourne.

Mrs. Patrick Kelly of Center street is a patient at Veterans Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. William F. Kelo was in New York city Thursday visiting an eye specialist.

Water is being released from the Rondout Reservoir this week to allow a good flow down the Rondout creek. Yesterday the elevation of the lake was within four feet of the spillway.

Mrs. Henry P. Campbell and infant son have left Veterans Memorial Hospital and are at home on Phyllis drive.

At the Double or Nothing Club meeting Monday evening plans were made for a pancake supper on December 3 at the Ellenville Methodist Church. The makers of Aunt Jemima pancake flour are providing the flour.

Mrs. Maude Schaeffer of Syracuse is visiting for a few days with her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Friend Schaeffer and family at their home on Warren street.

Miss Kathryn Russell of New York city is spending a vacation at Rochester. She is a former resident of Ellenville.

Mrs. Arthur B. Wright and Mrs. George Chase are assisting in the office of the Ellenville Electric Company.

American Legion Ball Tomorrow Will Feature Outstanding Acts

Kingston Post 150, American Legion, is sponsoring its 37th annual victory ball Wednesday at the municipal auditorium and featured will be five famous Broadway acts and Elliott Lawrence and his orchestra. Doors open at 7:30 p. m. and a memorial service will be held at 8:30 p. m.

Appearing on the program will be The Three Tuckers, a sensational trampoline act, the Impressionaires, a versatile vocal duo, Gus Howard, comedy emcee, Ken Whitmar, the music professor and the Tokayers, daredevil acrobats.

The memorial service will be conducted by the Rev. Clarence Brown. In charge of the color guard will be Joseph Sills Jr.

The American Legion is an organization active in unselfish services to its community, the state and nation. All proceeds from the ball will be used in carrying out the Legion program.

The American Legion believes that if America is to have a real democratic form of government, the American people must participate more fully in it than they have in recent years. To this end the Legion's National Americanism Commission is sponsoring a movement to increase the interest of the public in government to bring more citizens to take an active part in the life of their political parties and to bring a larger percentage of the citizens of the country to the polls with intelligent votes.

The American Legion Junior Baseball program has grown until it is the largest Americanism recreational activity, and local posts promote such worthwhile activities as basketball, golf and bowling.

Thomas Bohan, past commander of the Kingston post, and boy's councilor for Boys' State and Boys' Nation, two programs sponsored by the Legion, explained that these two programs endeavor to familiarize boys in junior and senior high school with the legislative, administrative and judicial aspects of our government.

The American Legion has long been one of the largest boosters of the Boy Scout program. Boys clubs are supported also in order to provide character-building opportunities in good surroundings, under skilled leadership for under-privileged boys. Boys clubs are organized as charitable cooperations and associations, and are managed by boards of directors consisting of representative citizens of the community.

A Legion post is also alert to the educational problems of its community. American Education Week, observed this week in Kingston, is co-sponsored by the American Legion, the National Education Association, the U. S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and is widely observed throughout the United States.

Also sponsored by the Legion is the National High Schoool Oratorical Contest and the "Back to God" movement. This latter program emphasizes regular public worship, daily family prayer and the religious instruction of youth.

The G. I. Bill of Rights for the veterans of World War 2 and the Korean War, the idea of which was conceived by the American Legion, has enabled 3,910,000 veterans to purchase homes through G. I. loans. Over 221,300 got business loans under the bill, 2,200,000 attended colleges or universities and 7,800,000 veterans trained under the educational provisions. G. I. Bill-trained veterans increased their earning power 40 per cent within five years as compared to 10 per cent for non-veterans.

In short, the American Legion programs include items of interest to everyone and they are rehabilitation, child welfare, Americanism, junior education, national security, legislation, non-partisanship and comradeship.

Tickets for the ball may be obtained from Tommy Maines Sport Shop or at the door.

1895 Students Study 86 Subjects Under 77 Teachers at KHS

One of the largest secondary schools between New York and Albany, Kingston High has a first term enrollment this year of 1895 students.

In an educational institution of this size the activities are many and varied. From the time the students assemble in their home-rooms at 8:35 o'clock until they are dismissed at 3:10, the school is a beehive of activity.

A faculty numbering 77 teachers not only conduct regular classes total 416 periods each day in 86 different subjects, but also advises and oversees, either in special activity periods or after school, clubs, student publications, dramatic productions, debating, a smooth functioning Student Government, dances, special educational trips and a full program of athletics and music. The big school also sponsors a work experience program which so far this year has placed more than 125 students in part-time jobs in stores and offices in the city.

M. Clifford Miller is the principal of the high school with J. Watson Bailey, assistant principal.

Pictured on this page are a few of the classes and activities which make the present-day high school student's life a well rounded and active one.

Camera Views Of Activity By Students

DRIVER EDUCATION (upper right) — William Scafidi, instructor in driver education, explains the inside workings of the driver training car to three of his students, Victoria Piasecke, Janet Tacorchich and Richard Koch.

BUSINESS TRAINING (middle right)—A group of girls including Carol Michalowski, Elaine Low, Norma Campbell, Joan Peters, Carolyn Hull and Iris Robinson practice on the new IBM electric typewriters of which the high school now has 26, as part of their course in business training. This year some 775 students are enrolled in different business courses at the high school.

LANGUAGE LAB (middle right)—Mary Hasbrouck, Landy Kaschel, George Kidd, Bob Du Mond, and Eileen Eyles are having their weekly language lab period, when they listen to records intended to improve their speaking knowledge of the foreign language they are studying.

MEDICAL OFFICE (center right)—Dr. Leon Gray, school physician examines Richard Strong, while Jerry Sampson awaits his turn. Miss Kathleen Shurter, school nurse, weighs Robert Smith. All three boys are receiving physical examinations in preparation for the coming basketball season. Both doctor and nurse are on duty throughout the day at the Field House medical office where they attend to injuries, emergency ilnesses and give physical examinations.

PUBLIC SPEAKING (lower right)—Mrs. Anne McNelis' English class practices before the microphone. The speeches which they are preparing will be presented on the Voice of America program. The three girls in the picture are Ingeborg Schultz, Mary Whitford and Carol Proper.

Indian Scare Story

Alexandria, (AP) — Susannah Alexander awoke grabbed a gun and killed a man pursuring her husband, John, around the room with a hatched. Then the Alexanders wrapped the victim in his horsehide robe and buried him on a hillside. The victim was Long Tom, Orinoco Indian chief. John Alexander was a founder of the early American city — and wouldn't have been except for Susannah's sudden awakening. Mention was made of the historical incident at ceremonies in the cemetery of old Pohick Church where John and Susannah—as well as Long Tom—lie buried.

Today's hand wouldn't interest you particularly in an ordinary game of rubber bridge, except for the bidding. South's jump to slam looks bold, but it's actually quite sound. North's bidding pretty clearly shows four-card support for hearts and good three-card support for spades. If dummy turns up with a losing club or two, South should expect to discard such clubs on his own long spades.

The actual dummy was very strong, and the hand would be spread very quickly at rubber bridge. Since the hand was played in a tournament, the overtrick was important, and Dick Freeman, the youthful Washington bridge star, found an ingenious way to earn it.

Dick won the first two tricks with the ace and king of hearts, making sure that trumps would break 3-2. Then he got to dummy with a spade to ruff a low diamond. He entered dummy with a second spade to ruff a second low diamond with his last trump. Finally he led a third spade towards dummy.

Fortunately, the player with the last outstanding trump also had to follow to the third round of spades. (Otherwise, the ruff would stop the overtrick but could not defeat the slam.) Hence Dick got to dummy safely to draw West's last trump with the jack of hearts. Since Dick had no trumps left, he could discard a club.

Now dummy led the seven of trumps, and Dick discarded a second low club from his hand. Dummy continued with the ace of diamonds, and Dick discarded the third low club from his hand. It was then a simple matter to claim the last three tricks with the ace of clubs and the last two spades.

Lecture at Bard To Present Talk On Indian Asia

"The Art of Indian Asia", is the topic chosen by Joseph Campbell for the annual John Bard lecture presented by the division of art, music, drama and dance at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, Wednesday. Mr. Campbell will speak at 8:30 p. m. in the Bard Theatre.

AUTHOR OF SUCH books as "The Hero With A Thousand Faces," Mr. Campbell completed and edited "The Art of Indian Asia," a volume work by the late Heinrich Zimmer, published in August of this year. He is a member of the faculty of Sarah Lawrence College.

The appearance of Mr. Campbell will mark the second in the 1955 series of four John Bard lectures conducted annually by the College. The public is cordially invited to attend these lectures which are given by outstanding authorities in the fields of language and literature; social studies; art, music, drama and dance and natural science.

Slow Motion Accident

Waco, Tex. (AP)—Most traffic accidents happen fast. But it took five hours for L. O. Wilson's big trailer truck to overturn. Wilson had a blowout and pulled onto the road shoulder to change the tire. But one side of the trailer began sinking into the soft dirt. Wilson sat back and watched as the big trailer, over a five-hour period, settled on its side "as gently as if you had laid it down wtih your hands."

Firemen's Patrols Curb Pranksters

The Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association reported on the excellent work done by all the fire companies on Halloween night when the patrolling of fire boxes held to a minimum the number of false alarms sounded.

According to Ray Radel, secretary only two false alarms were reported this year compared to 10 and 12 reported in other years on Halloween night.

SECRETARY RADEL said the same procedura will be followed on Election night when men who are exempt from fire calls will patrol the fire boxes in their district and the active men will stand by in each firehouse ready to answer any call when and where required .

Mr. Radel said that Boy Scouts helped in certain areas where manpower was short.

The United States has a third more married women between 15 and 44 years old than in 1933.

Slow Motion Accident

Waco, Tex. (AP)—Most traffic accidents happen fast. But it took five hours for L. O. Wilson's big trailer truck to overturn. Wilson had a blowout and pulled onto the road shoulder to change the tire. But one side of the trailer began sinking into the soft dirt. Wilson sat back and watched as the big trailer, over a five-hour period, settled on its side "as gently as if you had laid it down wtih your hands."

Firemen's Patrols Curb Pranksters

The Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association reported on the excellent work done by all the fire companies on Halloween night when the patrolling of fire boxes held to a minimum the number of false alarms sounded.

According to Ray Radel, secretary only two false alarms were reported this year compared to 10 and 12 reported in other years on Halloween night.

SECRETARY RADEL said the same procedure will be followed on Election night when men who are exempt from fire calls will patrol the fire boxes in their district and the active men will stand by in each firehouse ready to answer any call when and where required.

Mr. Radel said that Boy Scouts helped in certain areas where manpower was short.

The United States has a third more married women between 15 and 44 years old than in 1933.

Home Bureau Set To Hear Foreign Neighbors Topic

The Ulster County Extension Service Association, Home Demonstration Department is sponsoring a county wide meeting on "Let's Know Our Foreign Neighbors." This is a new development in the citizenship program to help homemakers become more aware of people in other lands and their problems.

In so far as possible natives will be invited to speak because of intimate contacts with the affairs of their country. The first speakers to address a county wide meeting on this subject will be Mr. and Mrs. William Lima from Nigeria, West Africa. The meeting will be held November 10 at 1:30 p. m. at the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue. Mr. Lima and his wife will attend the meeting dressed in native costume. Mr. Lima has been in this country for several years preparing for government service in Nigeria. He will tell us about his country, its history, family life and growth under its developing freedom. Mrs. Lima is a princess in her own land.

Anyone interested in people of other lands whether they are associated with the Extension Service program or not are urged to attend.

KIT CARSON — By Russ Winterbotham and Ed Kudlaty

For many years, Kit had suffered from an old hunting injury. In May, 1868, he went to the Army surgeon for treatment at Fort Lyon, Colo.

In mid-afternoon, following a hearty meal, he called for his pipe. A few minutes later Kit Carson had a stroke and died peacefully and swiftly.

Why You Should Drain Antifreeze

You might save a few dollars by not draining antifreeze from your car's cooling system, but....it is certainly cheaper in the long run to use new solution each year, says the National Bureau of Standards Circular 506.

Reputable brands like "Zerone" and "Zerex" antifreezes are made to do two things.....prevent your car's cooling system from freezing and, by using inhibitors, protect it from acid, rust, corrosion, and scale. The life of these inhibitors depends on the condition of the cooling system.

As the National Bureau of Standards points out, "under some conditions, it is possible to use a solution for more than one season without harm; the service life is dependent on the condition of the car and severity of service. However, it is continually depleted by use, and will eventually reach a corrosive condition. In view of the comparative cost of antifreeze and of even so minor a replacement part as a water pump or radiator, it is certainly cheaper in the long run to use new solutions each year.

USE ZERONE or ZEREX and BE SURE of YOUR DESTINATION ON TIME.

And Your Old Stove

Florence 36" . . . Kitchen Heating Range

The best in efficiency—the latest in design. Florence kitchen heater gas ranges are equipped with the exclusive Florence Multi-Heat Burner which is made of the highest quality cast iron—it will never warp or burn out. This exclusive Florence Multi-Heat Burner has been engineered to prevent clogging—so prevalent in ordinary heaters today. The burner is for Manufactured or Natural Gas. The Multi-Heat Burner is equipped with the famous Minneapolis-Honeywell Addatrol 100% Safety Control. This amazing 100% safety shut-off is constantly on guard—even when you are away or sleeping. Should the gas supply ever fail or become interrupted for any reason this dependable control automatically shuts off the gas entirely. This Florence Kitchen Heater is equipped with five rows of air vents in left side of range to permit quick passage of heat into room. Also has large vent box on rear of the range for venting of oven and heater section.

Plus These Famous Florence Features:

- Banquet Size Oven: 16" wide, 18" deep, 14" high.
- Lo-Broiler: Slides out to you, away from flame . . . adjustable to 5 positions.
- Oven Temperatures are controlled by a precision combination thermostat and gas cock.
- Scientifically designed burner grates are made of cast iron and finished in black porcelain enamel for easy cleaning.

Richmond, Va. (AP)—W. A. Wallace's car was stolen and all week he kept in close touch with his insurance agent. Finally the abandoned car was spotted and a policeman went to check it out. By the time he got there it was gone again—but the cop didn't give up. He kept checking and finally ran it down, just in time to see a young man jump out and run. A resident of the area came out to check the commotion in front of his house. It was Wallace's insurance man, J. N. Trice. He promptly advised his client.

Court Santa Maria Makes Yearly Plans

Court Santa Maria, 164, Catholic Daughters of America, announced at a recent meeting that on Tuesday, Nov. 15, members will serve refreshments to patients at the TB Hospital after a concert.

A progressive card party will be held at 14 Henry street on Nov. 16. The public is invited and refreshments will be served. Mrs. Michael Mitchel, chairman, has started to make plans along with her committee members, Miss Laura Albrecht, Mrs. L. Kieffer, Mrs. H. Parks and Mrs. Philip Doheny.

The Christmas party will be held on Dec. 21. Mrs. Harry Wade and her committee will serve refreshments.

A reception for new members will be held in January. On Tuesday, Jan. 17 at 7 a. m., a Mass for deceased members will be said at St. Joseph's Church.

The court will hold its annual banquet in February.

Hostesses for the meeting were Miss Helen Van Steenburg, Miss Margaret Burns, Mrs. Eugene Simoncini, Mrs. E. Cobb, Mrs. H. McDermott and Mrs. Harry Wade.

MAY THE BEST MAN WIN

Kingston, N. Y., Nov. 8 — On this our annual Election Day, we hope for our good that the best man wins.

And, we also hope that in the contest for the beautiful women from Mickey's, the lucky winner appreciates the perfection of beauty in his prize.

If you are not in favorable running for your man's attention, it is time you let one of Mickey's seven hair stylists go to work on you . . . . Then you'll see the votes turn to your direction.

EVENINGS BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT

MRS. CORNELIUS VAN VORST SEWELL, JR.

Ann Stabins Weds Cornelius Sewell

Miss Ann Gates Stabins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Stabins of Rochester, became the bride of Cornelius Van Vorst Sewell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Van Vorst Sewell of Woodstock, Saturday, at the home of the bride, 266 Westminster road in Rochester. Mayor Peter Barry of Rochester performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride's home was decorated with white snapdragons, pompons, ferns and palms.

Miss Stabins was given in marriage by her father and she wore a peau de soie gown with a fitted bodice, buttons from waist to neck with a pointed collar, long sleeves ending in points and the full skirt was ballerina style. She carried a bouquet of white lily of the valley flowers and her headpiece was a white velvet bow shaped hat which fitted on the back of her head.

Mrs. Lee Donald Davis of New York city was the matron of honor for her sister. She wore a white silk fitted gown that had a long bodice, square neckline, short sleeves and the full skirt was ballerina style. She wore green leaves in her hair and carried white camelias with a green velvet ribbon.

Best man was Theodore Geertsema of Woodstock.

A reception for approximately 250 guests was held at the Sheraton Hotel.

The bride is a graduate of the Columbia Preparatory School in Rochester and attended the University of Connecticut. She is associated with American Airline, Inc. in New York city.

The bridegroom is a graduate of South Kent Preparatory School and Hobart College. He is employed by the Burton Dana Company, a brokerage firm in New York city.

Mrs. Sewell chose a charcoal gray suit for her traveling ensemble. The suit was styled with a straight skirt, box jacket and she wore black leather shoes and bag.

Doris Hart Sees the World Through Her Tennis Racquet

(By The Associated Press)

Want to go places, do things and see the world, girls? Then take up tennis.

Doris Hart, American women's tennis champion, has found her tennis racquet a gilt-edged ticket to international society and an exciting life of worldwide travel.

This rangy, modest young woman also found tennis a magic cure for the illnesses of an invalid childhood. Although she had been almost crippled by a leg injury in infancy, she took up tennis at the age of 10 and proceeded to rake in most of the major laurels of international competition. She has won the Wimbledon, French and Australian championships, has been on the Wightman Cup squad 10 times and won the U. S. championship in 1954 and 1955 after having failed in 5 previous finals.

"I guess I always wanted to see the world," says Doris, "and for the last 10 years, I have seen it. Sometimes I've traveled as much as 50,000 miles in one year. It's wonderful! If I had a daughter, I'd see that she started tennis as soon as she was big enough to hit a ball over the net."

In her travels Doris has met such personages as the late King George VI, Queen Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, Clement Attlee and Adm. Lord Mountbatten.

She has played tennis in Australia, South America, India, Ceylon, Egypt, South Africa and practically every country in Europe—except Russia.

"I guess the Russians haven't got around to claiming credit for inventing tennis," says she. "But I'm sure they will. Already I hear there is some interest in the game there."

Now that she has won about all the honors possible in her field, Doris is starting on a new career. She has turned pro, and will design tennis racquets and conduct tennis clinics for Spalding. She starts this winter teaching tennis in Miami Beach, just a hop, skip and jump from her home in Coral Gables, Fla.

Later she will travel around the country conducting tennis clinics in 40 or 50 cities. The new job, says Doris, will be practically sedentary—she expects to travel only 10,000 to 15,000 miles a year.

Through long experience, Doris has become an expert on travel clothes.

"I usually travel with three suitcases," says she. "One is full of tennis clothes, one has suits and dresses and one is for lingerie and accessories. I stick to nylon blouses and lingerie, and practically live in suits when I'm on the go."

Asked if she has any special rules for keeping fit, Doris says: "I just play tennis."

WHO SENDS THANKS?

"When my father died, his brother, who lives in another city, came here for the funeral. A group of my uncle's friends from his home town got together and sent a beautiful floral piece to the funeral. After the funeral I said something to my uncle about his writing a thank-you note to these friends, but he informed me that it was my place to do this. My contention is that since the flowers came from people I do not know and were sent solely for my uncle's sake, that he should write the note. Will you please tell me who is the proper one to write the note?"

Answer: Obviously your uncle is the one they expect to hear from—but a note from you also would be correct.

Have to Include Husbands

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married in two months time. In making up my guest list, I find I will be able to include the ten young women in my office with whom I have become very friendly over the past years. I cannot, however, invite their husbands to the reception inasmuch as I am limited. Would it be proper to invite only the women as a whole (one invitation to the office) or must I invite their husbands too. I'm afraid if I have to invite their husbands that I will have to exclude my co-workers from the guest list.

Answer: You will have to exclude them if you cannot invite the husbands.

Who Cuts the Cake

Dear Mrs. Post: My parents will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary and plan on having a fairly large reception. Would it be proper to have a wedding cake at this reception and if so, do my mother and father cut the first slice the same as they did fifty years ago, and how is the rest of the cake taken care of?

Answer: They do cut the first slice and divide it. It is then cut by someone else into slices and served to the guests.

We know that the 25th wedding anniversary is silver but forget the others. Mrs. Post lists each wedding anniversary, gifts and celebration in leaflet E-7, "Wedding Anniversaries." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Col. W. McCaffrey To Speak at YWCA

COL. W. J. McCAFFREY

Col. W. J. McCaffrey, assistant commandant at the United States Military Academy, West Point, will be the speaker at an open meeting of the Women's Club of the Young Women's Christian Association, at the YW, 209 Clinton avenue, Thursday at 7:45 p. m.

The program committee has been very fortunate in securing Col. McCaffrey and extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Colonel McCaffrey was born in Omaha, Nebraska, on October 9, 1914, and attended schools in Omaha and Boston. He was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1939, and commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry. He was assigned to the 13th Infantry at Fort Devens and went with that unit to the Panama Canal Zone. He served as a company commander in the 33rd Infantry at Fort Clayton and later was appointed assistant G3 of Panama Mobile Forces.

After the outbreak of war he returned to the United States and was assigned to the 92nd Division, serving in training in the U. S. with that unit and in combat in Italy. At the close of World War 2 in Europe, he was promoted to colonel and assigned as division chief of staff. He returned to the United States and was assigned to the Department of the Army General Staff. In 1947 he was assigned as regular army instructor, 298th RCT, Hawaii National Guard. In 1949 he took command of the 3rd Battalion, 15th Infantry, at Fort Benning. In 1950 he assumed the duties of Secretary of the Infantry School. Shortly after the outbreak of the Korean War he was ordered to the Far East and joined a newly formed corps. He participated in the Inchon landing on September 15, as deputy chief of staff. He served with the X Corps during the capture of Seoul and advanced to the Yalu, and the heavy fighting around Chosin Reservoir. After the evacuation of Hungnam by the X Corps, Col. McCaffrey was assigned to command the 31st Infantry, 7th Division. He commanded this unit through the Chinese offensive and UN counter-attacks, relinquishing command in December 1951 to return to the U. S. for assignment as executive officer of the Army War College. In July 1953 he was assigned as assistant commandant of cadets, U. S. Military Academy.

He holds the Silver Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Legion of Merit with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Bronze Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, air Medal, Commendation Ribbon with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Air Medal, British Empire, Cross of Valor from Italy, United Nations Medal, Combat Infantry Badge with Star, and is also a qualified parachutist.

He is married to the former Mary V. Curtin of Taunton, Mass., and has two children, Mary Patricia, age 14, and Barry, age 12.

MRS. CORNELIUS VAN VORST SEWELL, JR.

Miss Ann Gates Stabins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Stabins of Rochester, became the bride of Cornelius Van Vorst Sewell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Van Vorst Sewell of Woodstock, Saturday, at the home of the bride, 266 Westminster road in Rochester. Mayor Peter Barry of Rochester performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride's home was decorated with white snapdragons, pompons, ferns and palms.

Miss Stabins was given in marriage by her father and she wore a peau de soie gown with a fitted bodice, buttons from waist to neck with a pointed collar, long sleeves ending in points and the full skirt was ballerina style. She carried a bouquet of white lily of the valley flowers and her headpiece was a white velvet bow shaped hat which fitted on the back of her head.

Mrs. Lee Donald Davis of New York city was the matron of honor for her sister. She wore a white silk fitted gown that had a long bodice, square neckline, short sleeves and the full skirt was ballerina style. She wore green leaves in her hair and carried white camelias with a green velvet ribbon.

Best man was Theodore Geertsema of Woodstock.

A reception for approximately 250 guests was held at the Sheraton Hotel.

The bride is a graduate of the Columbia Preparatory School in Rochester and attended the University of Connecticut. She is associated with American Airline, Inc. in New York city.

The bridegroom is a graduate of South Kent Preparatory School and Hobart College. He is employed by the Burton Dana Company, a brokerage firm in New York city.

Saugerties Cracks New Paltz, Ends Season With 6-2 Record

Sawyer Team Captures Easy Grid Win, 32-6

Score Touchdown In Every Period

Saugerties High School's football team ended a highly-successful campaign yesterday, clubbing the New Paltz Central School visitors by 32-6.

Bill Straub's Sawyers thus ended their second year of 11-man football with a sparkling record of six victories and two defeats, a terrific improvement over the 1954 marks of 1-5.

The SHS eleven won all of its non-league games but was beaten by Highland and Liberty in the West Shore competition.

The final Sawyer record:

Opponent	SHS	Opp.
Pine Plains	13	2
Tannersville	26	6
Highland	7	27
Liberty	0	6
Onteora	24	13
Hudson JV	40	12
Coxsackie	27	7
New Paltz	32	6
Totals	169	79

Saugerties was held in check briefly by the Huguenots, who also ended their campaign. The NP eleven won one game and lost four.

But the Straubmen, after being briefly baffled by the visitors' single wing formation and their passing attack, got down to business. The home team built a one-touchdown lead by halftime and blew the game wide open during the third quarter.

TOM STAMP paced a downfield drive of 70 yards in the first period, scoring the touchdown on a seven-yard run. Don Whitaker's placekick for the extra point sailed wide of its mark.

New Paltz scored it only touchdown in the second period. Fullback George Power passed 22 yards to end Darrell Harp. A run for the point was halted.

Freshman halfback Larry Kithcart put the Sawyers ahead for good with his 68-yard scamper around end in the second quarter. Whitaker booted the point.

Craft zipped 17 yards up the middle for a touchdown in the third quarter, climaxing a sustained march from midfield. Whitaker added the point.

JIM ERCEG tallied the Sawyers' two final touchdowns. In the third period he ran 20 yards through the line. In the fourth, he took a lateral from Craft and ran 30 yards. The play consumed a total of 40 yards, since Craft was past the scrimmage line when he lateraled.

The statistics:

	SHS	NP
First downs	8	7
Yards rushing	240	42
Passes attempted	4	10
Passes completed	2	6
Passes intercepted	2	0
Yards passing	61	79
Fumbles	1	1
Fumbles recovered	1	1
Punts	0	2
Avg. yards punts	0	22.5
Yards lost penalties	50	40

The lineups:

Pos.	Saugerties	New Paltz
LE	Maury Hinchey	Harp
LT	Dragon	Brooks
LG	Dietz	Diedolf
C	Ash	Heidgerd
RG	Dodig	Cangelosi
RT	Whitaker	Place
RE	Kerin	Schenot
QB	Craft	Roberts
LH	Erceg	Kelly
RH	Stamp	Rassmussen
FB	Patterson	Power

The score by quarters:

New Paltz	0	6	0	0	6
Saugerties	6	7	13	6	32

CAMPFIRE SITE AT DIETZ STADIUM—That's what the Kingston High School band and marching units are making like in this formation, which was part of their halftime salute to the Boy Scouts during Saturday's game between Kingston High and Lawrence High at Dietz Stadium. GOING PLACES—Kingston halfback Ronnie Ashdown picks up yardage on an end run against Lawrence High School Saturday at Dietz Stadium. It was one of the few gains the Maroons made all afternoon. They were beaten, 18-0. (Freeman photo)

Baker-Valdes Winner to Get Shot at Rocky

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Nino Valdes and Bob Baker, about the best challengers the heavyweight division has to offer these days, will decide who gets the next shot at Rocky Marciano's crown in an elimination bout at Cleveland Dec. 7.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said last night the winner would be the next to have the privilege, of trying to whip the Brockton strong boy.

Baker, No. 3 among the contenders in the last ring ratings, and Valdes, No. 4, have figured along with the unpredictable Hurricane Jackson and the promising young Floyd Patterson as the only likely challengers after Moore failed to dent Marciano's unbeaten record.

PATTERSON, just 20 years old, wasn't considered seriously since he's the top challenger for Moore's light-heavyweight title and is being groomed for a heavyweight try no earlier than 1957. Jackson, 23, was removed from the eligible list when he was beaten recently by Jimmy Slade.

Valdes, a big Cuban managed by Bobby Gleason, was considered the No. 1 contender a year ago. The 6-3, 31-year-old husky was toppled by losing decisions against Moore and Bob Satterfield.

Baker, 28 and 210 pounds, supplied one of Valdes' defeats. The 6-3 Pittsburgher decisioned the Cuban in a 10-rounder in May, 1953. That was one of nine straight victories for Baker, who's been around since 1949. Three of his five successes this year, however, have been over the not-so-hot Rex Layne. Baker has won 42 of 48.

Terry Boomed For Oriole Post

Baltimore, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Baltimore Sun said today Bill Terry, former New York Giants great, and James Keelty, Baltimore building contractor, were being mentioned as possible successors to the retiring president of the Baltimore Orioles.

Clarence Miles, the prominent attorney who now heads the American league team, announced yesterday he would resign effective Nov. 18, date of the next annual meeting of the Baltimore baseball club stockholders.

Terry, president of an auto business in Jacksonville, Fla., expressed surprise that he had been mentioned. But he told the Sun he could not say he "wouldn't be interested" if approached and "if the proposition were right."

Carey Continues Home Run Spree

Hiroshima, Japan, Nov. 8 (AP)—Third baseman Andy Carey hit his sixth home run in 12 games as the New York Yankees whipped the Japan Central League All-Stars, 6-2, today.

Carey's homer in the fourth with center fielder Bob Cerv on base tied the score 2-2. Hank Bauer connected for a homer in the sixth with pinchhitter Tommy Byrne on base.

Whitey Ford and Bob Grimm limited the Japanese to three hits. The New Yorkers got 10 hits off five pitchers.

Giovanelli Gets Win Over Perez

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—"You gotta keep busy. If I get enough fights I'll be up there fighting for the welterweight title in a year.

That's what handsome Danny Giovanelli said today following his second straight victory in a little over a week at St. Nicholas Arena.

Subbing for the injured Chico Vejar last night, the rangy, 23-year-old Brooklynite came on with a rush from the fourth round on to rack up a unanimous 10-round decision over Danny Jo Perez, an old rival from New York's West Side.

The officials voted for Giovanelli this way:

Referee Mark Conn and Judge Joe Agnello 7-3 each, Judge Al Singer 6-3-1. The AP card had Giovanelli in front 5-4-1.

It was a bristling slugfest all the way to the delight of the 1,700 "live" fans. The gross gate was $2,486.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

About 20 years ago, Tennessee fishing water meant creeks and rivers and a few small lakes. But with the 1930's the Tennessee Valley Authority came into being. The difference is not only that the fishing in those waters has been improved, but that Tennessee now offers the angler more than 20 reservoirs — all large.

These add up to about 5,000 miles of fishing shoreline and bear about three-quarters of the fishing load in the state.

What's in the water? Tennessee is predominantly a bass state —largemouth, smallmouth, rock bass. it also offers muskellunge, wall-eyed pike, pickerel, sauger, sunfish, crappie, bluegill, channel catfish, white and yellow bass. And just to round the picture out, there are also trout—brown, rainbow, and brook.

The state has worked carefully to conserve and develop its trout fishing. In 1950 a survey conducted by the Fish and Game Commission resulted in the statement: "We were pleasantly surprised to find trout fishing to be excellent in many streams of East Tennessee and more pleased to find, even late in the season, streams producing good fishing without stocking, to a large number of fishermen."

The important words in that statement are "without stocking." A number of states have a policy of simply stocking their trout streams and depending on anglers to remove the fish — which frequently results in overstocking, loading the streams with more fish than they can feed.

In the Tellico region of Tennessee, on the other hand, the Tellico Cooperative Wildlife Management Area made a scientific survey a number of years ago to ascertain the carrying capacity of the streams and controled their stocking policies to supplement the native fish, with the result that about half of the fish taken by anglers are natives.

While this eastern trout fishing was natural to the Tennessee territory and has simply been promoted by good conservation policy, the state over-all is an example of what can result when man utilizes natural resources wisely.

Jones-Saxton Bout Wednesday

Ralph (Tiger) Jones, who earned his chance to vie with cowboy films for the home TV audience by battering Sugar Ray Robinson savagely in January, takes on ex-welterweight champion Johnny Saxton. The scheduled 10-rounder will be fought at the Oakland Auditorium, starting at 10 p. m. (EST) (ABC radio-TV).

It'll be an overweight bout for Saxton. Jones is the sixth-rated middleweight in the world and Saxton has the promise of a welterweight title shot this winter. The word is that he will go against the winner of the Nov. 30 Boston battle between champion Carmen Basilio and Tony De Marco.

Sports Meeting

A meeting is scheduled Wednesday at St. Mary's school (7:30 p. m.) for all boys interested in basketball and any adults who would like to assist in the sports program.

Principal M. Clifford Miller, an old KHS third sacker (or was it shortstop?), with intent and malice aforethought let the cat out of the bag at the testimonial dinner to Coach G. Warren Kias.

After nearly 30 years of speculation and puzzlement, the world knows now what the G stands for in G. Warren Kias.

It's George, so help me, just like Liberace's brother. Maybe that's the reason Coach Kias has been trying to keep it under cover all these years, Clifford wryly hinted.

The man from Illinois had honor and praise heaped upon him by a quality audience from all walks of sports. He was a man deeply moved by the accolades, humble and grateful in his greatest hour as a sports coach.

They came from far and from many years ago to honor the solid citizen, brilliant tactician and honorable and pleasant man who has guided Kingston High's athletic destinies with such conspicuous success for nearly three decades.

Abe Novig made his first trip to Kingston in nearly 20 years to greet his old coach. In his own words Coach Kias said he hoped he had helped some of them started toward the goals they desired. One look around the audience revealed that Kias had done a superb job in that direction. His former charges all looked sleek and prosperous and most of them carried superfluous weight.

Stevens, Kalloch, Chase. They paid warm tribute to their ancient antagonist. They had their differences with G. W. over the years but Saturday night they were reunited in the bond of friendship typical of athletic directors and coaches.

The speakers recalled many of the high moments of Kias' career, some dramatic, some humorous, others tinged with heartbreak and disappointment. Then the guest of honor took his friends down his own personal memory lane. He recalled among other things a ball game in which Paul Joyce hit a grand slam home run in the bottom of the ninth to tie the score at 5-5. Kingston won in the next inning. They played nine innings then.

There was the 1933 football team, first DUSO title for Kias and the heartbreaker of 1929 when Newburgh Academy, coached by Stevens, whipped an unbeaten, untied and unscored on KHS eleven for the DUSO crown. There were undefeated basketball seasons, the historic victory over Mont Pleasant at Saratoga Convention Hall when Ronnie Scheffel burst forth on the KHS scene. There was the 104 yard run by Quarterback Jace Cullum against Raymond Riordon . . . a 20-inning pitching duel between Bill Thomas and Mac Wagner of Middletown. . . . Charlie Bock, who was the forerunner of the new trend in scoring in basketball. Johnny Zeeh . . . and Big Ed Weaver, Rod Sagendorf, Skip Brodhead, Zeke Zelie, Dick Bezemer, Tony Albany, Leroy Hooker, Bob Cullum, Andy Dykes, Chipe Rhymer and others.

In the audience were a couple of those rare specimens—the four-letter man—Dr. George Rifenbary and Tommy Maines. Gus Koch and Stu Parks also got four Ks in one season. There was talk of Bernie Stahl, one of the greatest middle distance runners in KHS history. From the 1933 team you saw Eddie Burgevin, the fleet footed matinee idol of his day, Tony Debrosky, Zip Zaccheo, Bill Scully of the 1929 squad and others. If we overlooked other names, it was purely accidental and no slight is intended.

The Linden brothers—Jack and Jimmy—came down from Albany. Chubby Bahl was present. It was a Who's Who of KHS sports, especially the period up to the start of the second war.

Clair Bee, who regaled the crowd with humorous stories observed that Coach Kias must have instilled a profound respect and admiration for his athletes to have so many of them return for his testimonial. So he did.

As one of four brothers who played baseball under G. Warren Kias, it was a pleasure to assemble with the Maroon greats of all the years to extend to him the honor he so richly earned and so richly deserved.

Saugerties Cracks New Paltz, Ends Season With 6-2 Record

Sawyer Team Captures Easy Grid Win, 32-6

Score Touchdown In Every Period

Bill Straub's Sawyers thus ended their second year of 11-man football with a sparkling record of six victories and two defeats, a terrific improvement over the 1954 marks of 1-5.

The SHS eleven won all of its non-league games but was beaten by Highland and Liberty in the West Shore competition.

The final Sawyer record:

Opponent	SHS	Opp.
Pine Plains	13	2
Tannersville	26	6
Highland	7	27
Liberty	0	6
Onteora	24	13
Hudson JV	40	12
Coxsackie	27	7
New Paltz	32	6
Totals	169	79

Saugerties was held in check briefly by the Huguenots, who also ended their campaign. The NP eleven won one game and lost four.

But the Straubmen, after being briefly baffled by the visitors' single wing formation and their passing attack, got down to business. The home team built a one-touchdown lead by halftime and blew the game wide open during the third quarter.

TOM STAMP paced a downfield drive of 70 yards in the first period, scoring the touchdown on a seven-yard run. Don Whitaker's placekick for the extra point sailed wide of its mark.

New Paltz scored it only touchdown in the second period. Fullback George Power passed 22 yards to end Darrell Harp. A run for the point was halted.

Freshman halfback Larry Kithcart put the Sawyers ahead for good with his 68-yard scamper around end in the second quarter. Whitaker booted the point.

Craft zipped 17 yards up the middle for a touchdown in the third quarter, climaxing a sustained march from midfield. Whitaker added the point.

JIM ERCEG tallied the Sawyers' two final touchdowns. In the third period he ran 20 yards through the line. In the fourth, he took a lateral from Craft and ran 30 yards. The play consumed a total of 40 yards, since Craft was past the scrimmage line when he lateraled.

The statistics:

	SHS	NP
First downs	8	7
Yards rushing	240	42
Passes attempted	4	10
Passes completed	2	6
Passes intercepted	2	0
Yards passing	61	79
Fumbles	1	1
Fumbles recovered	1	1
Punts	0	2
Avg. yards punts	0	22.5
Yards lost penalties	50	40

The lineups:

Pos.	Saugerties	New Paltz
LE	Maury Hinchey	Harp
LT	Dragon	Brooks
LG	Dietz	Diedolf

The score by quarters:

New Paltz	0	6	0	0	6
Saugerties	6	7	13	6	32

Saugerties reserves: Brenning, Francello, Hanson, Mike Hinchey, Kinkel, Kithcart, McConekey, Mormile, Neher, H. Newkirk, G. Newkirk, Ostoylic, Sandner.

New Paltz reserves: Anderson, Baraco, Markin, Decker, Harcourt.

Jones-Saxton Bout Wednesday

Ralph (Tiger) Jones, who earned his chance to vie with cowboy films for the home TV audience by battering Sugar Ray Robinson savagely in January, takes on ex-welterweight champion Johnny Saxton. The scheduled 10-rounder will be fought at the Oakland Auditorium, starting at 10 p. m. (EST) (ABC radio-TV).

It'll be an overweight bout for Saxton. Jones is the sixth-rated middleweight in the world and Saxton has the promise of a welterweight title shot this winter. The word is that he will go against the winner of the Nov. 30 Boston battle between champion Carmen Basilio and Tony De Marco.

Sports Meeting

A meeting is scheduled Wednesday at St. Mary's school (7:30 p. m.) for all boys interested in basketball and any adults who would like to assist in the sports program.

Principal M. Clifford Miller, an old KHS third sacker (or was it shortstop?), with intent and malice aforethought let the cat out of the bag at the testimonial dinner to Coach G. Warren Kias.

After nearly 30 years of speculation and puzzlement, the world knows now what the G stands for in G. Warren Kias.

It's George, so help me, just like Liberace's brother. Maybe that's the reason Coach Kias has been trying to keep it under cover all these years, Clifford wryly hinted.

The man from Illinois had honor and praise heaped upon him by a quality audience from all walks of sports, He was a man deeply moved by the accolades, humble and grateful in his greatest hour as a sports coach.

They came from far and from many years ago to honor the solid citizen, brilliant tactician and honorable and pleasant man who has guided Kingston High's athletic destinies with such conspicuous success for nearly three decades.

Abe Novig made his first trip to Kingston in nearly 20 years to greet his old coach. In his own words Coach Kias said he hoped he had helped some of them started toward the goals they desired. One look around the audience revealed that Kias had done a superb job in that direction. His former charges all looked sleek and prosperous and most of them carried superfluous weight.

Stevens, Kalloch, Chase. They paid warm tribute to their ancient antagonist. They had their differences with G. W. over the years but Saturday night they were reunited in the bond of friendship typical of athletic directors and coaches.

The speakers recalled many of the high moments of Kias' career, some dramatic, some humorous, others tinged with heartbreak and disappointment. Then the guest of honor took his friends down his own personal memory lane. He recalled among other things a ball game in which Paul Joyce hit a grand slam home run in the bottom of the ninth to tie the score at 5-5. Kingston won in the next inning. They played nine innings then.

There was the 1933 football team, first DUSO title for Kias and the heartbreaker of 1929 when Newburgh Academy, coached by Stevens, whipped an unbeaten, untied and unscored on KHS eleven for the DUSO crown. There were undefeated basketball seasons, the historic victory over Mont Pleasant at Saratoga Convention Hall when Ronnie Scheffel burst forth on the KHS scene. There was the 104 yard run by Quarterback Jace Cullum against Raymond Riordon . . . a 20-inning pitching duel between Bill Thomas and Mac Wagner of Middletown. . . . Charlie Bock, who was the forerunner of the new trend in scoring in basketball. Johnny Zeeh . . . and Big Ed Weaver, Rod Sagendorf, Skip Brodhead, Zeke Zelie, Dick Bezemer, Tony Albany, Leroy Hooker, Bob Cullum, Andy Dykes, Chipe Rhymer and others.

In the audience were a couple of those rare specimens—the four-letter man—Dr. George Rifenbary and Tommy Maines. Gus Koch and Stu Parks also got four Ks in one season. There was talk of Bernie Stahl, one of the greatest middle distance runners in KHS history. From the 1933 team you saw Eddie Burgevin, the fleet footed matinee idol of his day, Tony Debrosky, Zip Zaccheo, Bill Scully of the 1929 squad and others. If we overlooked other names, it was purely accidental and no slight is intended.

The Linden brothers—Jack and Jimmy—came down from Albany. Chubby Bahl was present. It was a Who's Who of KHS sports, especially the period up to the start of the second war.

Clair Bee, who regaled the crowd with humorous stories observed that Coach Kias must have instilled a profound respect and admiration for his athletes to have so many of them return for his testimonial. So he did.

As one of four brothers who played baseball under G. Warren Kias, it was a pleasure to assemble with the Maroon greats of all the years to extend to him the honor he so richly earned and so richly deserved.

Woodstock Varsity Launches Season With Improved Club

Play Monticello Chiefs Friday

Coach Walter S. Van Wagenen's squad lost three veteran members—Big Bill Kleine, Ken Harder and Richie Hilton—all of whom are employed nights.

THE HOLDOVERS include Bill and Herb Waterous, William Kaiser and Ward Dunham of Kingston.

Eddie Koehn, last year's Jayvee center, will get a chance to crash the varsity. Jennings, a newcomer who saw limited action last season, is expected to see full time duty.

The addition of the three new players gives Coach Van Wagenen the highest scoring potential in history. Carpouzis has been hitting at a sensational clip in the Y autumn league and is at the peak of his career. Kantrowitz will hit in double figures.

THE VARSITY plans to play Friday night games in the early stages of the season and possible spot attractions. The team also is booked to play Newburgh Affrons in the preliminary to the Harlem Globetrotter-Washington General game on Nov. 28.

The Jayvees have the makings of a good team with Sonny Simmons and Alan Van Wagenen up front; Fordham at center and Freer and Mellin, guards. Andy Lee, a regular guard, will not be available until the KHS football season ends. Wayne Underhill and Dan Perlman are tabbed for limited duty.

Beliveau Paces Hockey Scorers

Montreal, Nov. 8 (AP)—With only 40 games in the National Hockey League season in the books, the loop's list of point-getters are jammed together like Sunday traffic.

Young Jean Beliveau of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens, with five goals and one assist last week, regained the top spot with 19 points on eight goals and 11 assists. Teammate Bert Olmstead, with seven assists, moved into second place with 18 points.

Dave Creighton of the red-hot New York Rangers, leader a week ago, collected a goal and three assists but dropped to third place with 17 points. Ron Murphy of the Rangers and Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings follow with 15 points apiece. Murphy, Ted Lindsay of Detroit and Toronto's Tod Sloan lead in goals scored with nine. Olmstead had the most assists with 14.

Football Briefs

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Four regulars are out of the Colgate football lineup because of injuries.

Coach Hal Lahar said yesterday he would not know until Thursday whether the four would be available for the traditional game with Syracuse Saturday.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP) — Quarterback Billy DeGraaf, who has completed 40 passes in 83 attempts this season, stood out in a loosening-up drill of the Cornell football team yesterday.

DeGraaf's passes have gained 522 yards and scored six touchdowns. He leads the team in scoring with six touchdowns and nine conversions for 45 points.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Syracuse halfback Mark Hoffman is out with an injured hand and may not start in the traditional football game with Colgate here Saturday.

Bill Micho would start in Hoffman's place. Guards Rudy Farmer and Chuck Strid also were on the Orange injured list yesterday but they were expected to be ready by Saturday.

Consistent Performer

Boston (AP)—Jackie Jensen of the Sox certainly is a consistent performer. Just compare his 1954 and 1955 records. In both years he appeared in 152 games and batted .276. In 1954 he batted in 117 runs and in 1955 it was 116. In 1954 he slammed 25 homers compared to 26 this year.

St. Joseph's Harriers Cop County CYO Title

Ken Barr, St. Peter's Leads Met Division

St. Joseph's School cross country squad has won the 1955 Ulster county CYO championship.

The uptown harriers scored 18 points to take first place in the annual run at upper Hasbrouck Park.

St. Peter's (Rosendale) finished second with 10 points. St. Mary's of Saugerties took third place with eight points. About 60 boys from all parishes in Ulster county competed.

ANDY ANGSTROM of St. Joseph's copped Midget division honors. Trailing him were Dick Whittaker, St. Joseph's; Joseph Barr, St. Peter's of Rosendale; John O'Leirey, St. Peter's of Rosendale, fourth; Billy Huber, St. Peter's of Kingston.

JAMES RIGNEY of St. Joseph's took Junior division honors, finishing ahead of Jon Angstrom of St. Joseph's, Joseph Redmond, Rosendale; Terry Kelly of St. Joseph's and Joseph Sweeney of St. Mary's of Saugerties.

KEN BARR of St. Peter's (Rosendale) captured the Met-Intermediate division. John Kerins of St. Mary's (Saugerties) was second, followed by Bob Closin of St. Mary's (Saugerties).

The school boy race was the final event in the observance of National CYO Week in Ulster county. Winners and runnersup in the races received CYO trophies and medals.

Oklahoma Takes Over Top Spot in AP Poll

(By The Associated Press)

Oklahoma, a latter day power in college football, took over as the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll today, much in the same style as the 1950 club brought the Sooners their one and only national championship.

It's the first time Coach Bud Wilkinson's crew has held the top rating this season, although they've been near the top in each of the seven previously weekly polls. Similarly, Oklahoma's 1950 champs didn't make the top in the weekly poll until Nov. 21, on the next to last ballot of the season.

Oklahoma's new role adds even more luster to the Orange Bowl clash which undoubtedly will send the Sooners against Maryland—the club they ousted from the No. 1 spot.

MARYLAND, even by extending its winning streak to 13 games by beating Louisiana State 13-0 last weekend, couldn't cope with the shift in favor among the nation's sportswriters and sportcasters that gave Oklahoma a whomping 115 first place votes to Oklahoma's 54 last week, pulled in 89 from the 283 ballots cast in the week's poll.

ON A point basis, however, the Sooners—who ran their winning string to 26 by whipping Missouri 20-0 Saturday—had a much smaller edge over Maryand. On the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, etc., the Sooners totaled 2,466 to Maryland's 2,415.

Oklahoma and Maryland are all by themselves at the top of the rankings now that Michigan has been shelled from the unbeaten list. The Wolverines, one-time leaders and third last week, tumbled to seventh after being upset 25-6 by Illinois.

MICHIGAN STATE, beaten only by the Wolverines, replaced Michigan in a move from fourth. UCLA, Notre Dame and West Virginia (the only other major unbeaten-untied club left) followed the leap-frog advance past Michigan.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN, 10th last week, jumped to eighth although idle last Saturday, while Texas A&M and Ohio State moved into the top 10 to replace Georgia Tech and Navy. Tech was tied 7-7 by Tennessee. Navy was held to the same deadlock by Duke.

Maryland, West Virginia and TCU appear to have the toughest assignments this week among the top 10. The Terps face one-beaten Clemson to make good their bid for the Atlantic Coast conference title and the Orange Bowl bid; West Virigina takes a big test against Pitt and TCU, hopeful of the Cotton Bowl host berth, meets Texas.

Oklahoma, which clinched the Big Seven's Orange Bowl spot last week, shouldn't have much trouble getting victory No. 27 against Iowa State.

The ratings, figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes and season's records in parentheses):

1.	Oklahoma (115) (7-0)	2,466
2.	Maryland (89) (8-0)	2,415
3.	Michigan State (44) (6-1)	2,051
4.	UCLA (9) (7-1)	1,762
5.	Notre Dame (2) (6-1)	1,726
6.	West Virginia (18) (7-0)	1,069
7.	Michigan (6-1)	970
8.	Texas Christian (3) (6-1)	551
9.	Texas A. & M. (6-1-1)	448
10.	Ohio State (1) (5-2)	430

Need Larger Stadium

East Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Every time Michigan State plays Michigan in football worried athletic officials mop their brow—and not over the score. This year, the Michigan - Michigan State game was held at Ann Arbor, where the game was a 97,000-seat sellout. Even though the next game in the series scheduled to be played at Michigan State's stadium at East Lansing is in 1958, officials are worried because MSU's stadium only seats 52,000. That's only enough room to take care of students of both schools, faculty and season ticket holders — no one else—officials say.

Woodstock Varsity Launches Season With Improved Club

Play Monticello Chiefs Friday

Its firing power greatly increased by the addition of George Carpouzis and Marty Kantrowitz, the Woodstock Varsity launches the 1955-56 village basketball season against the Monticello Chiefs Friday at the Wodstock school gym.

Coach Walter S. Van Wagenen's squad lost three veteran members—Big Bill Kleine, Ken Harder and Richie Hilton—all of whom are employed nights.

THE HOLDOVERS include Bill and Herb Waterous, William Kaiser and Ward Dunham of Kingston.

Eddie Koehn, last year's Jayvee center, will get a chance to crash the varsity. Jennings, a newcomer who saw limited action last season, is expected to see full time duty.

The addition of the three new players gives Coach Van Wagenen the highest scoring potential in history. Carpouzis has been hitting at a sensational clip in the Y autumn league and is at the peak of his career. Kantrowitz will hit in double figures.

THE VARSITY plans to play Friday night games in the early stages of the season and possible spot attractions. The team also is booked to play Newburgh Affrons in the preliminary to the Harlem Globetrotter-Washington General game on Nov. 28.

The Jayvees have the makings of a good team with Sonny Simmons and Alan Van Wagenen up front; Fordham at center and Freer and Mellin, guards. Andy Lee, a regular guard, will not be available until the KHS football season ends. Wayne Underhill and Dan Perlman are tabbed for limited duty.

Beliveau Paces Hockey Scorers

Montreal, Nov. 8 (AP)—With only 40 games in the National Hockey League season in the books, the loop's list of point-getters are jammed together like Sunday traffic.

Young Jean Beliveau of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens, with five goals and one assist last week, regained the top spot with 19 points on eight goals and 11 assists. Teammate Bert Olmstead, with seven assists, moved into second place with 18 points.

Dave Creighton of the red-hot New York Rangers, leader a week ago, collected a goal and three assists but dropped to third place with 17 points. Ron Murphy of the Rangers and Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings follow with 15 points apiece. Murphy, Ted Lindsay of Detroit and Toronto's Tod Sloan lead in goals scored with nine. Olmstead had the most assists with 14.

Football Briefs

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Four regulars are out of the Colgate football lineup because of injuries.

Coach Hal Lahar said yesterday he would not know until Thursday whether the four would be available for the traditional game with Syracuse Saturday.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP) — Quarterback Billy DeGraaf, who has completed 40 passes in 83 attempts this season, stood out in a loosening-up drill of the Cornell football team yesterday.

DeGraaf's passes have gained 522 yards and scored six touchdowns. He leads the team in scoring with six touchdowns and nine conversions for 45 points.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Syracuse halfback Mark Hoffman is out with an injured hand and may not start in the traditional football game with Colgate here Saturday.

Bill Micho would start in Hoffman's place. Guards Rudy Farmer and Chuck Strid also were on the Orange injured list yesterday but they were expected to be ready by Saturday.

Consistent Performer

Boston (AP)—Jackie Jensen of the Sox certainly is a consistent performer. Just compare his 1954 and 1955 records. In both years he appeared in 152 games and batted .276. In 1954 he batted in 117 runs and in 1955 it was 116. In 1954 he slammed 25 homers compared to 26 this year.

Newport Honor Yonkers Winner

Yonkers, Nov. 8 (AP)—Newport Honor, a 5-1 shot driven by Richard Thomas, scored a 2-length victory in the featured Englewood Pace at Yonkers Raceway last night.

The 3-year-old colt, owned by the Maple Farm of Commack, N. Y., covered the mile in 2:17.3 on a muddy track. He paid $12.70, $5.80 and $4.10. Mayfield Boy was second, with Frisco Fancy third.

St. Joseph's Harriers Cop County CYO Title

Ken Barr, St. Peter's Leads Met Division

St. Joseph's School cross country squad has won the 1955 Ulster county CYO championship.

The uptown harriers scored 18 points to take first place in the annual run at upper Hasbrouck Park.

St. Peter's (Rosendale) finished second with 10 points. St. Mary's of Saugerties took third place with eight points. About 60 boys from all parishes in Ulster county competed.

ANDY ANGSTROM of St. Joseph's copped Midget division honors. Trailing him were Dick Whittaker, St. Joseph's; Joseph Barr, St. Peter's of Rosendale; John O'Leirey, St. Peter's of Rosendale, fourth; Billy Huber, St. Peter's of Kingston.

JAMES RIGNEY of St. Joseph's took Junior division honors, finishing ahead of Jon Angstrom of St. Joseph's, Joseph Redmond, Rosendale; Terry Kelly of St. Joseph's and Joseph Sweeney of St. Mary's of Saugerties.

KEN BARR of St. Peter's (Rosendale) captured the Met-Intermediate division. John Kerins of St. Mary's (Saugerties) was second, followed by Bob Closin of St. Mary's (Saugerties).

The school boy race was the final event in the observance of National CYO Week in Ulster county. Winners and runnersup in the races received CYO trophies and medals.

Oklahoma Takes Over Top Spot in AP Poll

(By The Associated Press)

Oklahoma, a latter day power in college football, took over as the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll today, much in the same style as the 1950 club brought the Sooners their one and only national championship.

It's the first time Coach Bud Wilkinson's crew has held the top rating this season, although they've been near the top in each of the seven previously weekly polls. Similarly, Oklahoma's 1950 champs didn't make the top in the weekly poll until Nov. 21, on the next to last ballot of the season.

Oklahoma's new role adds even more luster to the Orange Bowl clash which undoubtedly will send the Sooners against Maryland—the club they ousted from the No. 1 spot.

MARYLAND, even by extending its winning streak to 13 games by beating Louisiana State 13-0 last weekend, couldn't cope with the shift in favor among the nation's sportswriters and sportcasters that gave Oklahoma a whomping 115 first place votes to Oklahoma's 54 last week, pulled in 89 from the 283 ballots cast in the week's poll.

ON A point basis, however, the Sooners—who ran their winning string to 26 by whipping Missouri 20-0 Saturday—had a much smaller edge over Maryand. On the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, etc., the Sooners totaled 2,466 to Maryland's 2,415.

Oklahoma and Maryland are all by themselves at the top of the rankings now that Michigan has been shelled from the unbeaten list. The Wolverines, one-time leaders and third last week, tumbled to seventh after being upset 25-6 by Illinois.

MICHIGAN STATE, beaten only by the Wolverines, replaced Michigan in a move from fourth. UCLA, Notre Dame and West Virginia (the only other major unbeaten-untied club left) followed the leap-frog advance past Michigan.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN, 10th last week, jumped to eighth although idle last Saturday, while Texas A&M and Ohio State moved into the top 10 to replace Georgia Tech and Navy. Tech was tied 7-7 by Tennessee. Navy was held to the same deadlock by Duke.

Maryland, West Virginia and TCU appear to have the toughest assignments this week among the top 10. The Terps face one-beaten Clemson to make good their bid for the Atlantic Coast conference title and the Orange Bowl bid; West Virigina takes a big test against Pitt and TCU, hopeful of the Cotton Bowl host berth, meets Texas.

Oklahoma, which clinched the Big Seven's Orange Bowl spot last week, shouldn't have much trouble getting victory No. 27 against Iowa State.

The ratings, figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes and season's records in parentheses):

1.	Oklahoma (115) (7-0)	2,466
2.	Maryland (89) (8-0)	2,415
3.	Michigan State (44) (6-1)	2,051
4.	UCLA (9) (7-1)	1,762
5.	Notre Dame (2) (6-1)	1,726
6.	West Virginia (18) (7-0)	1,069
7.	Michigan (6-1)	970
8.	Texas Christian (3) (6-1)	551
9.	Texas A. & M. (6-1-1)	448
10.	Ohio State (1) (5-2)	430

Need Larger Stadium

East Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Every time Michigan State plays Michigan in football worried athletic officials mop their brow—and not over the score. This year, the Michigan-Michigan State game was held at Ann Arbor, where the game was a 97,000-seat sellout. Even though the next game in the series scheduled to be played at Michigan State's stadium at East Lansing is in 1958, officials are worried because MSU's stadium only seats 52,000. That's only enough room to take care of students of both schools, faculty and season ticket holders — no one else—officials say.

Like Father Like Son

Brooklyn (AP)—The Duke Sniders will celebrate two birthdays instead of one next Sept. 19. The 29-year-old Dodger outfielder's second son, Kurt Brian, was born on Sept. 19. That's Duke's birthday, too.

Football Hazard

Charlottesville, Va. (AP) — Lewis Farmer, a V.M.I. football player, suffered a nasty gash on his head during the game with the University of Virginia—and he wasn't even in the lineup. Farmer, on the bench, was hit by a liquor bottle tossed from the stands.

A BEST BUY
DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR
Lovely brick home containing about 1500 sq. ft. of living area, built in 1950, located in one of the nicest residential sections of Kingston and priced according to a fair appraisal at $19,900. Because its professional owner is accepting out of state employment. Here is a home featuring 1½ tile baths, hot water heat, 3 nice bedrooms, large modern kitchen with lots of cabinets, dining room, and full basement. It is equipped with storm sash & screens, and affords all city advantages including sewer, water, Kingston schools, etc. BUT total taxes of only $170. To complete this TREMENDOUS VALUE there is a large lot with big play yard, garage & blacktop drive way. At this unusual low price you have a construction cost of slightly over $10 per foot, which is about impossible to duplicate today.

Pilot Is Killed

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 8 (AP)—A single-engine airplane crashed and burned yesterday about 15 miles east of here, killing the pilot. The victim, Harold H. London, 43, of (30 Ehbar avenue) Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was alone in the craft. He was en route home from Akron, Ohio, where he had gone on business. London had stopped at Johnstown Airport to refuel and took off in a heavy overcast. He had about 100 flying hours logged.

MRS. JOSEPH C. LEVERENZ
(Photo Workshop)

Newcomb-Leverenz Nuptials Are Held

Miss Joyce Ann Newcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Newcomb of 116 Downs street, became the bride of Joseph C. Leverenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Leverenz of 127 Murray street, at a double ring ceremony in Trinity Methodist Church, Sunday, November 6 at 2 p. m. The Rev. John L. Riehhoff performed the ceremony.

Charles Shutts was at the organ and Miss Barbara Leverenz sang "Because," "At Dawning," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Her veil was ivory silk illusion fingertip length caught to an ivory satin half bonnet outlined in seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white camellias and white satin ribbon fashioned in a stylized cascade.

Mrs. Thomas O'Brian was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a floor length gown of nylon tricot over taffeta with a fitted bodice trimmed in seed pearls and attached stole. She wore an empress gold matching headpiece of nylon marquisette flowers, and carried a bouquet of pink camellias in a cascade form.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. William Leverenz, sister-in-law of the bridegroom and Miss Annlouise Palisi. Gowns were identical to that of the honor attendant in pale aqua.

Ushers included Joseph Klonowski of Kingston and Stewart Sinon of Poughkeepsie.

A reception was held at Maennechor Hall for approximately 125 guests.

Miss Newcomb is a graduate of Kingston High School and the Kingston City Hospital School of Nursing, where she is now employed.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company. He is a member of the 156th Armored Battalion, National Guard where he holds the rank of sergeant in Headquarters Battery.

For her wedding journey through northern New York and Canada, the bride chose a brown princess style dress with a Peter Pan collar and a full skirt. She also wore a beige coat and brown accessories and a yellow cymbidium orchid corsage.

MR. AND MRS. ROLF T. JACOBSEN

Miss Joan A. Walder Weds Rolf Jacobsen

Miss Joan Ann Walder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Walder of Olive Bridge, became the bride of Rolf Thomas Jacobsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Jacobsen of Accord, Saturday, October 29 at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer at 3 p. m. The Rev. David C. Gaise performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Ralph Harper sang "I Love Thee," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with mums and palms.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of white slipper satin with a fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and a "V" neckline outlined in embroidered seed pearls. The very full gathered skirt was floor length with a slight sweep train. Her veil was fingertip length white silk illusion caught to a princess crown of seed pearls. The bride carried a small cascade of white pom pons with a white orchid.

Best man for the couple was Clayton Barringer of Accord. Ushers were Orling Kalleberg of Kingston and Donald Adams of Lake Hill.

Miss Walder is a graduate of Onteora Central School and is employed at IBM, Kingston as a secretary.

The bridegroom graduated from Ellenville High School, served four years in the U. S. Navy and is employed in the carpenter trade.

The couple will reside at 121 Fair street.

ROBERT WOLFERSTEIG

Robert Wolfersteig, PN3, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wolfersteig of Connelly was recently awarded the Navy Good Conduct Medal at the U. S. Naval Station, Bermuda, by Captain James E. Leeper, USN, Wolfersteig is serving as chaplain's assistant to Chaplain J. K. Snelbaker.

Robert Wolfersteig, is also musical director for the Music Makers, a choral group of the Bermuda Musical and Dramatic Society, which is planning a group of four programs to be presented in churches on the island. Featured on the program will be J. S. Bach's "Sleepers, Wake," and Mozart's "Two Organ Sonatas" for organ and strings.

Included in the religious program at the U. S. Naval Station in Bermuda are two choirs, one of which is performing Handel's "Messiah" with orchestra on Dec. 11. A new chapel is now being constructed and it is hoped that it will be ready for Christmas services, for both Catholic and Protestant personnel.

Carolyn Ann Krum Nuptial Are Told

Miss Carolyn Ann Krum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Krum Sr., of 62 Gill street, became the bride of William Joseph Van Etten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Van Etten Sr., of 11 Abbey street, Saturday, Nov. 5, at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church. The Rev. William Reynolds performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Nan Goldrick was at the organ.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a white satin gown fashioned with a fitted princess bodice, long pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt was ballerina length.

Miss Krum, who attended Kingston High School, is employed by IBM in Kingston.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM VAN ETTEN

For her wedding journey upstate, the bride chose a navy blue suit with deep red accessories.

The couple will reside at 18 Wurts street.

Eleanor McCloskey Wedding Is Told

Miss Eleanor Frances McCloskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McCloskey Sr., of 210 Broadway became the bride of Edward Joseph Cappillino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cappillino of Highland, November 6 at 1:30 p. m. at St. Mary's church. The Rev. Edward Farrelly performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of Dupioni silk, fashioned with a basque bodice, long tapered sleeves and a scoop neckline outlined with imported lace. Her full skirt, with inserts of lace, terminated in a circular court train. Her bridal cap of rose point lace and shirred nylon tulle was trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent sequins and secured a fingertip French illusion veil.

Catherine McCloskey, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of nylon tulle in champagne rose, fashioned with a fitted and shirred bodice and a bouffant floor length skirt embellished with medallions of Venice lace studded with rhinestones. She wore a cloche type headpiece of lilies of the valley.

The bride carried a white orchid with yellow lips on a laced prayerbook with a stem of white pompon inserts. The maid of honor carried a hand bouquet of rust pompons and matching showers.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Vincent Schrader, sister of the bride, Mrs. Alfred LaFalce and Mrs. John Stellar, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore gowns and hats identical in style to the maid of honor in emerald green, nymph green and nile green. They carried assorted pompon hand bouquets with matching showers.

The best man was William DelForto. Ushers included Vincent Schrader, Alfred LaFalce, and John Stellar.

After a month's trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Cappillino will reside in Highland.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD J. CAPPILLINO
(John L. Crosby)

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE LUCENTE
(Ronald B. Johnstone)

Miss Nancy Schultz Weds George Lucente

Announcement has been made of the wedding of Miss Nancy Ann Marie Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schultz of 171 Partition street, Saugerties, to George Lucente, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Lucente of RFD 3, Saugerties, Sunday, November 6, at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Church in Saugerties. The Rev. Charles Burke performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. William C. Climley was at the organ and also sang "Panis Angelicus," and the "Ave Maria."

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums.

The bride's aunt, Rita McCabe of Bayonne, N. J., was the maid of honor. She wore an emerald green embroidered crystalette gown with a face framing collar, fitted bodice, and a floor length skirt. Her headpiece was of velvet leaves and pearls with a circular veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow pompons.

Bridesmaids included Barbara Schultz, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Angelo, both of Saugerties. Their gowns were fashioned identically to that of the maid of honor's but in a deep wine color. They carried colonial bouquets of pink pompons.

The mother of the bride wore a two piece dress of slate blue taffeta with pink accessories and her corsage was of pink and white pompons and carnations.

Best man for his friend was Gerald Igoe of 6 Russell street, Saugerties.

Ushers included Charles Riley and Correll Walbroehl.

Miss Schultz is a graduate of St. Mary's School and Saugerties High School. She is employed by the New York Telephone Company in Saugerties.

The bridegroom is employed at Beck's Market in Kingston.

The bride chose for her wedding journey to Canada a rose velvet dress decorated with pearls and she wore black accessories.

The couple will reside on Spaulding Lane in Saugerties.

16 Korean Pupils Killed as Plane Crashes School

Seoul, Nov. 8 (AP) — Sixteen children were killed and 12 injured today when a South Korean fighter plane flown by a training pilot crashed into a crowded elementary school near Taegu, the South Korean Air Force said.

The pilot was killed in the crash of the F51 Mustang at Yyang-Ju. A spokesman said he was on one of his first solo flights.

Lt. Gen. Kim Hyun Chul, air force chief of staff, expressed "deep regrets" to the parents of the victims.

Pilot Is Killed

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 8 (AP)—A single-engine airplane crashed and burned yesterday about 15 miles east of here, killing the pilot. The victim, Harold H. London, 43, of (30 Ehbar avenue) Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was alone in the craft. He was en route home from Akron, Ohio, where he had gone on business. London had stopped at Johnstown Airport to refuel and took off in a heavy overcast. He had about 100 flying hours logged.

Newcomb-Leverenz Nuptials Are Held

Miss Joyce Ann Newcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Newcomb of 116 Downs street, became the bride of Joseph C. Leverenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Leverenz of 127 Murray street, at a double ring ceremony in Trinity Methodist Church, Sunday, November 6 at 2 p. m. The Rev. John L. Riethoff performed the ceremony.

Charles Shutts was at the organ and Miss Barbara Leverenz sang "Because," "At Dawning," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a candlelight slipper satin gown fashioned with a Mary Queen of Scots neckline, long pointed sleeves and a boned collar with motifs of lace embroidered with sequins and seed pearls. The full gathered skirt terminated in a cathedral train.

Her veil was ivory silk illusion fingertip length caught to an ivory satin half bonnet outlined in seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white camellias and white satin ribbon fashioned in a stylized cascade.

Mrs. Thomas O'Brian was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a floor length gown of nylon tricot over taffeta with a fitted bodice trimmed in seed pearls and attached stole. She wore an empress gold matching headpiece of nylon marquisette flowers, and carried a bouquet of pink camellias in a cascade form.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. William Leverenz, sister-in-law of the bridegroom and Miss Annlouise Palisi. Gowns were identical to that of the honor attendant in pale aqua.

Miss Newcomb is a graduate of Kingston High School and the Kingston City Hospital School of Nursing, where she is now employed.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company. He is a member of the 156th Armored Battalion, National Guard where he holds the rank of sergeant in Headquarters Battery.

For her wedding journey through northern New York and Canada, the bride chose a brown princess style dress with a Peter Pan collar and a full skirt. She also wore a beige coat and brown accessories and a yellow cymbidium orchid corsage.

The Weather

TUESDAY, NOV. 8, 1955

Sun rises at 6:35 a. m.; sun sets at 4:44 p. m., EST.
Weather: Fair.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 33 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 46 degrees.

Weather Forecast

NEW YORK CITY and vicinity: Fair and a little cooler this afternoon, with highest near 50 degrees. Fair and cold tonight with lowest temperature in the middle 30s in the city proper but 25 to 30 in cooler suburban areas. Wednesday some high cloudiness, little change in temperature; highest in the upper 40s. Moderate west to northwest winds this afternoon and tonight. Gentle to moderate variable winds Wednesday.

EASTERN New York: Cloudy with a few snow flurries in the north and west portions today, considerable sunshine in the southeast; high in the upper 30s and 40s. Partly cloudy and moderately cold tonight and tomorrow with snow flurries mainly in the north and west portions and at high elevations elsewhere. Low tonight ranging from in the upper 20s to the lower 30s; high tomorrow in the mid-30s and low 40s.

GOP Campaign Will Be One of Longest–Hall

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall says the 1956 GOP presidential campaign will be one of the longest—despite the fact that the party's candidate won't be nominated until late August.

"We are taking actions now at the GOP National Committee that normally we don't take until after the nominating convention," Hall told a meeting yesterday of the League of Republican Women of the District of Columbia.

SEEKING to assure party workers there will be time for an adequate campaign between the GOP convention the week of Aug. 20 and the November election, Hall said he already is arranging for television time during the campaign.

Hall said, too that the national committee is planning campaign trips and lining up speakers.

Never again, he predicted, will the Republicans hold a national convention as early as July—heretofore the most popular month for selecting presidential tickets.

Next year's Democratic convention also will be held later than usual—the week of Aug. 13.

The 1956 GOP convention date was set months ago on the assumption President Eisenhower would seek reelection. If Eisenhower does not run, some Republicans believe there would be little time after the convention in which to build up another candidate.

New Hampshire has eight mountains, each over a mile high, and 1,300 ponds and lakes.

CARRYING ON—Mrs. Dorothy Carnegie will continue the world-wide organization created by her late husband, Dale Carnegie, author of "How to Win Friends and Influence People." The Carnegie organization sponsors courses in human relations, effective speaking and salesmanship. Mrs. Carnegie is its new president.

ALL SET FOR BOOK FAIR—The P-TA of George Washington School is sponsoring a book fair during American Education Week, Nov 7-18. Books on grade school level are on sale in the music room of the school. They will also be put on sale at Montgomery Ward and Company on Veteran's Day, Friday. Proceeds will be used to buy books for the George Washington School library. Committee members for the book fair are, front row (l-r), Stephen Leventhal, Pamela Schomer, John Falvey and Carol Oppenheimer. Second row, (l-r) Mrs. Rueben Leventhal, Mrs. John Schomer, Mrs. Joseph Falvey, chairman of the book fair, and Mrs. Max Oppenheimer. (Freeman photo)

Woman Charged In Poison Deaths Of Little Boys

New Orleans, Nov. 8 (AP)—A 27-year-old woman, who police said threatened "to get even somehow" in a neighborhood quarrel, was in jail today booked with murder in the poison deaths of two little boys.

William Baughman Jr., 7, and his six-year-old brother Lawrence, died within hours of each other Oct. 13. The Orleans Parish coroner at the time ruled they died of accidental poisoning, caused by eating phosphorous poison, used in rat and roach control campaigns.

Mrs. Mary Moss Falcon, 27, of Violet, La., was booked with murder last night in connection with the death of the boys. Mrs. Falcon was the rent collector at the house in which the Baughman family lived. Officers said Mrs. Falcon had a quarrel with Mrs. Helen Baughman in September, promising to "get even somehow."

OFFICERS said Mrs. Falcon was booked with murder as provided under the state's criminal code without clarification.

The boys lived with their parents and five other children in one room. Their only subsistence was a $7-a-week allowance given by a Catholic church. Neighbors said they begged for pennies and food and they frequently scavenged through garbage cans in search of something to eat.

Mrs. Falcon, whom police said also used the aliases "Mary Jackson" and "Mrs. William Hart," lost her job shortly after the squabble with Mrs. Baughman. She reportedly left for Violet the day the boys died.

Early Voting Light

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Voting got off to slow start in most of the state today. Light to moderate turnouts were reported generally in the first few hours after the polls opened at 6 a. m., despite hundreds of heated local contests, decisions to be made on two highly controversial proposed constitutional amendments and drives by the major parties to build strength for the presidential election next year. A heavy pickup was expected, however, in many of the 48 cities electing mayors.

Pretty Luncheon Salad

Here's a pretty luncheon salad. Cut away the stem ends from tomatoes and make four or five parallel cuts through each almost to the bottom. Add finely diced cucumber and radish to creamstyle cottage cheese; pile the cottage-cheese mixture into each cut of the tomatoes. Garnish with salad greens and serve with French dressing.

Check Bioff Clue

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 8 (AP)—Officers were working today on what they term "the hottest lead yet" in the bomb-slaying of Willie Bioff. It is also the only lead they have made public in any detail. Sheriff L. C. Cal Boies disclosed last night that an underworld bomb expert is reported to have been in Phoenix at the same time the former Hollywood labor racketeer died in a tremendous explosion, and left a few hours after. An order has been sent out to arrest the hoodlum, Boies said, but he refused to name him.

Gets 2 Life Terms

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Annie Laurie Williams was under two life sentences today for killing her sons, Conrad, 8, and Cavin, 9, and dismembering their bodies last Feb. 16. She was sentenced by District Judge William E. Stone to not less than two years nor more than life after pleading guilty before two separate juries. Both convicted the 32-year-old former dime store clerk and recommended life terms. Mrs. Williams had no comment to make before being sentenced.

Is Now Convinced U. S. Should Cut Foreign Aid Bill

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Rep. Passman (D.-La.) said today that after an around-the-world inspection tour he is more convinced than ever that U. S. foreign aid spending should be curtailed—ended if possible.

The chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee which handles the foreign aid money bill, Passman said he's aiming for another cut of at least a half billion dollars in it next year.

THIS YEAR his subcommittee pared a half billion from the foreign aid requests submitted to Congress by President Eisenhower.

Long an opponent of the foreign aid program, Passman this summer made an inspection trip through the Middle East and southeast Asia. He said he remains convinced the program should be woundup.

"I think we should end the technical assistance and the military aid part of the program as well," he said.

'Foreign' Blast Is Under Study In Plane Crash

Denver, Nov. 8 (AP)—Evidence that something "foreign" exploded with a "bomb-like" blast is reported under study by official probers of a Nov. 1 United Air Lines crash which killed 44 persons.

Disclosing this, James N. Peyton, chief of the Civil Aeronautics Board's (CAB's) Investigation Division, said last night that the rear luggage hold of the DC6B plane was shattered by the explosion.

SIDEWALLS of the luggage compartment "were pushed out and the floor was in pieces," Peyton told a reporter.

It appeared something "foreign" exploded in the airlines crash near Longmont, Colo., he said. Asked to explain "foreign", Peyton said he meant something "not a part" of the plane.

He said luggage in the No. 4 compartment had an acrid smell, "like gunpowder, or an exploding firecracker."

Peyton would not say it was a bomb that exploded. He said: "We know there was an explosion on board. . . . There are several peculiar aspects but I don't know the answer yet."

He also declined to say how long the investigation might take. Most of the plane wreckage has been moved from near Longmont to Denver, 32 miles southeast. There it has been placed in a hangar for continued study.

THE TAIL section, virtually intact, fell to earth a mile distant from other wreckage. The baggage compartment is just forward of the tail assembly.

Peyton said "There still has been no evidence of malfunction" of the aircraft. Investigators estimated the plane was at 11,000 feet and still climbing when the explosion occurred.

It was the second United Air Lines crash in the Rocky Mountain region within a month. On Oct. 6 a UAL coach flight smashed into Medicine Bow peak in southern Wyoming, killing all 66 aboard in the nation's worst commercial air lines disaster.
